Family Farm Days At Oregon Dairy June 17-19

Revolutionary Crop Yields Top Writers' List

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The most important change in agriculture in the past 50 years, say members of North American Agricultural Journalists (NAAJ), was the hybridization and improvement of many crops.

Starting with a list of events and changes prepared by three prominent agricultural historians, members of NAAJ voted on the top 10 developments in agriculture during the past 50 years. The results were released recently at the 50th anniversary meeting of NAAJ in Washington.

Hybridization is the process of inbreeding plants, then crossing their offspring to create stronger, higher-yielding varieties.

Hybrid corn was developed long before NAAJ was formed. Plant scientists were experimenting with it at the turn of the 20th century and hybrid corn began to be sold commercially in the 1920s. But during the past 50 years, the combination of hybrid crops, cheap farm chemicals derived from fossil fuels, and mechanization has created a technological revolution in agriculture that has helped feed billions of people on the planet.

When NAAJ formed in 1953, the average corn yield in the U.S. was 40.7 bushels per acre. Last year, even after a severe drought in many states, hybrid corn helped U.S. farmers harvest an average of 130 bushels an acre. Hybridization accounts for about half of that huge increase in yields as well as corn's improved ability to withstand drought.

Here are the events and developments of the past 50 years that agricultural journalists picked as the most important:

1. Hybridization and other improvements of crops.

2. Genetically modified crops that have been engineered to kill insect pests and tolerate herbicides. Most U.S. farmers adopted this technology in less than a decade, starting in the 1990s. Some consumer groups, especially in Europe, oppose modifying crops through genetic engineering.

3. The discovery of DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid), the chemical building block of heredity, by James Watson and Francis Crick in 1953. These researchers discovered the ladder-like double helix structure of DNA, helping to start the biotechnology revolution now underway.

4. Norman Borlaug's "Green Revolution." Plant breeder Norman Borlaug, who won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1970, developed

Processors: Work Together To Ensure Improved Milk Prices

ANDY ANDREWS
Editor

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Dairy's future could signal the consolidation of processors to gain market strength, as a way to, in the words of one analyst, "counterweigh what's happening on the retail side," noted Terry Barr.

Barr, chief economist, National Association of Farm Cooperatives, spoke about the nature of retailing dairy and other commodities. He spoke Tuesday during the Penn State-sponsored 37th annual Pennsylvania Agricultural Credit Conference at the Nittany Lion Inn. About 80 bank and farm credit company officers and agri-industry representatives attended.

In 2001, noted Barr, the four largest chains claimed 22 percent of the market for food, including dairy. The number one dairy re-

MOUNT JOY (Lancaster Co.) — A meeting Tuesday further encouraged the joining of agriculture and the environment as both Dennis Wolff, agriculture secretary designee, and Karen McGinty, Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) secretary designee, discussed ag and environmental issues.

Conducted here at The Gathering Place, about 100 people attended the meeting, part of a series of Agricultural Issues Forums that have addressed many topics important to agriculture.

As the new administration begins their work, said Wolff, the

Fair, Auctioneer Guides Scheduled For Publication

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Lancaster Farming announces two brand-new booklet-sized publications scheduled to be published soon.

The first will be the 2003 Lancaster Farming Fair Guide, scheduled to premier May 24. Thousands of our readers count on Lancaster Farming to provide them with the latest fair news during the summer and fall season. You can look toward the fairs with this extensive directory, covering an eight-state region. Planned is a list of fairs and fair association news.

Following that will be the premier issue of the 2003 Lancaster Farming Auctioneer Guide. Scheduled will be auctioneer listings, frequently asked questions and answers regarding auctions, and feature articles and photos.

Contact the advertising office here at Lancaster Farming, (717) 721-4415, for information about both publications.

Enter Lancaster Farming's annual Dairy Recipe Drawing and you could receive one of these prizes shown by Lou Ann Good, food and family features editor. For details on entering the contest, see story page B2.

Sheep and Lambs· Compared to Thursday, all weights of slaughter lambs sold with a higher undertone. Slaughter sheep also sold with a higher undertone due to the very good early week demand. Prices quoted below are by the hundred weight, with actual weights Slaughter Lambs: Choice, end Prime 2-3 few 20-30 lbs up to 205.00; light test 30-40 lbs 180.00-192.00; 40-60 lbs 140.00-190.00; 60-80 lbs 115.00-145.00; 80-100 lbs 110.00-128.00, few 82.00-100.00. Slaughter Sheep: Utility and Good 1-3 100-200 lbs 26.00-36.00, up to 46.00 at times.

Goats. Compared to last Monday, Kid goats sold steady to firm. The quality of all other classes have been very mixed over the past couple of weeks, therefore a trend was not fully established. However, a steady to firm undertone was note as demand was fairly good even though the supply reached over 1450 head. All goats are sold on a per head basis, with estimated weights. Kids. Compared to Thursday, slaughter steers sold steady on Monday as the bulk of the supply was made up of average to light finished steers. However, as the quality increased on Tuesday, so did the bids, as prices were fully .50-1.00 higher. Receipts are once again starting to get light, as around 380 head went in the books for the two day run; with the lighter run probably the main contributor to the higher market on the 150 head on Tuesday Holstein steers sold mostly a full 1.00 higher on both days as there continues to be a very well finished supply available. The slaughter heifer runs both days were too light to test. Slaughter cows sold weak to a 1.00 lower, with even more pressure applied to the Breaking cows as they trended as much as 2.00 lower. The early week demand for the fleshier types is just not as strong as the late week demand, which is causing the cow market to roller coaster from week to week. The two-day supply included 376 head of steers, 59 head of heifers, 339 head of cows, 17 head of bulls, with 408 head of feeder cattle. Note: Averages expressed in the slaughter supply are from Tuesday only.

National Broiler Market At A Glance
Atlanta, Ga.
Report Supplied By USDA

Trade sentiment was steady to about steady. Demand was mixed with some areas reporting slight improvements, but in other areas, interest was no better than moderate; however, optimism is still present for first of the month and upcoming holidays in May. Supplies of all sizes were at least adequate for limited trade needs. In the parts structure, trading for mid-week was light to fair. Wings were balanced to tight with increased interest, tenders were sufficient to close, and the remaining items were readily available. In production areas, live supplies were moderate at desirable to heavy weights.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

APRIL 28–MAY 4, 2003

PLANT COLONISTS

Forsythias and lilacs are common springtime sights in America But neither plant is native The forsythia made its way from China to England thanks to Robert Fortune, a plant hunter for the Royal Horticultural Society A few plants sailed to America with settlers in 1860 Lilacs may have come from Persia to New Hampshire in 1695 In 1750, purple lilacs were planted at Governor Benning Wentworth's home in Portsmouth, and in 1919, the purple lilac was adopted as New Hampshire's state flower The plant had also traveled west across America

–Thomas Jefferson 3rd U S president (1743–1826)

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

If the pig wallows in a puddle before the first of May, the summer will be cold.

TIP OF THE WEEK

APPLE NUT CAKE

- 3 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 heaping teaspoon cinnamon
- 3/4 cup vegetable oil
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 4 cups chopped apples
- 1 cup chopped walnuts (optional)
- 2 eggs
- 2 cups sugar

Preheat oven to 350°F Sift together flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, and cinnamon Add oil, vanilla, apples, and nuts (if desired), stir well Beat together eggs and sugar until light then fold egg mixture into apple mixture Pour into greased 10-inch tube pan and bake for 60 to 70 minutes Let cool for about 20 minutes before removing from pan

Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Vintage Special Feeder Cattle Sale

Paradise, Pa.

Vintage Sales Stables Special Feeder Cattle Auction for April 21, 2003 — Receipts: 365 head.

The Vintage Sales Stables held a special feeder cattle sale on April 21st, which kicks off the spring feeder specials in Lancaster County. There was a very good selection of cattle on hand, with several very nice strings of green steers and heifers that would be excellent grass pasture prospects. In fact, the first consignment through the door consisted of over 50 head of thin black cattle which drew very good buyer attention, and rightfully so. The majority of the run was made up of black and black baldy cattle with demand remaining good for the entirety of the run.

FEEDER STEERS: Medium and Large 1: pkg 690 lbs 84.00; pkg 755 lbs 80.50; couple pkgs 850-900 lbs 70.00-71.00. Medium and Large 1-2: thin pkg 460 lbs 102.00; 550-600 lbs 92.00-93.50. Medium and Large 2: 400-500 lbs 83.00-84.00, thin pkg 92.50. Medium 1-2: 350-400 lbs 90.00-94.00. Holstein Steers: Large 2: fancy pkg 600 lbs 51.00.

FEEDER HEIFERS: Medium and Large 1-2: pkg 605 lbs 76.00. Medium and Large 2: pkg 415 lbs 86.50; pkg 510 lbs 83.50. Medium 1-2: 400-450 lbs 76.00-80.50; pkg 515 lbs 79.00.

Tactics To Preserve Agriculture

Guest Editorial By Tom Baldrige
President
Lancaster County Chamber Of Commerce And Industry

A recent column by the Scribbler in the Lancaster New Era challenged the long-held notion that Lancaster County is the most productive nonirrigated county in the country. After presenting his "proof" — proof, I might add, that is subject to interpretation — he concluded by noting:

"Lancaster and Pennsylvania like to emphasize their agricultural nature. That's a good thing, if kept in the proper perspective. The truth is that agriculture is an important industry in Pennsylvania and Lancaster is a fertile place. Let it go at that."

In a sense, that sums up my column. So, if you will, I will begin with my conclusion . . .

Agriculture is as important — even an essential element — in the Lancaster County economy . . . yet, in a rapidly-changing world, business-as-usual in the agricultural (or any other-industry) simply will not work. By acknowledging its significance and challenges now, we will be better equipped to ensure its future success.

Now that I have given you my conclusion, let me add some meat to the bones.

First of all, let us make no mistake about it — Lancaster's ag economy is significant:

Editor:

I want to thank Lancaster Farming for the April 5, 2003 front-page article on sustainable agriculture in Cuba by Brian Snyder.

With the conventional wisdom touting high-input, high-cost security schemes of questionable effectiveness, it's refreshing to hear about an effective, low-input, low-cost approach that actually benefits both consumers and real farmers.

With all our high-priced thinkers, why does this insight have to come from a third-world country? Is it that we may be listening to the wrong people?

I hope you will continue to present articles of this type to help counteract the self-serving schemes being advanced under the guise of security.

When the emperor isn't wearing any clothes, we need to tell him (or her). Again thank you for having the courage to tackle sensitive issues.

Now Is The Time

By Leon Ressler
Lancaster County Extension Director

To Control Weeds In New Strawberry Plantings

Weed control in the establishment year of matted row strawberries isn't easy. Scott Guiser, extension horticulture agent in Bucks County, reports recent changes to the Sinbar label give growers a new tool in the battle against annual weeds.

Actually, Sinbar is one of the oldest preemergence herbicides used in strawberries. Previous labeling allowed use only at renovation and during dormant periods. Now it may be used at low rates (2-4 ounces of Sinbar 80 WP per acre) at planting and during the establishment year.

Research and field experience has shown that strawberries are tolerant of 2-3 ounces of Sinbar when it is applied just after planting and before new growth begins. It can be tank mixed with 3-4 pounds Devrinol 50 WP to broaden the spectrum of weeds controlled.

Later in the season, as weeds break through, growers may cultivate, and then reapply Sinbar at 3-4 ounces per acre. However, at this time it is important to wash the Sinbar off strawberry leaves through irrigation or timely application that coincides with rainfall. Injury to strawberry plants can occur through foliar absorption of Sinbar.

A late summer/early fall application of 3-4 ounces per acre will aid in control of winter annual weeds such as chickweed. Growers should note that the maximum amount of Sinbar that may be applied is 8 ounces per year. Lower rates, as specified on the label, are recommended for light textured soils and soils with 1-2 percent organic matter. Sinbar should not be used on soils with less than 0.5 percent organic matter.

Strawberry varieties vary in their sensitivity to Sinbar. Some varieties are tolerant (Earliglow) while others are known to be sensitive (Guardian). Each grower should try small plots to observe tolerance before making whole field applications.

All growers should get a copy of the Sinbar supplemental label available on the Internet at (http://www.cdms.net/ldat/ld193000.pdf) and read it thoroughly before using Sinbar on first-year strawberries.

Another product that can be used at planting time is Dacthal for preemergent control of annual grasses and some broadleaves. Remember where trade names are used no discrimination is intended and no endorsement by Cooperative Extension is implied.

To Read Your Pesticide Labels

Lancaster County Agronomy Agent Robert Anderson reminds us pesticide labels contain a lot of valuable information, especially if read ahead of the application. Make sure that the crop and pest that are being sprayed are listed on the label. Next, check the application rate. Then become very familiar with the personal protective equipment and mixing precautions listed on the label, including the amount of time between when you are applying the pesticide and when you can reenter the field. This is important for you, your family's, and your employee's health.

One of the most important parts of the label often overlooked before spraying is the rotational restriction of the pesticide being applying. Based on a half dozen or so calls received the past two weeks, many applicators are forgetting this step in the pesticide selection process.

The pesticide which is most often being asked about in these recent phone calls is Basis Gold. Basis Gold has been giving corn growers excellent weed control. However, once used, the list of crops that can be planted during the next 18 months is very limited. Solving a difficult weed problem is great but maybe not at the cost of excluding rotation of a field to another desired crop for 18 months.

To Buckle Up Your Children

Motor vehicle crashes are the leading cause of death of children between the ages of 1 and 18. More than 1.5 million children are involved in motor vehicle crashes each year. Car seats and booster seats reduce the risk of injury in an accident by 60 percent.

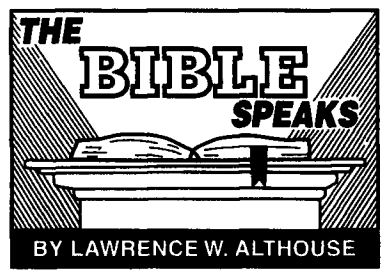
Pennsylvania has a new child passenger safety law. The law requires children under 4 to use a restraint (safety seat) and children ages 4 to 8 are required to use a booster seat. All persons between the age of 8 and 18 are required to be restrained while traveling in a vehicle. A driver can be cited for failure to follow the safety belt law if there is another moving violation and fines can be up to $100.

If you are taking your children on a trip in your car or someone else's, make sure the proper restraints are available. If you are providing transportation for someone else's children, make sure you or the party you are transporting have the proper restraints for their children.

Quote Of The Week:

"An important question for leaders, 'Am I building people or building my dream and using people to do it?'"

— John Maxwell



THEY LAUGHED AT HIM

Background Scripture:
Mark 5:21-43.
Devotional Reading:
Hebrews 11:1-6.

Recently I spoke with a pastor who was trying to decide what to do with a healing service he had inherited from his predecessor. He didn't feel confident in canceling it, but neither was he comfortable with it continuing in the life of his congregation.

Some 40 years ago I asked my church council for permission to begin a weekly healing service. They were obliging up to a point, granting permission. They also, however, said they doubted our people would support it. So with much trepidation I began what was possibly the most important aspect of my pastoral ministry. I could not have dreamed how it would enrich the life of my congregation.

At the time, I wondered what other pastors would think, and I was right: they thought what I anticipated they would think. They were incredulous. I don't know that anyone laughed behind my back, but from time to time I learned of their scorn. Eventually, however, some of those same pastors quietly slipped into the rear pew to observe our service. In time, several local physicians sent their patients to the service and a doctor-parishioner came as often as he could to help in the service.

Sarcastic Scorn

People are somewhat more accepting of the church's healing ministry today than they were then. But, in the minds of many, Christian healing is associated with the emotional antics of TV evangelists. Healing specifically and spirituality in general still evokes scornful laughter.

Jesus himself and those who follow him are still the objects of ridicule. Faith is rejected because it is not discernible to the five senses, nor subject to reason or laboratory experimentation. (Actually, Christian healing has been convincingly subject to experimentation in the laboratory. See my book, "Rediscovering The Gift of Healing," chapter 7, 1997, Abingdon Press, 1983, Samuel Weiser.)

Both healings listed in Mark 5 concern people who came to Jesus as a last resort. Jairus, the lay leader of a synagogue and father of a desperately ill 12-year-old girl, came because he heard that Jesus had the power to heal and, encountering Jesus, he trusted that he could heal his daughter. The woman hemorrhaging for 12 years also had heard of Jesus' power and trusted him to the point of believing he would hear her.

She was healed: "Daughter, your faith has made you well; go in peace and be healed of your disease" (5:34). When Jesus and Jairus were stopped on the way to his home with the news that the daughter had died, Jesus said to Jairus, "Do not fear; only believe." Jesus did not ask either of them about their beliefs or doctrines. The belief and faith to which he referred was not about ideas, but trust. If they trusted in him, they opened the doors through which the healing power of God could enter, one of the keys to Christian healing. The faith of Jairus and the woman enabled healing to be given by God.

Eliminate The Negative

Another key was to eliminate the negativity that surrounded Jairus' daughter. Stopped with the news that "Your daughter is dead. Why trouble the Teacher any further?" Jesus continued on the way and did not allow anyone else to accompany them except Peter, James, and John. Arriving at the house of Jairus, they are surrounded by "a tumult, people weeping and wailing loudly." And, when they laughed at his pronouncement, "The child is not dead but sleeping," Jesus "put them all outside, " and went in where the child was" (5:39,40).

Sometimes healing is greatly hindered by the negativity, not of the patient, but of well-meaning friends and family. Even a doctor may sometimes be part of that negative atmosphere.

The woman who had touched the fringe of Jesus' garment was healed because of her own faith, but essentially it was the faith of Jairus that brought Jesus to his daughter's bedside and opened the door for healing to take place. People may still laugh at our trust in Jesus, but with our own doubts and fear, we must put the laughter behind us and accept the master's promise: "Do not fear, only believe."

LICENSED Spraying Since 1961 INSURED

Remain Flexible with Your Attack on Broadleaf Weeds

There are many factors that come into play each spring that affect how and when you apply your broadleaf herbicide Weather can close the application window altogether, while tillage practices, crop rotational restrictions or local use restrictions can severely limit the use of a herbicide

That's why it pays to use a flexible broadleaf herbicide – one that adapts to fit your changing spring schedule Hornet* WDG herbicide offers

- Flexibility to make a soil application or a post application up to 20-inch-tall corn, or the V6 stage - whichever comes first
- Rotational freedom to soybeans, alfalfa, wheat and other crops
- No setback restrictions since it contains no atrazine
- Tank-mix flexibility with nearly all other grass and broadleaf postemergence corn herbicides.
- The ability to choose the application rate and timing that best fits your weed spectrum and farming practices

Hornet WDG controls large-seeded broadleaf weeds, including common and giant ragweed, velvetleaf, cocklebur and sunflower And when Hornet WDG is used in a soil-applied tank mix with either Surpass*, TopNotch*, FulTime* or new Keystone* or Keystone LA grass herbicides, you get a superior broad-spectrum weed control program

Remove any doubts about what herbicide to use to control broadleaf weeds this spring Ask your ag retailer about how the flexibility of Hornet WDG herbicide can benefit your corn production this year

BACK IN A MOLDOVAN FARMING VILLAGE

The sun was shining today and I could see that spring was just beginning to emerge in the Moldovan countryside. People have already plowed the fields and I could see a lot of activity in newly planted orchards.

I'm back in this country for another volunteer assignment with the Citizens Network for Foreign Affairs. We drove three hours today north of the capitol city of Chisinau to a farming village of Cuconesti-Noi. That is where my assignment will be. This village is located in Northwest Moldova, just across the border from Romania. Recall that the country of Moldova is situated between both Romania and Ukraine.

Testing milk in Moldova.

My assignment is to work with the Lactica Dairy Cooperative. They have a very entrepreneurial business manager, Ion Borta. My job is to develop feasibility studies that will help improve the financial health of the cooperative.

Ion is an interesting guy. He is more than 6 feet tall and weighs about 365 pounds. He is a former basketball player. He gets up at 6 in the morning and works till midnight. He is also very involved with the administrative matters in his village, so his time is valuable.

Processors: Work Together

tailer, Wal-Mart, had 14 percent overall market share. Along with Costco at 5 percent, both retailers command the time and attention of processors and bankers.

"Wal-Mart's philosophy is to get you in the store and sell you something 2.3 times per week," noted Barr. The philosophy draws tight margins on a lot of the products sold, including food at the some of the large "supercenters" around the country.

Wal-Mart, like other giant retailers, seeks low price strategies from all suppliers, including processors.

For dairy producers, 15 months of low milk prices is taking its toll, according to Robert Yonkers, chief economist, International Dairy Foods Association in Washington, D.C.

For many, this downturn in prices to below-support levels is the longest in memory.

Production is overtaking demand, with an increasing milk supply "and very lackluster demand for dairy products," Yonkers noted.

Yonkers pointed out that, since 1988, a recurring theme for the dairy industry is milk price volatility, with dramatic highs and lows. There have been some "high highs, and low lows" since 1992, noted Yonkers, with 1998, 1999, and 2001 providing the highest milk prices on record followed by lows. But normal recovery occurred a short time after — not the case this time, however.

Demand is remaining steady, at 1 percent per year, while the milk output per cow increases 2 percent. Yet per-capita consumption of milk products has gone downward since 2002.

"We have more milk than we can find a home for," noted Yonkers.

Part of the problem, in assessing numbers, is the structure of USDA reporting. Yonkers noted that USDA denotes a farm operation as simply a farm with one or more milk cows. But many of those types of farms have nothing at all do to with actually selling milk.

About 80 ag loan officers from banks and credit institutions visited the Lynn Neer farm Tuesday near Belleville. Neer, in center with cap, spoke about his custom heifer operation. All photos by Andy Andrews, editor

Yonkers relies on private surveys that indicate more clear numbers.

The interesting thing, Yonkers noted, is that about 48 percent of the farms in the country have less than 50 cows (about 44,205 farms) with a milk output per cow of 14,400 pounds. On the other hand, farms that make up 2,000 or more cows number 380, about 0.4 percent of all dairies, and produce 25.5 billion pounds of milk. They are producing "twice the amounts of milk as the smallest dairies," or 15 percent of the U.S. total at 21,000 pounds of milk per cow.

The bigger farms are "doing more," according to the economist, and are able to manage price downturns a lot more steadily.

Yonkers noted that in 2001, 5.2 percent of U.S. milk production was imported. Exports made up 5.4 percent of U.S. milk production.

Contrary to some reports, "imports are not ruining our dairy markets," said Yonkers. The milk protein concentrates, or MPCs, coming from Ireland, New Zealand, and Australia are not having an impact — especially in light of the fact that the U.S. exports a lot of whey protein concentrates to the Pacific Rim.

Right now, an issue that remains "front and center," noted Barr with the farm cooperatives, is "lack of export demand. There is nothing going on in the export markets."

Five to six years ago, globalization of markets was looked at as a "panacea" for agriculture. But there is no growth engine outside the U.S., Barr said.

"The Japanese," noted the economist, "have not solved their problems with economic growth."

For ag, the fact there is no big inventories of globally of grains is positive news.

For ag products, the U.S. is beginning to feel competition from the former soviet Union, especially on the wheat supply side. And the U.S. poultry industry exports 20 percent of what it produces while markets for that poultry continue to tighten Dairy remains an industry with "no discipline whatsoever," said Barr, in terms of matching production with demand. The only thing driving profitability at this time is simply controlling costs.

U.S. economic growth, as a whole, should remain modest for 2004, in the 3-4 percent range. There will be "rescaling of expectations," especially at the stock market, noted Barr.

The key will be the consumers. Barr said consumers need to be told to "stop watching CNN and visit the malls a little more" to help the U.S. economy to recover.

For most industries, the "over-investment" in technology caused some of the downturn, and businesses will be slow to bring people back. Salaries and benefits remain the most expensive issues for companies.

For 2004, Barr made the following observations:

- The dollar will continue to weaken.
- Interest rates will move higher in 2004.
- Consumers are the drivers of any economic recovery. But there remains no pent-up demand for autos, housing, DVDs, or TVs.
- Energy prices should trend lower since the advent of the Iraqi War and its conclusion. The question remains: who will command the oil fields and where will oil flow?
- Natural gas supplies have not been found as readily as anticipated. That could mean problems.
- There's too much focus on the overall U.S. economy, which is straining world economic growth.

Japan keeps "slipping in and out of recession," noted Barr, which is slowing export markets. Europe cares little about stimulating consumption and will not run a budget deficit in order to do so (like the U.S. does). The next election in Europe isn't until 2005.

Mexico, a strong trade partner, is become self-sustaining with its own production. Growth in China is being fueled simply by its own exports. Asia is adjusting to the SARS disease scare, and Argentina and Brazil, noted Barr, are "basket cases" with little potential for growth. And India is not a big consumer for U.S. products.

Barr remains optimistic on wheat and pessimistic on soybeans. For meats, he remains strong on cattle and temperate on hogs.

For the broiler industry, this will be the first time output will not increase. "I can't remember the last time the broiler industry didn't expand production," he said.

For dairy, in the near-term, Barr noted he remains "pessimistic." But with little grain inventory, he doesn't understand why grain prices aren't stronger.

In overall grain trade, the U.S. share, noted Barr, continues to "go south" while the former Soviet Union continues to increase its exports.

Credit lenders should be aware that, even with the milk loss payments, overall payments in the following year will decrease because most of the money available in the federal program is available this year only.

A custom sawmill, Peachey's Wood Products, Reedsville, was a tour stop for the ag credit conference attendees Tuesday afternoon.

One of the saving faces for dairy producers is the milk income loss contract (MILC), a "big influence in keeping milk in production," said Bob Yonkers with the International Dairy Foods Association. MILC pays a significant $1.82 per CWT for April. Government money is keeping many dairies afloat this way.

For dairy retailers, new product competition in the form of calcium-fortified orange juice, manufactured by soda companies, will also work to squelch demand for dairy products. Yonkers pointed to the Dr. Pepper "Raging Cow" drink, with 60 percent milk, along with corn syrup and other flavorings that can be produced at less cost. The money savings can be used to fuel product advertising and promotion.

A ray of hope on the horizon: school districts want more nutritious products for kids in cafeterias, and officials are working on ways to provide milk product vending machines.

For producers, forward contracting helps protect price in the long term. The Jan. 4, 2002 Class III price was $10.42 CWT, a lot better than most prices received without a contract. "I don't know why some (producers) aren't doing at least a portion of their milk in forward contracting," said Yonkers.

Using forward contacting is a "risk management tool," he said, "not to enhance income, but for other reasons."

Much of the money made by processors is not so much in the product, but on the "logistics and information," said Barr, of moving product. Innovative strategies come into play for processors despite the fact that retail dairy prices have not dropped at all in the past two years, Barr noted.

The annual conference at Penn State changed its name, previously from the Ag Bankers Conference to the Ag Credit Conference, noted Richard Crouse, farm loan manager, Farm Service Agency. Many of the farm service credit agencies play a larger role in traditional ag lending.

Keith Masser, president of Sterman Masser, Inc., Masser Potato Farms, Sacramento, Pa., also spoke at the conference.

Recently, Masser was awarded a $450,000 USDA grant to develop a processing plant for off-grade and rehydrated potato products.

Masser noted the plant, which makes use of innovative alternative energy strategies (using landfill gas as an energy source), will provide value for potatoes where there wasn't any before. The plant will be completed in October 2004.

Masser said the company, incorporated in 1970, will use the new facility to provide product to Mrs. T's Pierogies plant in Shenandoah, Schuylkill County. The Massers have commitments from Georgia Foods and are working on several other long-term contracts with other food manufacturers.

Workers assemble milled handrails made of red oak during the tour.

Afternoon tours included a visit to the Lynn Neer Farm near Belleville. The home farm includes 78 acres and the Neers rent three other farms, for 200 acres total.

The Neers have a custom heifer raising operation for five dairies in Blair County and other locations.

(More information on the Neer farm is scheduled in the June Dairy Issue of Lancaster Farming June 7.)

Also, the tour group visited Plum Bottom Farm operated by John Rodgers family in Belleville. Plum Bottom, an eighth-generation Ayrshire Farm, is home to the "Raised to Graze" Sale on Saturday, Aug. 16. More information is scheduled in the July 12 Foraging Around section in Lancaster Farming.

Also, the tour group visited Peachey's Wood Products, a sawmill in Reedsville. According to John Peachey, the company employs 14 full-time, supplying general contractors with a host of wood materials, including hardwood floors, moldings, and other products.

Peachey noted that in 2002, the company sold 3.4 million feet of kiln-dried hardwood. Products are made from red oak, cherry, and white maple.

Peachey projects the company will sell four million feet of wood this year.

The tour group also stopped in to see the big Ayrshire cow at Dairyland At Home, Reedsville, and picked up an ice cream treat.

Here's something Lancaster Farming subscribers have been waiting for: the 2003 Lancaster Farming Fair Guide booklet, scheduled to premier May 24. Thousands of our readers count on Lancaster Farming to provide them with the latest fair news during the summer and fall season. You can look toward the fairs with this extensive directory, covering an eight-state region. Planned is a list of fairs and fair association news. Will photos of your family turn up in the book from fairs around the region? Check it out!

Congratulations and Thank You to Miller Poultry Farm

Gary and Karla Miller have been in the poultry industry for 23 years. In 1980 they built their first cage layer facility. They selected Favorite Manufacturing as their equipment supplier and built a high rise layer facility housing 60,000 layers. This renovation utilizing Farmer Automatic's Multi-Deck 8 tier layer system will house 160,000 birds and features a built in walkway system above the 4th tier.

Directions

This farm is located north of Harrisburg, PA. From Route 81 take Route 22/322 west for 6 miles, turn north on Route 225 and continue for 8 miles to Halifax, at the first street after the traffic light, turn right on Powells Valley Road and go 6 miles to the farm which will be located on the left. Lancaster County Pasture Walks Set

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancaster County Graziers and Lancaster County Extension have announced the first pasture walks of the season.

All of these pasture walks will take place from 10 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. They afford graziers the opportunity to learn from each other by hearing and observing what other folks are doing. Please pack a lunch, unless otherwise noted. Drinks will be provided by the host farm.

• May 28 — Garber Dairy Farm, Herb, Mark, and Joel Garber, 2167 Bossler Rd., Elizabethtown (717) 367-2141. (From 283 West, take Rheems/ Elizabethtown exit, go left to light at Harrisburg Pike/Rt. 230. Go straight across and stay on Cloverleaf/Colebrook Rd. Take right onto Bossler Rd. Farm is on right past Bossler Mennonite Church.) The Garbers run 140 cows on more than 80 acres of pasture and more than 200 acres of cropland. They use a TMR in conjunction with pasture for the milk herd. Lunch provided by Rohrer's Seeds and Homestead Nutrition.

• June 19 — Arden Landis Farm, 667 Puseyville Rd, Kirkwood (717) 529-6644 (Located two miles south of the Solanco Fairgrounds at the junction of Rt. 472 and Puseyville Rd.) The Landis family runs a seasonal organic dairy, with 90 cows on 120 acres. They have been grazing for ten years. They are using shades, and have some Italian ryegrass test plots on the farm for you to view.

Reservations are appreciated — they will help the host farm make necessary arrangements. For more information and to register, contact the Lancaster County Extension Office at (717) 394-6851. For biosecurity reasons, all who attend are encouraged to wear clean clothes and boots, and stay out of feeding and young stock areas.

Tax Plan Includes Significant Savings

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Farm families would reap significant tax savings under President Bush's Jobs and Economic Growth Plan, Agriculture Secretary Ann M. Veneman said during a Tax Day news conference with House Agriculture Committee Chairman Bob Goodlatte, Va.

"Tax Day is an appropriate time to highlight the President's plan, which would save farm families $4 billion in taxes for 2003," said Veneman. "Through his plan, the President hopes that by the next tax day, millions of Americans will be able to keep more of their own money to invest and spend."

Veneman said that under the President's plan, 85 percent of farm and ranch families would see some benefit. The savings include $2.3 billion from accelerating reductions in income-tax rates, marriage penalty relief and the increased child credit; $1.3 billion from eliminating the double taxation of dividends; and additional savings from increased small-business expensing, making 90 percent of all farm machinery and equipment tax deductible. The result is significant saving for individual families across the country.

For example, a farm family of four has an adjusted gross income of $80,000, including $37,500 in on-farm income and $2,200 in taxable dividends on which corporate taxes were already paid. Under the current tax law, this family would face an estimated $9,866 in federal income taxes, before credits. The current child tax credit would reduce the family's federal income taxes to $8,666.

Under the President's proposal, their taxable income would fall from $59,850 to $56,100, and this family would face federal income taxes, after credits, of $5,735. After paying their federal self-employment tax, this family would benefit from total federal tax savings of 21 percent, or $2,931.

If the same family makes a large farm machinery purchase in 2003 and expenses an additional $48,500 in the first year under the President's proposed tax changes, they would have a total federal tax liability of zero, and would receive a refund of part of the child credit.

In another example, a family of four with an adjusted gross income of $40,000, including $5,000 in on-farm income and $300 in taxable dividends, would have their total federal tax burden reduced by 62 percent, or $1,178.

Pa. Ag Republicans Set 2003 Agenda

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The executive committee of the Pennsylvania Ag Republicans met recently to set the 2003 agenda for the organization.

Mike Firestine, chairman, reviewed the 2002 election. Though the Republican Party did not win the Governor's office, many Republicans were returned to the state legislature with gains in the majority in the House of Representatives and also gains in the number of members of Congress.

Dan Haywood, political director for the State Republican Committee, addressed the group on the importance of the state judicial races.

The Pennsylvania Ag Republicans will make special efforts to get the judicial candidates into rural communities and to have them available to meet the rural and agricultural people.

The annual chicken barbecue will take place at the VFW grounds, Rocksprings, Aug. 20, during Ag Progress Day with an iced tea social at 5:30 p.m. and dinner at 6 p.m. An auction to raise money for campaign funds will follow the dinner.

To become a member of the Pennsylvania Ag Republicans or for additional information contact Mike Firestine at (717) 274-6906.

East Fluid Milk And Cream Review

Madison, Wis.
April 23, 2003
Report Supplied by USDA

Spot prices of class II cream, dollars per lb. butterfat: F.O.B. producing plants: Northeast: 1.3484-1.4690. Delivered Equivalent: Atlanta· 1.3594-1.4252 mostly 1.3594-1.4252.

PRICES OF CONDENSED SKIM, dollars per lb. wet solids, F.O.B. producing plants: Northeast: Class II, includes monthly formula prices: .8500-.9800; Class III - spot prices - .7400-.8000.

SPOT SHIPMENTS OF GRADE A MILK: FLORIDA: This Week: In 0, Out 186; Last Week: In 0, Out 192; Last Year: In 0, Out 146. SOUTHEAST STATES: This week: In 0, Out 0; last week: In 0, Out 0; last year: In 0, Out 0.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Due to recent changes in milk supply agreements, milk import/export totals are not directly comparable to year ago figures and to shipments prior to April 1, 2003.

During March, milk production in the 20 major states totaled 13.00 billion pounds, up 1.5% from March 2002. The following are the March-to-March changes for selected states: Texas ³ .8%, New York unchanged, Pennsylvania -1.2%, Florida -1.8%, Vermont -2.1%, Virginia -6.9%, and Kentucky -9.8%.

Milk production has reached its peak in the Deep South, while approaching the peak in the Middle Atlantic area. Farther north, milk output is increasing slowly. However, colder weather in New York and New England did retard some of the gains seen during the past few weeks. Milk volumes are burdensome and manufacturing plants are stepping up production schedules to accommodate all the surplus milk. Bottled milk sales are slow to fair. Some states' schools are on vacation this week. Also, a few cheese plants are reducing their output or down this week. This is pushing more surplus milk into other plants, which in turn, is creating more condensed skim and fluid cream to be moved.

Contacts state that condensed skim supplies are plentiful and hard to clear. More producers are increasing drying time to clear all their solids. Demand for condensed skim is lackluster at best.

The fluid cream market is mixed. Suppliers and traders report good movement over the weekend when users were preparing to start back up on Monday or Tuesday. However, supplies have increased and demand slowed significantly by mid-week. More reports indicate that late-week loads are looking for a home. Some suppliers did offer lower multiples over the weekend to avoid clearing to churns and many Class II users took advantage of these lower prices and bought in early. Ice cream and ice cream mix production is slow to improve as weather conditions have not been conducive to ice cream sales. Cream cheese output is steady to slightly heavier. Churning activity is heavy. Not only are local plants being burdened with cream offers, many loads of Eastern cream continue to move to Midwestern butter plants.

Daily National Grain Market Summary

St. Joseph, MO
Report Supplied By USDA

Wheat bids extended Tuesday's gains, despite improved crop ratings. Tight soft red winter wheat stocks continued to push bids upwards along with noted short coverings. Corn bids were narrowly mixed with pressure stemming from continued favorable planting weather and good progress. Taiwan's overnight export order was small but better than nothing. Soybean bids fell sharply lower for the third consecutive day as traders made additional corrections and soybean meal slid lower. Good planting weather for corn offered light support to bean bids due to the possibility of less bean acres this year.

Wheat steady to 6 cents higher. Corn mixed. Sorghum steady. Soybeans 5 to 10 cents lower.

National Feeder Cattle Weekly Review

St. Joseph, Mo.
Friday, April 18, 2003
Report Supplied By USDA

NATIONAL FEEDER & STOCKER CATTLE SUMMARY - Week ending Apr. 18 — Total Receipts: 424,300; last week 374,400; last year 266,100. Direct 87,900; last week 87,700; last year 44,700. Video/Internet 46,400; last week 24,000; last year 7,600. Auctions 290,000; last week 262,700; last year 213,800. This week's reporting auction volume included 48 percent over 600 lbs and 47 percent heifers.

Compared to last week, feeder cattle and calves traded mostly steady across the nation; according to our federal and state livestock market reporters that cover major cattle auctions and direct trade areas. A few early-week markets posted higher prices and some of the late-week sales were a bit lower following losses on the futures market, but feeder and stocker prices were generally unchanged. Demand has leveled out for heavy yearlings, but interest remains high for thin-fleshed and aged old-crop calves and light yearlings to turn-out on summer grass. However, these stockers are becoming scarce and the bulk of this weeks calf supply was made up of fall-born, fleshy bawlers. These new-croppers are more attractive to the eye but this fall they will be a mere shadow of the weathered old-croppers that have compensatory gain.

The spring winds are howling across the Midwest and Plains states and while the cowboys chase their new straw hats across drying pastures, the farmers are planting corn in the midst of a dust cloud. Conditions are much wetter in the Southeast, where pastures are looking their best in years.

Slaughter cattle trading was light this past week as not all major feedlots were willing to accept packer bids at midweek, and late-week trading was halted due to Good Friday and the closing of the Chicago Mercantile Exchange. Confirmed negotiated sales of slaughter steers and heifers were only two-thirds of last weeks by Friday afternoon, yet this weeks estimated slaughter was 22,000 head more than a week ago. Thursday's April CME Live Cattle spot futures settlement of 76.75 was at a 2.25 discount to the current cash market and feedlots seem satisfied to allow their green showlists to sit while the packers exhaust their captive supplies.

The results of the April 1 USDA cattle-on-feed report were much as expected. April 1st on-feed totals were 92 percent of last year and March marketings were 99 percent of 2002. March feedlot placements were a whopping 5 percent higher than last year, although this was exactly what most analysts expected. Indeed, all those wheat cattle were out there and the outstanding gains were evident as placements over 800 lbs were 12 percent higher than last year.End of file

Slaughter Cattle Weekly Review

Oklahoma City, Okla.
Report Supplied By USDA

NATIONAL SLAUGHTER CATTLE SUMMARY — NATIONAL SLAUGHTER CATTLE SUMMARY - Week Ending April 18, 2003 — Slaughter cattle 1.00 lower. Northern sales 2.00-3.00 lower. Packers tried to use the emotions of the lower cattle futures and lower their bids from an early steady mark to 1.00 lower. Some feedlots chose to pass as they hold on to some positives in the market. This the last week of the Lenten season thus there should be a bigger push for beef in the upcoming weeks, though beef demand has remained relatively good throughout these 40 days. Carcasses weights continue to come down and packers still slaughtering cattle at a very current rate. Packers continue to pick cattle early as now the Choice to Select spread has widened to nearly 13.00. Boxed beef prices opened Friday at an average of 128.97 up 21 cents from last week. Sales of slaughter cattle on a national basis for negotiated cash trades totaled 138,200 through 10:00 a.m. Friday. Last week's full count was 200,000.

STEERS AND HEIFERS: MIDWEST DIRECT MARKETS: Live Basis: 35-80 percent Choice, 900-1400 lbs 78.50-79.50, wtd avg 78.64. Dressed Basis: 35-80 percent Choice, 550-950 lbs. 124.00-130.00, wted avg 126.70.

HIGH PLAINS DIRECT MARKETS: Live Basis 35-65 percent Choice, 900-1400 lbs 78.00-80.00, wtd avg 79.61.

SLAUGHTER COWS AND BULLS (Average Yielding): Slaughter cows and bulls firm to 2.00 higher. Packer demand light to moderate for lean cows but good for heavier fleshed cows. The movement of cows from the feedlots has slowed and packers looking to the sale barns to fill these needs. USDA's Cutter cow carcass cut-out value closed Thursday at 86.30 up 1.68 from last Friday.

COWS: Breakers 75-80% lean 1000-1600 lbs: Colorado 40.00-43.00; Oklahoma 41.50-43.50; Alabama 37.50-40.50. Rugged rubber tracks give the T300 extra traction, greatly reduced ground pressure and low ground disturbance. Superior flotation, too, for working on soft, wet, or muddy ground where other machines stop dead!

Power to spare
You get great pushing power, plus lots more for running attachments, including the Brushcat® rotary cutter, dozer blade, landscape rake, stump grinder, tiller and others.

Vertical lift path
The T300's low-profile lift arms give the operator a great view to all four corners of the machine — and the vertical lift path delivers excellent reach and lift capacity for handling heavy loads!

COWS, STREAMS, AND PONDS — SHOULD THEY MIX?

Beth Grove
Extension Agent
— Dairy/Environment
Lancaster County

Beth Grove

Every dairy producer has heard of the importance of water to the dairy cow. Water makes up about 70 percent of a cow's body tissues, and the whole milk she produces contains 87 percent water. Moreover, an average lactating cow drinks about 20-40 gallons of water daily, even more in hot weather. Water is important for milk production, rumen fermentation and nutrient digestion, cow cooling in the summer, and normal body function.

Although cattle need plenty of clean, fresh water available daily, problems can arise when cattle have access to streams and ponds on your farm as a source of water. Although cattle have used natural water spots for hundreds of years, there are many problems associated with cattle standing in streams and wet areas on your farm. Researchers have suggested that poor water quality may cause a cow to drink less water, decreasing milk production.

For these reasons stream bank and pond fencing are not words used only by environmentalists these days — and here are some of the reasons why:

• Ponds and slow-moving streams/wet areas can be vast sources of bacteria! Are you seeing a significant amount of mastitis or blind quarters in your first calf heifers or newly fresh cows? It may be that a pond or creek on your farm is to blame. Ponds and spots of standing or slow moving water can harbor environmental organisms that cause mastitis, including coliforms and pseudomonas bacteria. Heifers and dry cows that are kept in pastures or lots with access to still water can freshen with more mastitis problems.

• Since flies often breed around standing water and manure, you can see increased incidence of mastitis and pinkeye when cattle have access to these areas during summer weather. It is believed that flies can spread Staph Aureus from infected cows to other animals in the herd.

• Other bacteria found in standing or running water may even cause reproductive problems. Leptospirosis organisms can live in puddles, ponds and other wet sites. Lepto is spread in the urine of rodents, deer, and other wildlife. Lepto is known to cause abortion and is sometimes difficult to detect in a herd.

• If cattle with Johne's Disease are allowed to defecate in ponds or areas of standing water on the farm, these may become a source of contamination for replacement heifers in the herd, according to one University of Pennsylvania researcher.

• Cattle have better foot health when their feet are kept clean and dry. Cattle that stand in manure or water for extended periods of time have softer hooves and are more susceptible to foot injury and disease. The organisms responsible for foot rot originate in the gastrointestinal tract and are shed into the environment by manure; wet areas with standing water and mud can be heavily contaminated with these bacteria. It is also believed by many veterinarians that cattle housed in continually wet and muddy conditions have a much higher incidence of strawberry heel warts.

• Cattle may actually prefer clean water! Research conducted by Montana State University indicates that more than 75 percent of cows and calves prefer to drink from a watering tank rather than a pond, when both sources are similar distances from the cattle. In a two-year study from southwest Virginia at two different cow/calf operations, the animals had a choice of drinking from the headwaters of a stream running through a pasture or from a spring-fed water trough. Of these, the cattle chose to drink from the trough 92 percent of the time. When the water trough was offered as an alternative water source, the time spent in the stream was reduced by more than 50 percent.

If the water quality is poor, it can also have a negative affect on cattle performance. Although research is limited in this area, it is believed that high amounts of nitrates (greater than 100 parts per million, or ppm) will cause reproductive problems in addition to human health risks. According to Dr. Arlen Mills, sulfate levels above 500-600 ppm may cause diarrhea or other problems. There is a publication available from Penn State titled "Water Intake and Quality for Dairy Cattle". Contact your local extension agent for a copy of DAS95-8.

• Cattle access to streams can damage waters. Heavy populations of cows or dairy heifers can cause damage to stream banks by destroying vegetation, causing erosion. If allowed to stand in streams and ponds, they leave heavy deposits of feces and sediment. This manure and urine left by cattle in the streams or ponds leaves rich amounts of nutrients including nitrogen and phosphorus, which can cause "eutrophication." This nutrient increase will in turn cause a growth of waterweeds and algae, which reduces the amount of oxygen available in the water to support fish and other marine life. These algae also reduce the amount of light available to underwater marine plants and vegetation.

I have yet to meet a farmer who truly does not care about water quality on their land or surrounding waterways. Most farmers are the original "stewards" of the environment, protecting the land and the soil for future generations. And, to quote Frank Lucas from our local NRCS, "There is nothing in the stream that is good for the cows, and there is nothing in the cows that is good for the stream."

Fencing your animals out of ponds and streams truly makes sense, not only from an environmental standpoint but a herd health standpoint. A buffer area will allow wildlife and plant life to flourish and cut down on erosion.

You can still allow an access point for livestock to drink, if necessary. In many cases, however, an alternative source of water is inexpensive to install and maintain, particularly when compared to the cost of some of the problems associated with cows drinking from the farm pond or stream.

Glimpses From The Past

The year was 1947. The place is Elmer Smoker's farm, Intercourse. Daughter Martha Smoker drives the W-C Allis pulling the Model 76 New Holland baler. The bale loader in the background was designed and built by Ike Smoker, Elmer's brother. The man on the load is Lester, Martha's young brother. New Holland manufactured Ike's loaders at Belleville. This account and many more interesting stories will be included in a history lecture, "The Beginning of New Holland Machine Company," in 1895 when even the most simple farm chores was back breaking work.

Maryland Posts Pasture Walk Schedule

FREDERICK and HAGERSTOWN, Md. — Maryland Cooperative Extension offices in Frederick and Washington counties have announced this season's pasture walk schedule, offering tours of a wide range of innovative grazing operations in northern Maryland as well as one farm in southcentral Pennsylvania.

All walks are from 10 a.m. until noon unless otherwise indicated:

• May 8. Cove Mt. Farm, 10:30 a.m.-2 p.m. — seasonal, grass-based dairy now in its sixth year of operation with 240 cows and 200 acres of pasture managed by the Moyer Family. Cove Mt. Farm is located in southwest Franklin County on State Hwy. 456, 10 miles south of Rt. 16 or 7 miles north of I-70 exit 5 near Hancock, Maryland. Pre-registration is not required.

• June 19. Wet Meadows Farm, David and Angie Leach, E. Grimes Road, Emmitsburg, Md. — 90-cow Jersey and Holstein dairy using perennial ryegrass and timothy. From Emmitsburg, take Old Frederick Road south to immediate left onto Keysville Road. Go approximately four miles to East Grimes Rd.

• July 3. Mike Stivers Farm, 17707 Millers Sawmill Rd., Sharpsburg — 45 beef cow-calf operation with spring and fall calving. Converted from row crops to grass. Variety of grasses from native pasture to improved orchardgrasses and fescues to warm season grass. From Sharpsburg, proceed south on Harpers Ferry Rd. Turn right onto Millers Sawmill Rd. and go to the first farm on the left.

• July 17. Hedge Apple Farms, 7 p.m., 3735 Buckeystown Pike, Buckeystown, Md. Angus cow-calf operation featuring fertilizer trials, Max Q fescue, warm season grasses and grass-finished, direct marketed beef. From Frederick, go south on I-270 to exit 31. Go south on Rt. 85 (Buckeystown Pike) about three miles. The farm will be on your left.

• Aug. 7. Creek Bend Farm (Harry Strite), 11917 Snug Harbor Lane, Williamsport — 80 cow grass-based seasonal dairy. Experienced grazier working with crossbreeding, a variety of cool season grasses (some under irrigation), forage supply and surplus management. From Rt. 63 one mile north of Williamsport, turn west on Wright Rd. Turn right onto Kemps Mill Rd. At the Conococheague bridge, turn onto Snug Harbor Lane and follow it through the campground to the farm.

• August 21. Holterholm Farms, Ron and Kathy Holter.

• Sept. 4 Jacob Horst Farm, 20807 Leiters Mill Rd., Hagerstown — 90 cow grazing dairy farm also feeding a TMR. Most of the farm is in permanent grazing and a portion is reserved for a doublecrop. From Rt 60 (Leitersburg Pike) turn north onto Millers Church Rd. At Leiters Mill Rd., turn left and turn into the first farm lane on the left.

• Oct. 2. Craig Leggett Farm, 8128 Old National Pike, Boonsboro. This is the second farm of this 100 cow hybrid (European style) system where most of the heifers are grazed and most of the farm's cut and carry forage is produced. SARE grant site examining Italian ryegrass/sorghum double crop systems. On Alt. Rt. 40 about one mile north of Boonsboro.

• Nov. 6 Peace Hollow Farm (Myron Martin), 2148 Rohrersville Rd., Brownsville — 70 cow hybrid dairy farm based on a 50 acre Marshall annual ryegrass/corn silage double crop system with the balance of the farm in permanent grazing. Also a SARE grant site. From Boonsboro, go south on Rt. 67 to Brownsville. The farm is on the west side of the road just south of Brownsville.

• Dec. 4. Western Maryland Research and Education Center, Keedysville. Compare new annual and Italian ryegrass plots and a new seeding of perennial grasses to previous years plotwork. Recap the 2003 season and plan 2004 activities. From I-70 take exit 29 south onto Rt. 65 (Sharpsburg Pike). Go about 7.5 miles and turn left onto Keedysville Rd. Go .9 miles and turn left into WMREC.

Call (301) 791-1304 (Washington County) or (301) 694-1594 (Frederick County) for more information.

• Almost one in five local jobs can be credited to the agricultural industry.

• More than 7,000 people are employed in production agriculture.

• Lancaster County ranks number 1 in the country in the number of laying hens; number 2 in the country in the number of farms with sales greater than $100,000; number 3 in the country in direct marketing food; number 4 in the country in total number of farms; and number 8 in the country in the number of dairy cows.

• Lancaster ranks number one in the state in the production of dairy, broilers, layers, cattle, calves, hogs, corn, hay, and tobacco.

• Each second, Lancaster County produces 90 eggs, 21 pounds of corn, 13 pounds of hay, 9 pounds of chicken, and 7 gallons of milk.

• Lancaster's ag image — not to mention gorgeous farms — represent a significant driver to our local tourism economy, generating more than 7 million tourists annually who spend 1.3 billion each year.

• Farming is also a solid contributor to the plus side of our local tax base. For every $1 of local taxes paid, farm services use $0.07 — easily the lowest amount of any economic sector or use.

• Farmland also serves a valuable role in groundwater recharge, allowing the much-needed rains to soak into our groundwater through the acres and acres of field and pasture.

So, Lancaster's reign as Pennsylvania's most significant ag economy, and agriculture's contributions to all of us, simply cannot be challenged.

Yet — and I am sorry to note there is a "yet" — while I can write ad nauseum on all sorts of positive economic impacts of agriculture, we also need to consider the following:

• Lancaster County has among the most expensive ag land in the entire country, while, at the same time, we have no ability to extract more from markets of commodity crops such as corn, soybeans, and wheat.

• Lancaster County agriculture is confined to small fields with lots of urban neighbors, creating an increasing tension over co-existence.

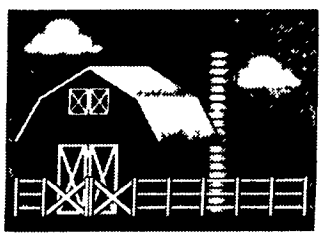
• Lancaster County agriculture cannot survive if our only way to make it on the farm is through frugal lifestyles and poverty level incomes.

And the list of challenges goes on. For agriculture to continue its success, we as a community need to understand the challenges and change the message.

You see, I contend that to the average Lancastrian, preserving our ag economy is synonymous with preserving our farmland — a notion I believe is not only simplistic but even potentially threatening to the future of ag.

We need to expand the message, and we need to be vigilant that public policy follows suit. Some tactical examples:

Preserve the farmer. What good is preserved farmland if we have no farmers to work it? In this regard, I am pleased to hold up the chamber's ag program as one of the answers. Funded in partnership with the County of Lancaster, this program gears its efforts to educating the farmer on sound business practices, educating the public on the overall significance of farming and the ag economy, providing networking opportunities for the local ag community to learn best practices, exchange ideas and learn from each other, and educate local elected officials on the issues of significance to the ag community:



1. Ensuring industrially-zoned land is every bit as protected as farmland. In Lancaster County, all land is precious. As vigilant as we are about farmland preservation, we need to be just as vigilant regarding industrially-zoned land. That is the land where the Tyson's will locate, where Pepperidge Farm will settle, where Sauder's Eggs will grow — all important elements of our ag economy.

2. Develop a more ag-friendly business environment. Our local regulations have to change with the needs of our local ag economy. Permitting on-farm businesses, lessening some of the excessive regulations, allowing for some more intensive and efficient farm practices, and promoting intergovernmental cooperation to ensure regional approaches to the solution are essential.

3. Create a Lancaster brand. The name Lancaster has great value for the image it creates. In that regard, tagging locally-grown products with such a brand will increase their value.

4. Finally, let's create a vision for the future. The Economic Development Company of Lancaster County is undertaking a strategic planning process for the future of economic development. It is vital that the agriculture interests are involved in the process. There will be plenty of opportunity for community input throughout the process, and the ag voice must be heard.

Let me end where I began — almost. I started this column by quoting the Scribbler in noting, "agriculture is an important industry in Pennsylvania and Lancaster is a fertile place. Let it go at that."

Let me end by altering that just a bit . . . agriculture is an important industry in Pennsylvania, and Lancaster is a fertile place. Let's not let it go at that!

Cattle Industry Leaders Make Impact On Top Policy Issues

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Members of the National Cattlemen's Beef Association (NCBA) left their mark on Capitol Hill during the 2003 Spring Conference, as more than 250 cattlemen from across the country met with key members of Congress and top government agency staff April 9-11.

"Washington D.C. is a long way from the cattle ranch, and it's imperative for us to bring all of our concerns, priorities, and personal stories to federal lawmakers and government officials," explains Idaho cattle rancher and NCBA President Eric Davis.

Rep. Hershey Receives Friend Of Beginning Farmer Award

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — As a farmer and a legislator, Rep. Arthur Hershey (R-13) of Cochranville understands the need to help new farmers get started, particularly in rapidly urbanizing areas such as Chester County.

The 10-term lawmaker has deep roots in the limestone soils of Chester County, where his oldest son, Duane, operates the 350-cow family farm that Hershey started in 1959.

Putting his words into actions, Hershey demonstrated his commitment to helping the next generation get started by beginning the planning process with Duane when he was only six. Although Hershey was dedicated to treating his four children fairly, he realized that that doesn't necessarily mean equally. When setting up the farm transfer, he took into consideration the many years his son had helped on the farm and his investment in the farm.

A supportive spouse is essential too, he says, so he recommends waiting until a child has married and both are interested in a farming venture. He believes parents should do everything possible to enable their children to succeed. He said. " When we leave this earth, the only thing we leave are our children ... that's something money can't replace."

Hershey's interests in farming go beyond his family and his farm. His dual interests in agriculture and the environment are illustrated by his work as a Chester County lawmaker on the House Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee and serving as chair of the Environmental Resources and Energy Committee. As a sponsor of the Growing Greener legislation, Hershey worked to find the difficult balance between providing adequate funding to preserve the environment and addressing current fiscal constraints.

In addition, Hershey worked to maintain Pennsylvania's national number one standing in mushroom production by sponsoring legislation along with the departments of environmental protection and agriculture that prohibit the Environmental Quality Board from applying specific air pollution regulations to the production of agricultural commodities. He strengthened the veterinary industry in Pennsylvania by amending the Veterinary Practice Act to incorporate changes important to the veterinary community and acceptable to others involved in veterinary education, and animal rights and health care.

Marion Bowlan, executive director of Pennsylvania Farm Link, said the organization initiated this award to honor those who have demonstrated a commitment to helping Pennsylvania's beginning farmers.

She said, "Hershey demonstrated his personal commitment to beginners both personally, by actively encouraging and enabling his son to take over his farm, and legislatively, by sponsoring farm-friendly legislation and by assisting Pennsylvania Farm Link in securing funding."

Pennsylvania Farm Link is a nonprofit organization dedicated to the mission of creating farming opportunities for the next generation. For more information on how to enter farming or to transition your farm to the next generation, contact the Farm Link office at (717) 664-7077.

Marion Bowlan provides a special honor to Rep. Arthur Hershey (R-13).

Chester/Delaware County Farm Bureau Reports Growth

DAVE LEFEVER
Lancaster Farming Staff

BLUE BALL (Lancaster Co.) — The Chester/Delaware County Farm Bureau reported a record number of members this year, along with several hundred new members joining from the western half of Philadelphia County.

President Bob Hewitt said that the group's 1,337 members from Chester and Delware counties represent "an all-time high." New members from Philadelphia bring the total to 1,689.

Bob Yarnall Jr., vice president, spoke about the cooperation with Philadelphia County to about 100 members at the annual spring banquet Wednesday evening at Shady Maple Smorgasbord.

Yarnall noted that the Philadelphia school system includes the largest FFA chapter in the country at the WB Saul High School Of Agricultural Sciences.

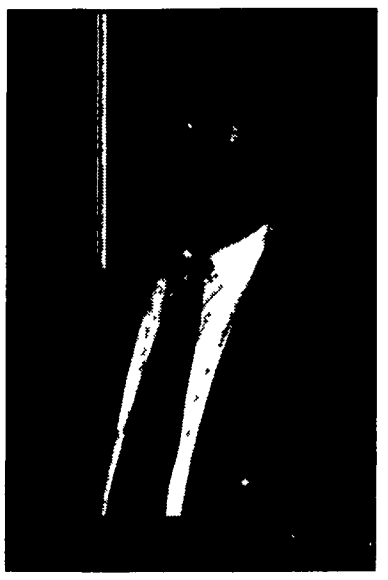
As a Farm Bureau representative, Yarnall met recently with state legislators in Philadelphia.

"They were open to us," Yarnall said of the urban representatives. "It was the first time Farm Bureau really made inroads to speaking with them about the issues."

Yarnall said the Farm Bureau's association with Philadelphia-area lawmakers includes promoting Ag In the Classroom initiatives and urban farm and landscape projects within the city.

Regional Director Ed Buss called the decision to integrate part of Philadelphia into the Chester/Delaware Farm Bureau a "bold move."

Buss also said the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau is working to bring a "mobile ag science lab" into the state to enhance agricultural learning in schools.



David Hodge

Maryland is already using such a lab, referred to by Buss as a "portable classroom" contained in a large travel trailer.

Initial cost of the rolling ag laboratory is between $30,000 and $35,000, with annual maintenance costs of about $30,000, according to Buss.

Buss said that fees collected from Maryland school districts generate nearly enough income to pay for operation of the lab, which is used to help meet new requirements for the Ag In the Classroom Program.

Other reports at the banquet included updates from the local, regional, and state Farm Bureau scene.

David Hodge, apple grower and a county Farm Bureau director, said he participated in a recent legislative trip to Harrisburg to lobby for agricultural concerns with Rep. James Gerlach (R-44).

"The budget is definitely a concern for us," Hodge said. "There's a disproportionate amount of agriculture to be cut from the proposed (Pennsylvania) budget."

Hodge said the Farm Bureau is asking for permanent removal of the state's "death tax" on inheritances. At this point, the tax is to be phased out in steps, but is scheduled to return in 2010.

The Farm Bureau is also asking state lawmakers to set up a plan to spread tax payments over five years to ease burdens on farmers in years they record a profit, Hodge said.

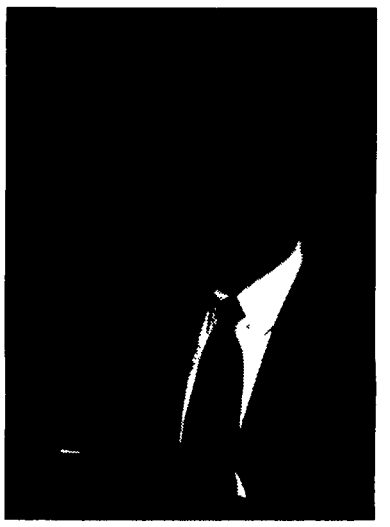
Reasonably priced medical insurance and stricter regulations on imported milk protein concentrates (MPCs) are other issues being pushed by the Farm Bureau.

Donald "Buster" Needham said he represented the Farm Bureau at an April 1 meeting with Chester County commissioners.

"One of the issues we all have at heart is water," Needham said. "The other is land preservation."

Director Sally Kolb said the tie is strong between the farming community and Chester County officials.

"The cooperation agriculture



Donald "Buster" Needham

has had in this county has been phenomenal," she said.

At the state level, Kolb noted that the Farm Bureau is working on a new version of last year's Senate Bill 1413, legislation that was designed to give farmers more leverage in dealing with township regulations. The bill failed to pass in the Pennsylvania House of representatives last fall.

"Hopefully, this year we will have wording that will allow the bill to pass," she said.

Farm Bureau is also seeking property tax reform in the state. That is "by no means a simple problem to solve," Kolb said.

She said the Farm Bureau's hope is that "we will come together on a plan that we can live with a little better than the one we have right now."

Tim Art, a local farm management specialist, urged farmers to find ways to make the most of risk management opportunities. He gave the example of one local dairy farmer who last fall signed a cheese contract with his milk cooperative and is receiving about $1 more per hundredweight over the current price on half of the milk he produces.

Art also told farmers to be aware of an increasing government attention to tax returns.

Bob Yarnall Jr.

"As our clients put it, the IRS is back in the auditing business," he said.

Others on hand at the banquet included state Rep. Art Hershey, whose district includes parts of Chester and Lancaster counties.

Hershey said he was "encouraged" at a recent ag forum in which Dennis Wolff, Pennsylvania secretary of ag designee and Kathleen McGinty, acting secretary of environmental protection, spoke together "about solving nutrient management problems based on science rather than emotion."

Take Your Best Shot at Controlling Weeds in Soybeans

Controlling weeds in Roundup Ready® soybeans isn't as simple as running your sprayer into the field one time with a post application of glyphosate Rate cutting and repetitive use of glyphosate may be leading to poor weed control or even the development of tolerance or resistance to glyphosate

That's why we recommend a tank mix of 0 3 ounces of FirstRate* herbicide with labeled rates of a glyphosate product like Glyphomax* Plus herbicide Applying this proven combination early post while weeds are within labeled rates will easily control existing weeds and provide residual control to stop later-emerging weeds from becoming established

This simple, one-pass tank-mix program – which we call BestShot™ – will deliver improved control of morningglory, giant and common ragweed, larger velvetleaf, cocklebur and sunflower It also offers

- Residual control and improved contact control
- The ability to reduce glyphosate rates based on weed species and weed size at application
- Competitive value to glyphosate-only sprays
- Excellent crop safety

Adding a residual chemistry like FirstRate allows you to widen your application window Rather than waiting until canopy to apply glyphosate you can hit weeds earlier when they are smaller and more manageable That means less competition for emerging soybeans, improved stands and higher yields

This tank-mix program will consistently deliver sharper and more consistent weed control than glyphosate alone To offset the added cost of the BestShot program, you only need to improve soybean yields 1 to 2 bushels The payback also includes cleaner fields

For more information about using FirstRate and Glyphomax Plus for improved soybean weed control, see your local ag retailer focus will be on strengthening and growing the economy, "and farmers know a lot about growing," he said.

The administration, county and township governments, and neighbors are necessary for investment into agriculture and ag-related businesses, he said.

In addressing the environment, Wolff noted how the focus on nutrient loading has shifted from point sources (a specific, discernible location) to non-point sources (such as parking lots, homes, or farms).

"With this shift, we need to realize that we should approach the problem in a different way," he said.

"We need a change in personal habits — to reshape how and what people think through education, technical and financial assistance, and enforcement.

"Agriculture must learn how to balance its role in producing food and fiber with functioning as stewards of the land."

Part of education includes township officials, he said. "We think as a whole, township supervisors and farmers are on the same wavelength," although he acknowledged that there were also areas of disagreement.

Recently the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture (PDA) set up a tour for township supervisors to help them understand how responsible the producers are, how they work under the restrictions of laws, and the farms' impact on the local economy, according to Wolff.

At the recent Ag Issues Forum is, from left, Alan Bair, Pennsylvania Dairy Stakeholders; Dennis Wolff, secretary (designee) of agriculture; Karen McGinty, secretary (designee) of the Environmental Protection Agency; and Michael Brubaker.

"We started a dialogue that needs to continue," he said.

Wolff noted that the tour has helped to waylay further regulations on concentrated animal feeding (CAFO) operations.

"We must continue to educate our society about what we're doing," Wolff said.

According to McGinty, the EPA will welcome dialogue with producers facing challenges with environmental regulations.

"When I see people of good faith coming to us, people who are trying to do the right thing, we try to come to the table together," she said. "The buzzword is that we exercise our enforcement discretion."

For producers who see future requirements that would impose a burden on their facility, and come to the EPA with ideas to meet and achieve those requirements with added flexibility from the EPA, "you will have a partner in me with your ideas," she said. "If you have a better way, I'd love to hear it."

McGinty began by discussing challenges with nutrient management and the Chesapeake Bay.

"We need to make sure that we have a healthy, vibrant agriculture industry," she said. McGinty is concerned "when I see the magnitude of the challenges of nutrient management standards producers are going to need to try to meet.

"I want to find ways in which we can meet them in a way to thrive and maybe find new economic activity.

"Meeting these challenges cannot fall wholly on the backs of agriculture. The truth is that there are a myriad of other factors that lend themselves to nutrient loading in the water."

To meet these challenges, she said, she hopes "to get everybody at the table," including other headwater states in addition to Pennsylvania.

McGinty has been pursuing an option to transfer the air emissions trading paradigm to the water arena. When meeting nutrient requirements, there would be an opportunity to partner with another business that can reduce their nutrients more inexpensively, she said.

"I am 100 percent confident that as we get into the program, people will see the cost savings available there and the system will sell itself."

Additionally, nitrogen controls are already in place at power plants, so McGinty is looking for ways to encourage the power plant to run these controls year-round — instead of only in times of high ozone levels, as is the case now — in hopes that "the amount of reduction achieved would lighten the load on everyone," she said.

McGinty also discussed the opportunities of biosolid use. She would like to further develop the idea of using biosolids as inputs into biogasification plants, a clean source of energy, she said. She is researching using grant money from the Growing Greener program to help foot the bill.

CAFOs were also a part of her agenda.

"Some in the environmental community are opposed to CAFOs," she said. "I tell then that I part company with them on that issue."

According to McGinty, the EPA has a job to monitor and report nutrient pollution, and she has found that it has been easier for her to work with operations that have the capital, technology, attitude, and resources to change, she said.

"I think everybody wants to do the job of maintaining natural resources," she said. "The issue of biosolids is on many lawmakers minds.

Biosolids, applied correctly to fields, "can convert challenge to opportunity," she said.

A Better Way To Deal With Cattle Runoff

CLAY CENTER, Neb. — Eliminating odors from cattle waste runoff is only one advantage of a new, environmentally friendly system developed by Agricultural Research Service scientists in Nebraska to handle animal waste.

Another benefit of the new system is reduced costs for farmers, since the nutrients will flow from lagoons onto nearby fields to fertilize hay.

The feedlot at ARS' Roman L. Hruska U.S. Meat Animal Research Center (MARC) in Clay Center, Neb., is situated on top of a foothill.

Rainfall runoff from a series of pens within this feedlot is directed to a small basin that runs the length of the pens. The runoff collects in the basin for a short period of time, allowing the solid particles to settle. The runoff is then discharged to a hayfield, where the water and nutrients are "recycled" to help the hay grow without any additional water or nutrients.

The retained solids have to be removed from the basin once a year. But these solids are spread on cornfields as fertilizer, thereby 'recycling" them back to the production system.

Cattle's bodies cannot utilize all the nitrogen, phosphorus and other nutrients contained in their feed, and the excess ends up in the animals' manure.

But with the new system, these underutilized nutrients can be put to work as fertilizer to help grow the thousands of acres of corn and hay that are planted each year as food for the MARC cattle.

This not only saves money on commercial fertilizer costs, but also helps keep nutrients such as nitrogen out of water supplies by reusing those nutrients as fertilizer, rather than letting them wash away to nearby streams or other bodies of water.

In the three years that agricultural engineers have studied the system, there has been no runoff of nitrogen or animal wastewater from the hayfields to the surrounding area.

NCBA Calls For More Flexibility In COOL Rule At Spring Conference

WASHINGTON, D.C. — More flexibility is needed in the country of origin labeling program in order to lessen the burden on American producers and make promotion of U.S. product the number one goal, according to comments filed April 9 by the National Cattlemen's Beef Association (NCBA).

Coinciding with its Spring Conference, which brings hundreds of cattlemen to Washington, D.C., NCBA submitted formal comments to the USDA's Agriculture Marketing Service on the country of origin labeling interim voluntary program."Cattle producers are concerned about the burden of the country of origin labeling program that is being placed on them to certify that cattle are born and raised in the U.S.," said Eric Davis, Idaho cattle producer and president of NCBA. "You can be sure they voiced these concerns in meetings with agency officials last week."

The comments on the voluntary program are especially important as they will most likely influence how the mandatory rule is implemented.

NCBA is calling for increased flexibility to maximize the promotional benefits of the program while minimizing the costs and burden on cattle producers.

"USDA must identify areas where flexibility exists in the interpretation of the law, and areas where the law is not flexible," the comments state.

"NCBA will seek avenues during rulemaking to lessen the burden on U.S producers, and work to make promotion of U.S. product the number one goal. " Unfortunately USDA hands are tied in many instances because the law does not provide USDA any breathing room.

In remarks last month, Agriculture Secretary Veneman said, "It is important to eliminate confusion to ensure the process doesn't cause an undue burden on the nation's food and agricultural sector."

Producers will have an opportunity to discuss their concerns with the program at any of 12 listening sessions being planned by USDA. A meeting is scheduled for June 26 for Lancaster. All sessions will be held from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. local time. More information is available at http://www.ams.usda.gov/cool/.

ASI Announces Format For Sessions On Country Of Origin Labeling

CENTENNIAL, Colo. — The American Sheep Industry Association (ASI) has informed producers on the format for sessions on country-of-origin-labeling to be launched April 29 by the USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS).

Each session will run from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. local time beginning with opening comments from a USDA official on the various aspects of the law.

The initial USDA presentation will be followed by a public input session. Any participant wishing to speak will be required to sign-in before the event and provide his or her name and affiliation. Speakers will present their comments in the order in which they sign in and will be allowed three minutes to deliver their remarks.

"These meetings are an excellent opportunity for growers to be heard," said American Sheep Industry Association President Guy Flora. "Anyone interested in signing up to present comments may find it advantageous to review the ASI comments before attending the meeting."

ASI's comments, along with all other comments submitted to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, can be viewed at www.ams.usda.gov/cool/submissions.htm.

Revolutionary Crop Yields

high yielding dwarf wheat varieties that helped turn Third World countries such as India into food exporters. The wheat varieties were introduced into India and Pakistan in 1965. Borlaug's work helped prevent starvation and malnutrition across the globe.

5. The agricultural debt crisis of the 1980s, which started when the Federal Reserve Bank encouraged higher interest rates to slow inflation. This forced many full-time family farms out of business, created rural bank failures and crippled small towns.

6. The 1962 publication of Rachel Carson's book, "Silent Spring." Carson, a nature writer and former marine biologist, documented how the insecticide DDT accumulates in the environment and harms mammals and birds. Her book helped start the environmental movement.

7. The use of antibiotics for livestock and poultry, approved by the Food and Drug Administration about 50 years ago. Adding antibiotics to the feed of hogs and chickens not only prevents disease, it makes the animals grow faster. And it makes it easier to confine them in large buildings with fewer disease outbreaks. Medical research has also identified overuse of antibiotics in livestock production as one reason antibiotics are becoming less effective medicines for humans.

8. Tie. NAAJ members gave equal votes to two developments: the adoption of no-till farming, which avoids plowing and slows soil erosion, and the fact that the farm population dropped below 2 percent of U.S. population for the first time during the 1990s.

9. The adoption of anhydrous ammonia fertilizer, a cheap source of nitrogen fertilizer made by using natural gas. Until anhydrous ammonia was adopted in the 1950s, farmers relied on animal manure and leguminous plants such as clover to provide this key plant food. Without cheap nitrogen, the high yields of hybrid corn and dwarf wheat would not have been possible.

10. Integration of the poultry industry. Most farmers once owned a few chickens to raise for meat and eggs. In the 1960s, once chickens could be confined in large buildings thanks to antibiotics and abundant cheap corn, the ownership of chickens gradually concentrated with a few companies. Those companies pay farmers a fee for each bird they raise for the company. A similar process of vertical integration is taking place today in the hog industry.

NAAJ members identified several other key trends that weren't on the historians' lists. They include the increasing mechanization of agriculture in general. For example, mechanical tomato pickers (which were on the list but didn't make the top 10) became popular in the 1960s. The U.S. grain export boom of the 1970s that followed sales to the former Soviet Union in 1972 was another key event. So was elimination of rail freight subsidies for grain in Canada, which led to more exports of Canadian crops and livestock into the U.S.

A list of 40 important events and changes in agriculture was prepared for the NAAJ members by three leading agricultural historians, R. Douglas Hurt of Iowa State University, C. Fred Williams of the University of Arkansas at Little Rock, and David Vaught of Texas A&M University.

NAAJ was formed as Newspaper Farm Editors of America. Today the group represents about 100 newspaper, magazine, and news service writers who cover agriculture in the U.S. and Canada.

Drought's End Should Lower Corn Prices For Pennsylvania Livestock Producers

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Pennsylvania livestock producers — forced to buy more corn than usual to feed their animals after last summer's drought nearly wiped out their corn crops across the state — can take solace in predictions that corn prices are likely to drop later this year, according to an expert in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"With good weather, we'll have a good crop and steady to slightly lower corn prices for feed by fall," says Lou Moore, professor of agricultural economics. "Pennsylvania was hit particularly hard by the drought, harvesting just 64.6 million bushels last year. The crop was just slightly higher than the one harvested in the severe drought of 1988."

Persistent drought in the Midwest and high transportation costs resulting from soaring gasoline prices have combined to boost the price of corn to more than $3 a bushel. Although the drought seems to be over in Pennsylvania, continued dry conditions are forecast for the Midwest. And oil prices remain extremely volatile due to war and political unrest in the Middle East and South America.

Corn is most important as feed for dairy cows in the state. Pennsylvania remains the nation's fourth largest milk-producing state, and fully 40 percent of Pennsylvania's agricultural receipts are generated by the dairy industry. Corn also is used as feed for beef cattle, swine, and poultry. Virtually all field corn grown in the state is fed to livestock.

"So when we have a severe drought like last year, it hurts livestock producers most because they have to buy more feed," Moore explains. "Even though there is a lot of corn grown in the state, Pennsylvania's corn production represents just 2 percent of the national corn crop.

"Pennsylvania is the 18th most important agricultural state in the country," Moore adds. "According to a report released in late March by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, 1.45 million acres of corn are expected to be planted in the state in 2003. More than 79 million acres of corn will be planted across the country. So even though we are the most important corn state in the Northeast, we do not produce enough to have any influence on corn prices."

Nationally, Moore points out, about the same amount of corn will be planted this year as last, ending a trend toward farmers planting less corn and more soybeans. He attributes that change to lower government subsidies for soybean production.

Less corn is expected to be grown this year in Plains states such as Nebraska because of continuing drought, but prospects appear good for corn production in what Moore called the "eastern corn belt," states such as Ohio, Illinois and Indiana.

"This should be the eighth consecutive year in which the corn harvest will be over 9 billion bushels, making it feasible to feed livestock," Moore says. "If the weather is favorable, this year could produce a near-record crop."

NFU Lauds Signing Of Supplemental Aid Bill

WASHINGTON, D.C. — National Farmers Union claimed two victories for America's farmers and ranchers as President Bush signed the supplemental appropriations bill last week.

The bill, which provides supplemental defense funding for the war, also addresses various other issues, including language to close an organic labeling loophole and to meet humanitarian food needs without harming domestic markets.

The legislation repeals a provision passed earlier this year that would have weakened the organic standards by loosening the requirement that livestock be fed organic feed in order to be labeled "organic." NFU had urged Congress to close the loophole and stay true to the organic standards that were issued in October 2002.

Additionally, the supplemental bill ensured that the Bill Emerson Humanitarian Trust(BEHT) would fulfill food aid commitments while minimizing negative impact on domestic markets. Initially, the administration planned to sell wheat from the BEHT to purchase rice for use as humanitarian aid to suffering Middle East countries.

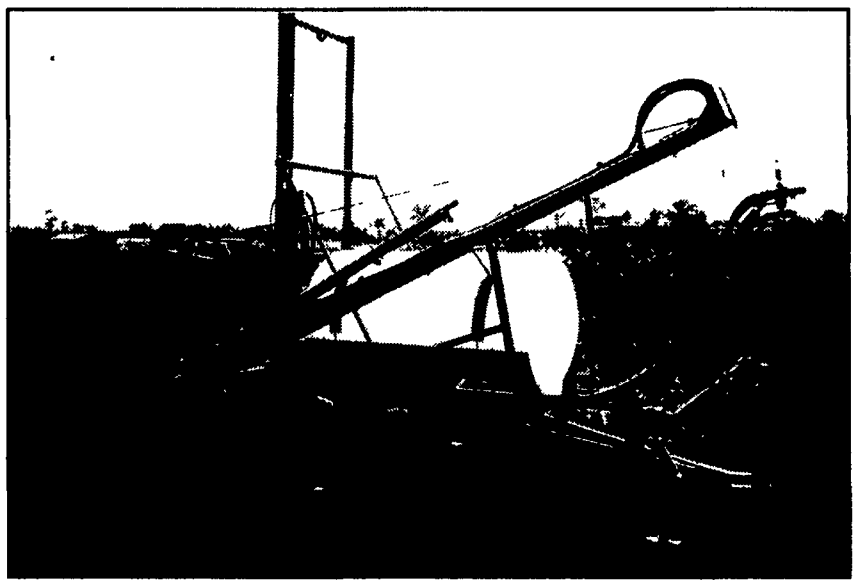
PAUL B. Zimmerman INC.
High Pressure Produce Sprayers
Trailer or 3 Pt. Hitch Models



Zimmerman's manufactures several different model sprayers designed for produce spraying. They are built for the small farmer that cannot justify a large expensive sprayer. Trailer models are available with a 200 or 300 gallon tank and 3pt hitch models with a 110, 150, 200 or 300 gallon tank. The 25' single sided boom has 7' plus clearance and requires a minimal amount of drive rows because of the wide span. It also has a hydraulic cylinder that allows the operator to level the boom from the tractor seat. A Hypro high pressure diaphragm provides up to 290 p.s.i. and non-drip nozzle bodies keep chemical loss minimal. Stop or call Zimmerman's today to see how we can help you with your spraying needs and improve your profit margin.

Agriculture Counts

By Marc Tosiano
Pa. State Statistician

Editor's note: This is a monthly column from the Pennsylvania Ag Statistics Service (PASS), a field office of USDA's National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS) in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture (PDA). The Website is www.usda.gov/nass/.

CENSUS UPDATE — CALLING ALL GROWERS!

As of this writing, Pennsylvania growers are responding well to the Ag Census, exceeded only by growers in Ohio, Indiana, and Rhode Island. A big "thank you" goes to the thousands of growers who have returned completed forms for the 2002 Census of Agriculture.

However, our good response rates can change over the next several weeks as nonrespondents are phoned or visited in all states. Any undercount could have an impact on the funding of the ag services or programs in your county or across Pennsylvania during the next five years!

Since we are required by law to conduct the Census of Agriculture, we must make every effort to get a completed census form from every grower, including large, small, and hobby farms. We are beginning intensive efforts to call or visit those who have not yet completed the 2002 Census of Agriculture.

We really don't want to bother folks at home, but we have no choice. There still may be time to avoid a visit or phone call if you send in a completed census form right away. Returning the form by mail also saves the excessive taxpayer cost of collecting information by telephone or a personal visit.

Initially, we are calling growers in the lowest responding counties. In Pennsylvania, this includes Cameron, Crawford, Fayette, Forest, Lackawanna, and Lawrence counties. After that, we will contact as many nonrespondents as possible in all counties.

County statistics from the Ag Census will often be the only information about a county until the next Ag Census which is five years away. A complete count is needed for every county so that each county is properly represented compared to the rest.

So far, Adams, Centre, and York counties are showing the highest response rates in Pennsylvania. Any county that comes up short in the final tally may not get fair consideration for extension services or other decisions that affect Pennsylvania growers.

Here is a partial list of items that are affected by counts from the Census of Agriculture: extension funding and staffing, ag research grants, Farm Bill programs, crop insurance, farm loans by private lenders, small farm programs, Sustainable Agriculture Research and Education program, programs run by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, and much more.

Remember that small, part-time, and hobby farms must be counted too, because they make up about half the farms in Pennsylvania. Call (888) 4AG-STAT or (888) 424-7828 if you need a census form or any help completing it.

2003 PLANTING INTENTIONS PUBLISHED MARCH 31

First, I want to thank all growers who answered our March Agricultural Survey. This survey allows us to publish intentions for the coming crop year in Pennsylvania and across the nation.

Pennsylvania farmers intend to plant more acres of barley, oats, soybeans, and sorghum this spring and harvest more hay in 2003.

Corn and tobacco acreage intentions in Pennsylvania are unchanged from a year ago. Wheat acres planted in Pennsylvania last fall are down from a year ago. For the complete report with all states, look for the Prospective Plantings report on March 31 in the 2003 DATE search at www.usda.gov/nass/search.htm.

2003 SMALL GRAIN INTENTIONS

In Pennsylvania, all wheat, at 175,000 acres, is down 8 percent from last year, but 3 percent above the 2001 planted acres. Expected barley planted acreage is 75,000, up 7 percent from 2002 and 5,000 acres more than were planted in 2001. Expected oats planted acreage is 145,000, up 4 percent from 2002, but 5,000 acres less than two years ago. Expected oats acreage for harvest is 115,000, unchanged from the last 2 years.

Nationwide, wheat fall-planted acres are up 2 percent from last year. Barley planting intentions are up 6 percent. Oat seedings are expected to be down 4 percent from 2002 and oat harvested acres are expected at 5 percent above 2002.

2003 ROW CROP INTENTIONS

In Pennsylvania, intended plantings of corn for all purposes are 1.45 million acres, unchanged from last year and 50,000 acres below two years ago. Soybean planted acreage intentions are expected at 370,000 acres, 1 percent above the 365,000 planted last year, but 30,000 acres less than two years ago. Sorghum plantings are expected to be at 13,000 acres, up 18 percent or 2,000 acres over last year.

Nationwide, farmers intend to plant 79.0 million acres of corn for all purposes in 2003, virtually unchanged from 2002, but 4 percent above 2001. Soybean producers across the U.S. intend to plant 73.2 million acres in 2003, down 1 percent from last year and, if realized, the lowest planted area since 1998. This is the third consecutive year that soybean acreage has declined in the U.S.

Sorghum planted acres are expected at 9.45 million acres across the nation, 1 percent below previous year.

2003 TOBACCO AND HAY HARVEST PLANS

In Pennsylvania, intentions are to harvest 1,300 acres of Southern Maryland, Type-32 tobacco, unchanged from a year ago. Pennsylvania Seedleaf Type-41 tobacco harvested acreage is expected to be 2,100 acres, also unchanged from last year.

Nationally, Southern Maryland Type-32 tobacco expectations are to harvest 2,800 acres, 7 percent less than the 3,000 acres in 2002. All U.S. tobacco harvest is expected from 417,510 acres, down 3 percent from last year.

Pennsylvania harvest intentions for all dry hay in 2003 is 1.9 million acres, up 6 percent or 100,000 acres over last year. Nationally, dry hay is expected to be harvested from 63.6 million acres, down 1 percent from 2002.

Farmers: Be Aware Of Japanese Knotweed

DAVE LEFEVER
Lancaster Farming Staff

MILL HALL (Clinton Co.) — Japanese knotweed, a fast-growing perennial also known as Japanese bamboo, has become a concern in some parts of northern Pennsylvania, according to a crop agent here.

The ornamental plant can be "aggressively competitive" with native vegetation as well as farm crops when accidentally introduced into fields, said Tom Butzler, Clinton County extension agent.

Butzler said Japanese knotweed was originally brought into the U.S. from Asia as an ornamental landscaping plant. The flowers and plants are "very attractive," he said.

According to Butzler, there are several characteristics that made the plant desirable to American gardeners. It is a shrub-like perennial that can grow to more than 10 feet in height. Also, Japanese knotweed is an aggressive spreader, through its underground stems called rhizomes. As a result of its aggressiveness and height characteristics, gardeners saw its potential as live screening material and erosion control. As an added bonus, small greenish-white flowers bloom in attractive, branched sprays during the months of August and September.

But those desirable characteristics also created many problems. The plant spreads so quickly that it forms dense thickets that exclude native vegetation and greatly alter natural ecosystems, especially around waterways.

Japanese knotweed is placed into a category called invasive species. According to the Pennsylvania Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, "Invasive plants are environmentally noxious weeds that grow aggressively, spread easily and displace other plants. They are hard to control, and if they escape from cultivation, can overtake large areas, degrading their habitat value not only for other plants, but insects, birds and animals."

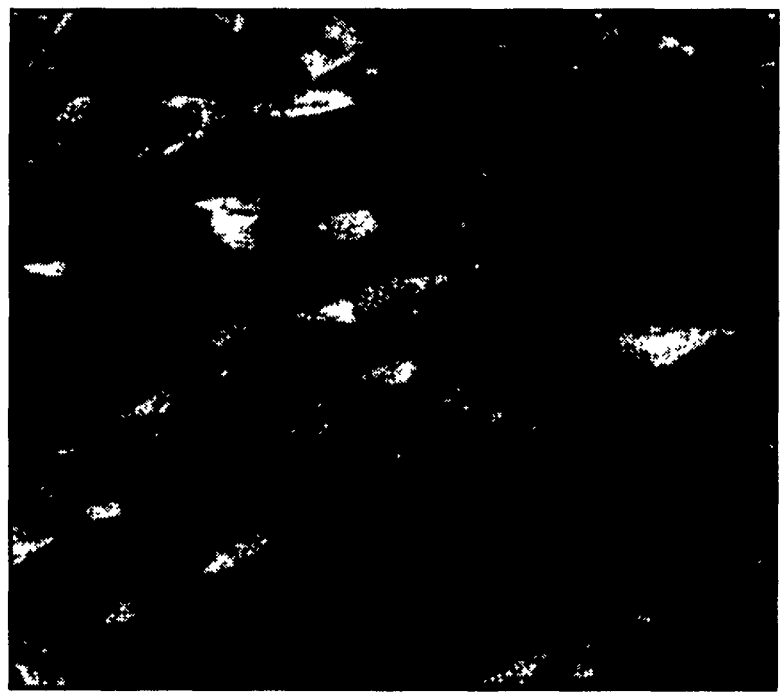
Although the flowers produce seed in prolific numbers, new Japanese knotweed plantings are most likely started with the movement of underground rhizomes. The rhizomes, once established, can be a nightmare to eliminate.

Butzler said that the most common way for the plant to be introduced on farms is when soil is hauled in from another site to fill low spots in fields. If the soil contains knotweed rhizomes, the weed can become established and spread in the field, competing with corn, soybeans, forage, or vegetable crops.

Stands of escaped Japanese knotweed are often seen along waterways in the area, Butzler said. Knotweed rhizomes can float down a river or stream and eventually become established along the banks.

Another situation Butzler observed is where soil was placed alongside a roadway to bring the surrounding yards up to grade with the pavement. The soil placed along the road contained Japanese knotweed rhizomes. A minor infestation occurred in several surrounding yards.

Shown is Japanese knotweed blooming in late summer.



Japanese knotweed invades a corn field.

When rhizome-infested soil is transported to another location it can give rise to a stand on the new site.

Beside the concern for crop production, Butzler also noted that Japanese knotweed can also threaten native plant populations with its aggressive spreading nature.

While he has not yet seen an economic impact from knotweed, Butzler said the potential is there if the weed goes unchecked for too long.

"It can be a pretty nasty weed," he said. "It is really destroying ecosystems along waterways."

Many people are "not aware what the plant is," he said.

Unfortunately, Butzler noted, the usual herbicide program for crops does little to control this weed problem.

Control of Japanese knotweed can be achieved by various methods, but the goal is to destroy the extensive rhizome system. Repeated pulling or cutting will, after several years, eventually deplete the energy reserve of the rhizome and kill the plant. It is important that all cut or pulled knotweed stems are disposed of properly. As stems, crowns, and rhizomes readily regenerate, they must be allowed to dry out thoroughly after they have been pulled or cut.

Several herbicides can be used for control, but it still may take several years to eradicate the entire plant. It will take patience to eliminate this weed, Butzler noted, and the earlier the problem is tackled, the easier it will be to control. An established stand is very difficult to control.

Larry Kuhns, professor of ornamental horticulture at Penn State stated that "compared to invasive plants and weeds, the chemical pollutants of the '60s, '70s and '80s will be considered an easy cleanup."

Bob Anderson, crop agent from Lancaster County, said he has not yet noticed any Japanese knotweed stands south of the Snyder/Union county area.

MAHA Spring Classic May 2-3

MERCER (Mercer Co.) — Join Mid-Atlantic Highland Association (MAHA) for their 14th annual show.

The first show of the new season, in a new location, will be conducted at the Mercer County 4-H Park. Mercer is at the crossroads of Interstate 80 and Interstate 79.

Highland enthusiasts may begin arriving on Thursday, May 1, with or without animals. There are plenty of activities all weekend for all to enjoy, whether you are showing cattle or not.

Friday afternoon features the Junior Show. Feast at the HOG Rally (Highland Owners Group) Barbeque, then enjoy an evening of informative activities. Watch a hoof trimming demonstration. Or, bring an animal to the arena, for a showmanship workshop and practice show.

See some of the finest Highlands in the east at the Open Show on Saturday morning. Highland hamburgers will be available for lunch, to benefit the MAHA Juniors. In the evening, convene back at the host hotel to enjoy a social hour and banquet.

You can pack up your animals and head home on Sunday, as clean up will be taken care of for you.

New Bolton's Garden Yields A Harvest Of Education

MICHELLE KUNJAPPU
Lancaster Farming Staff

KENNETT SQUARE (Chester Co.) — The landscape of the New Bolton Center is changing as toxic and poisonous plants move in.

The invasion of these plants, however, is not cause for concern but part of a "teaching garden" for students and visitors to the Center, which is the University of Pennsylvania's School of Veterinary Medicine.

"In class we cover about 30 different plants, both indigenous to Pennsylvania and otherwise, so we'll put in plants for the classes," said Dr. Robert Poppenga, associate professor of veterinary toxicology, who determined which plants to include in the garden.

He added that the large animal owners who spend the day on the premises, waiting as their animals are treated, could take the opportunity to learn about poisonous pasture plants.

Volunteers from Penn State's Chester County Master Gardeners designed and installed the unique garden.

Tuesday's work included breaking ground for a wildflower bed. Project leaders hope to have several beds planted by the end of May. Phase two will be the construction of a stone area with benches and pots, plus the addition of a pergola.

The instruction tool will develop "as resources permit," said Poppenga.

The plants will be labeled and a map will be available to direct visitors to trees and shrubs — such as Red Maple and Black Locust — already located on the grounds in other locations, he said. Besides labeling the plants, he plans to provide information on which animals are impacted if they ingest the plant.

Problems with toxic plants in the mid-Atlantic area are "more sporadic, and not as common because we don't have the numbers of plants that they have out west in Wyoming, Utah, or Colorado, where they make a major economic impact."

However, "I get calls on what plants can be in pastures — around here, it's more that people want information to avoid poisonings than there are actual poisonings."

Not all of the plants pack the same punch for animals. Ingesting only 6-8 ounces of the yew, for example, "can kill a cow," however an animal can ingest "quite a bit" of milkweed, "depending on the size of the animal."

Fortunately, "a lot of forages are not very palatable," said Poppenga, so if livestock "get a decent opportunity to get forage from the pasture, they generally leave the poisonous plants alone, but I think it's good for farmers to know what's in their pasture," he said.

Poppenga hopes that students will also have the opportunity to help with the garden. "In every veterinary class there's always a core group of students interested in plants, and we're hoping to hire them to help maintain the garden over the summer," he said.

Native plants which Poppenga hopes to put in the garden are rhododendron, mountain laurel, lupine, larkspur, Japanese yews, milkweed, poison hemlock, and digitalis.

Master Gardener Craig Rybinski, a landscaper, designed the project and planned the construction phases.

From left Master Gardeners Lena VonLuehrte, Thomas Bare, project coordinator, and Alice Hall work on phase one of the project. Hall plans to help provide plants from her gardening business. "As we pull them from our customers' properties, we will bring them and plant them here," she said.

Project coordinators and volunteers from Penn State's Chester County Master Gardeners planned, designed, and began to install the unique garden Tuesday.

Northeast Federal Milk Marketing Order Uniform Price For March 2003

BOSTON, Mass. — Erik F. Rasmussen, market administrator for the Northeast Federal Milk Marketing Order, has announced that the statistical uniform price (SUP) paid by milk dealers (handlers) regulated under the Northeast Order during March 2003 is $11.43 per hundredweight ($0.98 per gallon) for milk delivered to plants located in Suffolk County, Mass. (Boston). The producer price differential (PPD) portion of the SUP for March is $2.32 per hundredweight for milk delivered to plants located in Suffolk County, Mass. The PPD ($2.32) combined with the corresponding month's Class III price ($9.11) equals the SUP ($11.43).

The SUP represents a benchmark minimum price paid to dairy farmers, prior to allowable deductions, for farm milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat, 2.99 percent protein, and 5.69 percent other solids. The actual price received by an individual dairy farmer will vary, as the composition of a farm's milk differs from the component benchmarks. The PPD represents each producer's share of the value generated by the marketwide pool. The PPD is added to the payment producers receive for their milk's components and is adjusted for the location of the receiving plant(s). The SUP and PPD decrease by scheduled amounts the further away the plant(s) receiving the producers' milk are from Suffolk County, Mass. (Boston).

The class prices for milk pooled in March are as follows: Class I, $13.06 (Suffolk County, Mass.); Class II, $10.54; Class III, $9.11; and Class IV, $9.79. Comparable prices for March 2002 were: Class I, $14.87; Class II, $12.19; Class III, $10.65; and Class IV price, $11.42. The component values for March 2003 are protein, $1.6648 per pound; butterfat, $1.1459 per pound; other solids, $0.0206 per pound; and nonfat solids, $0.6651 per pound.

Milk receipts from producers totaled 2.150 billion pounds. Class I utilization, milk processed as beverage milk, was 41.3 percent of producer milk receipts. The Class I utilization was 39.2 percent in March 2002.

The manufacture of Class II products such as cream, ice cream, yogurt, and cottage cheese utilized 18.8 percent of producer milk. Milk used to manufacture Class III products such as cheese (American and Italian) and evaporated and condensed products utilized 29.0 percent of total milk receipts. Class IV usage (butter, nonfat, and whole milk powder) equaled 10.9 percent of the total.

Beef Conference Will Be Online

Thre will be online coverage of the 2003 Beef Improvement Federation (BIF) Annual Meeting. Producers can go to www.bifconference.com for information, articles, news releases, and links related to the conference as it happens. This year's BIF conference will take place May 28-31 in Lexington, Ky., and will focus on surviving environmental challenges.

In addition, www.4cattlemen.com will feature highlights of the 2003 Cattle Industry Convention and Trade Show.

York Beef Club Presents Honors At Awards, Honors Dinner

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

SEVEN VALLEYS (York Co.) — Brenda Grubb has been named the 2003 Citation Award winner by the York County 4-H beef club. Grubb has worked with the beef club and its members for 10 years, assisting with project development, meeting, and show activities.

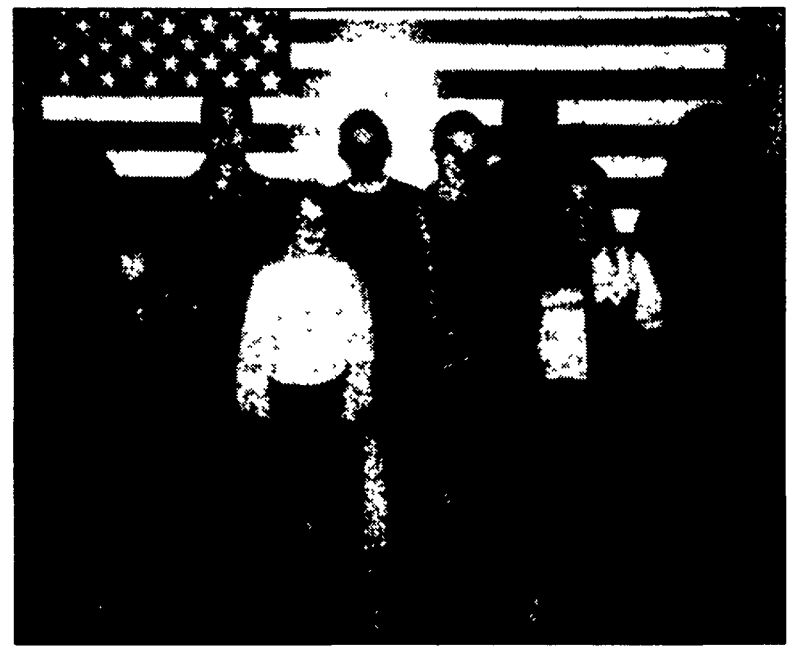
Grubb's presentation was the finale of the annual beef club awards and honors dinner, conducted at the Seven Valleys Fire Hall. Members were also recognized for their achievements and accomplishments during the prior year of club activities.

Senior division roll call awards were presented to the six highest scoring members, based on their responses and reports at club meetings. High scorer was Cory Thompson, with a points accumulation of 8.88. Second was Amanda Thompson, scoring 8.64; Sara Grim, third, 8.52; Herman Hake, fourth, 8.02; Kim Long, fifth, 7.94; and Kyle Grim, sixth, 7.88. Rookie roll call awards were presented to Hames Kinsley, first, Katie Shultz, second, and Morgan Livingston, third.

South Central Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association awarded two Steer of Merit honors. Recipients were Jamie Welsh, first, and Cory Thompson. Sara Grim and Tom Welsh were senior club members who received the classic beef club "roast" as they completed their final year of 4-H eligibility.

Sarah Grim and Beth Baer were recognized during the program as Farm Show scholarship winners. Leader Tim Livingston accepted an award honoring his 10 years as a club leader.

Two specialty cakes, baked and donated by beef club parent Belinda Myers, were auctioned off to benefit the club's treasury. Myers is well known throughout the York community for her baking talents and perennial winnings at area baking contests. Kevin Grim and Mark Foose bid last, at $500, for a pineapple upside-down cake, then donated it back for second round of bidding. Baer Angus and Jason Baer Trucking were the winning bidders at $120. William Dietz Sr., made the final bid of $100 on a chocolate peanut butter cake.



York 4-H beef club officers for the year include, from left front, Amanda Thompson, assistant news reporter; Mitchell Cuculis, historian; Luke Cuculis, news reporter; Cory Hunt, assistant treasurer; rear, Kim Long, assistant secretary; Richard Heineman, treasurer; Katie Myers, secretary; Herman Hake, vice-president; and Beth Baer, president.

Brenda Grubb was named the York 4-H beef club's Citation Award recipient for the year. Flanking Grubb are presenters Gordon Shive and Beth Baer.

Tim Livingston was recognized by extension agent Linda Spahr for having served ten years as a 4-H beef club leader.

Delmarva Poultry Trade Group, Inc. Recognizes Achievements

GEORGETOWN, Del. — Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc. (DPI), the trade association for the local chicken industry, recognized nearly two dozen persons and announced the results of its membership campaign and Fund Drive at its annual Booster Banquet and awards program recently in Salisbury, Md.

Presented with DPI's highest honor, the J. Frank Gordy Sr. Delmarva Distinguished Citizen Award, was James A. Perdue, CEO of Perdue Farms Inc.

Following his college and university education, Jim Perdue in 1983 returned to the family business as an entry level plant management trainee. Over the next eight years he worked in various capacities. He was named chairman of the board of directors in 1991. Under his management, the company has grown to become one of the largest, most innovative, and research-oriented food companies in the United States.

His company and Delmarva's poultry industry are nationally recognized for their environmental protection programs. Throughout the region, Mr. Perdue has made innumerable contributions to community and charitable organizations.DPI's Medal of Achievement awards were presented to Virginia State Delegate Robert S. Bloxom from Accomack County and Dr. Roselina Angel, a poultry researcher at the University of Maryland College Park.

Delegate Bloxom has served in the Virginia House of Delegates since 1978. DPI cited him as a successful businessman who has brought to the General Assembly a common sense, agriculturally friendly, and business-oriented approach.

Delegate Bloxom, in his last year as a state legislator, understands the poultry industry and its importance to the Commonwealth. He has worked with DPI and its Virginia members on countless issues over the last quarter of a century.

Dr. Angel, a faculty member in the Department of Animal and Avian Sciences at the University of Maryland College Park, serves on several DPI committees, has conducted important nutrient management research funded by DPI and the local poultry companies, and has worked to improve university communications with poultry growers.

DPI also recognized Delmarva's outstanding poultry producers. Selected from Delmarva's 2,500 poultry growers, this year's recipients are: William & Diane Brooks, Milton, DE — Perdue Farms Inc.; Frank & Mariann Bunting, Frankford, DE — Mountaire Farms of Delaware; Harlan & Anita Davis, Preston, MD — Allen's Hatchery, Inc.; Razorback Farm, Salisbury, MD — Perdue Farms Inc.; Mark Gordy, Delmar, DE — Allen's Hatchery, Inc.; Jerrel & Alma Heatwole, Greenwood, DE Tyson Foods, Inc.; Freddy & Charlotte Holland, New Church, VA — Tyson Foods, Inc.; Herman & Florence Kauffman, Greenwood, DE — Allen's Hatchery, Inc.; Joe & Doris Kulley, Sharptown, MD — Perdue Farms Inc.; Jason & Kim Lambertson, Pocomoke City, MD — Tyson Foods, Inc.; Ronald & Tammy Massey, Seaford, DE — Allen's Hatchery, Inc.; Nellie Overholt, Westover, MD — Mountaire Farms of Delmarva; Jerome & Ruth Pouska, Millington, MD — Perdue Farms Inc.; Jose & Cheryl Rodriguez, Cambridge, MD — Tyson Foods, Inc.; Larry G. Shockley, Snow Hill, MD — Tyson Foods, Inc.; Snowwis Farm, Greensboro, MD — Mountaire Farms of Delaware; Thornes Poultry, Inc., Stockton, MD — Perdue Farms Inc.; Frank & Dolly Timmons, Delmar, MD — Perdue Farms Inc.; and The John Townsend Family, Salisbury, MD — Mountaire Farms of Delmarva.

The 2003 Fund Drive was successful with a total of $457,244 in cash and pledges. Fund Drive Chairman, Joseph E. Chisholm Sr. said, "In spite of a very difficult year, the agricultural community stepped up and supported DPI with its efforts and dollars. I personally thank everyone for their continued support of our industry."

Auction To Benefit Erie County 4-H

ERIE (Erie Co.) — The 24th annual Public Auction to benefit the Erie County 4-H/Youth Development Program is scheduled Saturday, May 3, at 9 a.m.

The auction will be conducted indoors in the 4-H/FFA Youth Arena at the Waterford Fairgrounds, located just south of Waterford on Rt. 19. Doors will open at 8 a.m. for inspection of merchandise. The facilities are handicapped accessible, and seating and refreshments will be available.

The auction will feature more than 1,000 new household and garden items, plants and shrubs, automotive goods and services, and numerous other items donated by area businesses and individuals. In addition, the event will feature a silent auction of hundreds of certificates for goods and services donated by businesses throughout Erie and Crawford counties.

According to Donna Fortin, Waterford, volunteer chair of this year's event, all proceeds from the auction will directly benefit the county's more than 2,150 4-H members. Funds raised will be used to provide these young people with scholarships enabling them to attend a number of leadership and citizenship development programs, to help cover the costs of conducting the annual 4-H Fair, and to provide a variety of other 4-H programs and opportunities to the county's young people.

Among the items to be sold are a Jack Paluh numbered, signed, and framed print (101/650; "Gifts of the Meadow"), set to be sold at noon; a $500 tuition waiver to Mercyhurst College, set to be sold at 2 p.m.; a one-year family membership to the Greater Erie YMCA to be sold at 3 p.m.; a Joe Paterno autographed Penn State football; certificates for tickets to the Erie Playhouse, Jr.'s Last Laugh Comedy Club; the Erie Sea Wolves, and more; and landscape nursery stock, shrubs, and flowering plants, to be sold at the end of the auction, but not before 4 p.m.

All items will be sold by Auctioneer Paul Holtz and his associates who have volunteered their professional services to 4-H again this year. Among the auctioneers will be Bill Anderson, Dave Turner, Al McLaughlin, and Tony Nero. Terms of the auction are strictly cash or known check and carry. No credit cards will be accepted. Anyone needing additional information should contact the extension office at (814) 825-0900.

'Visualize Your Forest' Workshop Set

EBENSBURG (Cambria Co.) — Penn State Cooperative Extension and the Penn State School of Forest Resources is sponsoring a workshop for forest owners, foresters, loggers, and anyone else who has an interest in the management of Pennsylvania's forest resources.

Dr. Jim Finley and his research assistant, Paul Roth, will present "Visualizing Your Forest" May 1 from 7-9 p.m. at the Penn State extension office in Ebensburg, located at 499 Manor Drive.

Finley and Roth will discuss forest management issues in Pennsylvania and will present new technology that will enable resource managers and forest owners to view the effects of timber harvesting on their own property without ever cutting a tree.

The new technology is a computer imaging system that can take real-life forest data and implement different harvesting situations. With this computer program, you will be able to understand how forests grow, how they respond to harvesting, and how they can regenerate themselves.

This is a must see program for anyone making decisions that effect our forest resources.

If you plan to attend the workshop, please call Mike Wolf, Forest Resources extension agent, at (814) 472-7986.

The cost of the program is $3 per person.

Grant To Help Preserve Manor Twp. Farm

Renny McGill, director of development, Lancaster Farmland Trust, left, and R. Ted Bowers, Agriculture Lender, First Union Bank, and chairman of the board of the Lancaster Farmland Trust, center, receive a check from Doug Levering, director of programs and initiatives of the Lancaster County Foundation in acknowledgment of a $25,000 grant to help preserve a Manor Township Farm.

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancaster County Foundation awarded $474,000 in grants to local nonprofit agencies recently, including $25,000 to help to enable the Lancaster Farmland Trust to preserve a 90-acre farm in Manor Township.

The $25,000 grant to the Lancaster Farmland Trust will be used to help acquire a conservation easement for a 90-acre farm in northern Manor Township. An easement is a legal document that enables the Farmland Trust to acquire farmland to prevent future sale or development of the property, but also allows the farmer to continue to manage the acquired property and enjoy the rights that accompany ownership.

The farm borders West Hempfield Township, a rapid growth area that the Farmland Trust feared could eventually overtake the small farm.

The Lancaster Farmland Trust is a private, nonprofit organization working to preserve the rich and productive farmland of Lancaster County, to support good stewardship of the land, and to encourage a thriving agricultural economy.

The four-year-old Farmland Trust has helped Lancaster County farmers preserve 160 farms, more than 10,000 acres of the most productive farmland in the world. The organization relies on contributions from individuals, businesses, and foundations to carry out its programs.

The Lancaster County Foundation, a community foundation established in 1924 by prominent local residents, is committed to supporting programs and projects that promote, sustain, and advance the quality of life in Lancaster County. A 12-member governing committee makes grant awards twice a year. Grant making is focused in five primary areas: Arts & Culture, Community Development, Education, Environment, Health, and Human Services.

Grange To Host Luncheon

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — The Pennsylvania State Grange is hosting its annual Grange Day Legislative Luncheon, Monday, April 28, at 11:30 a.m. here at the Radisson Penn Harris Hotel and Convention Center.

The luncheon is an annual opportunity for members of the 355 local Granges across Pennsylvania to meet with their respective legislators and discuss issues of concern. This year's luncheon will be attended by about 150 Pennsylvania Grange members and 40 legislators as well as representatives from the National Grange office in Washington, D.C.

Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Designee Dennis Wolff will be the keynote speaker and will present a proclamation from Gov. Ed Rendell naming April as "Grange Month." Sen. Michael Waugh (R-28) and Rep. Sheila Miller (R-129) will read proclamations from their respective chambers.

The luncheon will be followed by short seminars presented by John Hines, acting deputy secretary of water management; Allison Topper, PANA; Dan Gard, Monsanto; and Carl Meiss, Pennsylvania State Grange membership director.

Hard Winter Good For Alfalfa Crop

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) —All signs indicate a bumper crop of alfalfa across the commonwealth, according to a crop scientist in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

Marvin Hall, professor of forage management in the department of crop and soil sciences, says early reports from around the state this spring all point to a great start for alfalfa and other forage crops. And it started, he says, with the winter's substantial snow dumps.

"Forage plants are different than people," Hall said. "They like winter weather that stays cold, and heavy snow cover protects them from severe cold."

"Mild winter weather that freezes, thaws, then refreezes is the most damaging for forage plants — and alfalfa in particular. Our motto is, 'let it snow, let it snow!' On a scale of one to 10, I'd say this winter was in the 8-to-9 range; I don't expect to see much damage due to winterkill."

He explains that the less-severe winters the state has enjoyed the past few seasons promote a freeze-and-thaw cycle that can expose and tear alfalfa roots. Winterkill is a special problem for alfalfa, which is a perennial. Alfalfa stands can overwinter and bounce back to produce forage for as long as 15 years, with a typical life of three to four years.

Alfalfa also is one of the most nutritious forages, with a high energy density. Hall explains that those demands make predicting annual yields important for livestock and dairyproducers — often the difference between profitability and debt.

"If alfalfa yields are bad, it really can affect a farmer's profitability, because when they make their own hay it's a pretty cheap feed source," he said.If they're expecting three tons to the acre and they only get two, they can suddenly be 50 tons short of forage, and that has to come from somewhere. But the amount that they're getting in milk revenues isn't changing, so it's more of a cost squeeze on the farmer.

"With a cost squeeze, farmers aren't spending as much money in their local hardware stores and jewelry stores and it affects the whole agricultural community. The consumer wouldn't see it in the prices. But if they owned a business in the community, they'd know it immediately when farmers are having a hard time."

Lamb, Mutton Production Down 18 Percent, March Record Low

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Commercial red meat production for the U.S. totaled 3.70 billion pounds in March, up 1 percent from the 3.68 billion pounds produced in March 2002, according to the National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS).

March 2002 contained 21 weekdays and five Saturdays. March 2003 contained 21 weekdays and five Saturdays.

Beef production, at 2.05 billion pounds, was 1 percent below the previous year. Cattle slaughter totaled 2.77 million head, up 1 percent from March 2002. The average live weight was 1,234 pounds, down 7 pounds from March a year ago.

Veal production totaled 16.5 million pounds, 10 percent above March a year ago. Calf slaughter totaled 85,100 head, up 10 percent from March 2002. The average live weight was 323 pounds, down 1 pounds from March a year ago.

Pork production totaled 1.62 billion pounds, up 2 percent from the previous year. Hog kill totaled 8.15 million head, 2 percent above March 2002. The average live weight was 268 pounds, up 1 pounds from March a year ago.

Lamb and mutton production, at 18.2 million pounds, was down 18 percent from March 2002. Sheep slaughter totaled 264,000 head, 19 percent below last year. The average live weight was 138 pounds, unchanged from March a year ago.

January-March red meat production was 11.27 billion pounds, virtually unchanged from 2002. Accumulated beef production was down 1 percent from last year, veal was up 8 percent, pork was up 2 percent, and lamb and mutton production was down 15 percent.

Cattlemen Unite In D.C.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Hundreds of farmers and ranchers from across the country walked the halls of the Capitol today, meeting with key congressional offices on top priority issues. Most critical is the urgent need for permanent repeal of the Death Tax.

The livestock producers are active members of the National Cattlemen's Beef Association (NCBA).

"We represent generations of rural families across the United States who are struggling to maintain their family ranches built by our forefathers," said Idaho cattle producer and NCBA President Eric Davis.

"The excessive burden of the death tax hits us with a devastating blow of up to 55 percent in taxes on the entire operation when a family member dies. It is an unfair tax on American values and the American dream."

In an asset-rich and cash-poor business, the appraised value of rural land is extremely inflated from the agricultural value over the years. Many cattle producers are forced to sell off land, parts of the operation, or the entire ranch to pay off tax liabilities. This takes more open spaces out of agriculture production and puts it into the hands of urban developers.

"We must fight for permanent repeal of this antiquated tax. It's not a tax on the wealthy elite — it's a death warrant for small-to-medium sized family businesses," said Jay Truitt, NCBA's executive director of legislative affairs.

"The rich can afford accountants and estate planners to help them evade the tax. They're cash-rich and amass fortunes, place the money within foundations, and are able to easily survive this tax burden."

Maryland & Virginia Cooperative Expands Scholarship Eligibility

FREDERICK, Md. — Each year, Maryland & Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative awards five $1,000 scholarships to members' children preparing for a career in the dairy sector.

In the upcoming 2003-2004 school year, the cooperative has expanded the eligibility requirements to include employees receiving a W-2, actively working on a member farm, and pursuing careers in the dairy industry.

'We want to recognize the changing dynamics of our industry. Today many farms rely on extended family members, whether it be grandchildren, cousins, or local students to help run the operation. We need to be supportive of all young people working on member farms that are taking the initiative and investing in the future success of our industry," said President Jack Hardesty.

Interested scholars must attend a two- or four-year accredited college, university, or trade school. To apply, students must submit a completed application, provide a school transcript, and a recommendation from a dairy industry contact by May 15.

Applicants are selected based on participation in dairy, school and community activities, financial need, academics, response to essay questions, and dedication to a career in the dairy industry.

Applications are available on the member's-only Website, www.mdvamilk.com, under Education; from Kelly Forrest at (800) 552-1976; or via e-mail kforrest@mdvamilk.com. Maryland & Virginia will announce the 2003-2004 scholarship recipients by June 30. Thanks to the generosity of supplemental donations, additional scholarships may be awarded.

Dairy Market Outlook

The cooperative has gone a long way in the last seven years. After the fall of the Soviet Union, all the collective farms were broken up. The cheese plants no longer had a supply of milk. They approached Ion to help set up collection stations in and around the village. I arrived just as one truckload of milk was arriving from a collection station. They were unloading it into a cooling tank. It takes about 4 hours to chill the milk for delivery. There was already a second truck loaded up with milk that was to be delivered to a nearby cheese plant.

Milk is a key industry in much of rural Moldova. It supplies the villagers with a steady source of hard currency. They can also use the milk to purchase supplies and other necessary items. For example, one of the services of the cooperative is to offer credit to their members to purchase necessary supplies. I saw loaves of bread neatly stacked in one of the rooms in the cooperative. The villagers can then barter bread for milk. This is one way the cooperative is helping the villagers, since bread is an essential part of the Moldovan diet.

Speaking of diet, I don't think I'm going to lose much weight on this trip. I'm staying in a boarding house in the village. For lunch today they served a typical Moldovan soup made of cream, butter, potatoes and other spices. Then, we were served mashed potatoes and fried ground pork. It was delicious. I just hope and pray that the soup was hot enough to pasteurize the cream. I guess I'll find out by tonight. Don't worry about me — I have plenty of antibiotics!

"A REMINDER OF DAYS GONE BY"

We are, once again, making silo doors in our shop. For several years we had them contracted out, but this year we geared up to "do it again". This gives us a little better control over inventory and quality. Primarily, our doors are for our own Sollenberger Silos; however, we make several styles of doors. We make each of the doors out of Western Red Cedar, buying the grade closest to "A" which is clear of knots, and used in the furniture industry. Our doors are virtually free of knots, you the few you will see are small and tight. Door hardware for the Sollenberger doors is hot-dipped galvanized, and includes two ¾" steps.

Dave Sollenberger (above) is in charge of making the doors. With one helper, he can easily make 50 per day. By working part-time in the shop, along with his other responsibilities, he now has nearly 500 in inventory.

After the doors are put together, they are moved to another shop where the hardware is attached, and then ready to be loaded for another silo job. Some of the doors are sold to individuals who need replacements.

Don't Put All Your Eggs in One Basket!

Low Lignin Warm Season Annuals

Quick Growing Summer Productive Crops

Hybrid Pearl Millet

Mega-Mil - Prussic acid free. Safe for horses Better than sorghum sudans on light soils and tolerates lower pH soils. Excellent forage quality similar to our BMR sorghum sudans.

- Safe for Horses
- Excellent Forage Quality
- Tolerates Low pH Soils
- Prussic Acid Free

BMR Sorghum Sudans

Our BMR varieties contain 35-40% less lignin than conventional varieties, resulting in super digestibility and animal performance. Ready to cut in about 40 days Similar energy to corn silage, but twice the protein.

- Century BMR - Time tested product. Great for double crop programs. Heads in 80-85 days.
- Summer Queen BMR - Limited supply. For full season production without heads.
- Summer King BMR - New lower cost product. Heads in about 60-65 days.

Forage Sorghum

Millennim BMR - Corn silage alternative Requires 1/3 the water of corn Virtually equal to average corn silage in energy, but has higher sugar and protein. Can be planted with corn.

- Corn Silage Alternative
- Requires Less Water
- High Quality Forage
- High Sugar Content

Summer Annual Planting Management

Planting Depth: ½ to 1 inch deep

Time of Planting:
- Plant Sorghum sudans and Forage sorghum after soil temperatures reach 60 degrees (typically 2 to 3 weeks after corn planting begins). Can be planted as late as early July assuming moist soil.
- Plant Mega-Mil after soil temperatures reach 65 degrees. Mega-Mil seed is smaller and needs good seed-to-soil contact.

Fertility:
- Use soil testing. Manure is an excellent source of fertility.
- Nitrogen: For Sorghum sudans and Mega-Mil apply 75 units at time of planting, plus 50 units after each cut or every other grazing. For Forage sorghum use 75-85% of corn recommendation for your area.

For Grazing add Pasja Forage Brassica to Boost Quality Even Higher!

When Wilmer, pictured at far right, purchased his first Harvestore® structure, a 20x60 in 1969, he made sure it was expandable. This past March, Penn Jersey added 20 ft. to that structure, in time for this spring's rye crop. Wilmer always appreciated the versatility of his Harvestore System. Standing to Wilmer's right are sons Mark and Sam and Jason Herman, who works with the Shertzers.

Breakfast is more than a routine. It's an opportunity to slow down and spend time with the family.

CINNAMON RAISIN COFFEE CAKE

2 cups raisins
2 cups water
½ cup vegetable oil
1 cup cold water
2 cups granulated sugar
4 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt

Boil raisins in 2 cups water for 15 minutes; remove from heat. Add oil and cold water to the raisins. Mix sugar, flour, spices, baking soda, and salt in large bowl. Add the raisin mixture and stir just until mixed. Pour into a greased and floured 9×13-inch baking pan and bake for 1 hour in a preheated 350° oven. It's done when toothpick comes out clean.

Linda Ankrum

MICROWAVE CARAMEL COFFEE CAKE

¼ cup butter
½ cup brown sugar, packed
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
½ cup pecan halves
1 (10-ounce) roll refrigerated buttermilk biscuits

Place butter in 8-inch round dish. Microwave at High ½ to ¾ minute, until melted. Sprinkle sugar over butter and add corn syrup. Stir well with fork. Place drinking glass in center of dish. Sprinkle with pecans.

Arrange biscuits over mixture in dish in petal shape, squeezing to fit, if necessary. Microwave at Medium-high 7 to 9 minutes, rotating dish ¼ turn every 2 minutes. Let cool 5 minutes. Remove glass and invert onto serving plate. Let dish stand over rolls a few minutes so remaining syrup in dish may drizzle over rolls. Serve warm. Makes 1 (8-inch) ring.

Patricia S. Stiles

Cook the pancakes until just golden brown on both sides — if overcooked they won't roll up as easily. Let the pancakes cool for just a minute or two before letting the kids help you roll them up. Once rolled, keep warm on a plate in a 250°F oven until all are cooked, so everyone can enjoy the pancakes all at the same time. Enjoy them plain or topped with a sifting of confectioners' sugar.

Sweet orange marmalade bakes right into these golden muffins and also goes into the very easy icing. This recipe is a great chance to teach kids the perfect muffin method — only 20 to 25 stirs of the batter to make the muffins just right. Remember the glorious icing to top angel food or pound cake, cupcakes, pancakes, toast, English muffins, even graham crackers.

OVERNIGHT COFFEE CAKE

2 cups flour
1 cup sugar
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 cup buttermilk
⅔ cup butter or margarine, melted
2 large eggs

Topping:
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ cup chopped pecans
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon

Combine first 7 ingredients in large mixing bowl. Add buttermilk, butter, and eggs. Beat at low speed with electric mixer until moistened. Beat at medium speed three minutes. Spoon batter into a greased and floured 13×9×2-inch pan. Combine ½ cup brown sugar, pecans, and 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Sprinkle over batter. Cover and refrigerate 8 to 12 hours. Uncover and bake at 350° for 40 to 60 minutes or until wooden toothpick comes out clean. Serve warm. Yields 12 to 15 servings. Cake may be baked immediately after mixing up for approximately 20 minutes longer.

Note: I have trouble getting this cake done in the middle, so check it with a toothpick carefully.

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — June Dairy Month is "mooving" the calendar of events. That means it's time to send in your favorite recipe using dairy products for Lancaster Farming's annual dairy recipe drawing.

June Dairy Month salutes dairy farmers everywhere for their hard work in providing milk, which we so often take for granted.

Lancaster Farming's annual drawing reminds us of the wonderful dairy products available to produce culinary delights.

To enter the drawing, select your favorite recipe, which must include a substantial amount of at least one dairy product. These ingredients count as a dairy product: milk, cream, sour cream, whipped cream, butter, yogurt, buttermilk, dry milk, ice cream, and all hard and soft cheeses.

Please check your ingredients carefully. Margarine and nondairy substitutes such as frozen whipped topping do not qualify as dairy products.

Dairy recipes are needed for appetizers, soups, breads, entrees, vegetables, desserts, beverages, snacks, and salads.

Clearly print or type your recipe entry. Be sure to give accurate measurements, temperatures, cooking and baking times, sizes of baking dishes to use, and other beneficial information. We reserve the right to disqualify entries if these guidelines are not followed.

With your entry, include a few paragraphs about yourself and your family. Although it is not required, a photograph of you and your family is preferred. We and our readers love to "see" the people who send in the recipe.

Photographs will be returned if you write your name and address on the back of the photo.

Only one entry per family allowed. This contest is for adults who are 18 years old and older. We require this age because children who send in recipes often inadvertently miss measurements, ingredients, or parts of the instructions.

Send your recipe, photo, and accompanying information with your complete address; otherwise, we cannot mail your prize if you win. We are astonished when we see how many people do not include their full address and therefore forfeit receiving a prize.

Send entries immediately. Entries must be postmarked by June 2 to be eligible for the drawing.

The state dairy princess and alternates will select the winners through a random drawing.

Recipe entries will be printed throughout the month of June. A list of the winning names will appear in the June 28 issue of Lancaster Farming.

Baking Basics Ease Kitchen Stress

Baking at home is a joy — it's really more fun than work, and the results taste so much better than store-bought. Here are some tips to help you make the most of this weekend meal:

- Always use the best and freshest ingredients. If your baking powder has been on the shelf for more than a year, discard it and buy new. And check the bottom of the baking powder can for the one with the longest shelf life. If the recipe calls for jam, jelly, or preserves, go ahead and personalize the recipe by substituting your favorite flavor.
- Get organized. Read the recipe through and set out and measure all ingredients in advance.
- Measure carefully, using measuring spoons, dry measuring cups for flour and sugar, and liquid measures for milk and oil.
- To measure flour, first stir with a large spoon to aerate, then lightly dip it out with the spoon into the dry measuring cup. Level with a knife or spatula. Don't pack or shake flour into the cup.
- Check the accuracy of your oven with an oven thermometer. It's essential to baking success. If your oven is high or low, adjust the setting. For example, your oven is 375° when set at 350°, so you'll need to set it 25° lower than the recipe directs.
- Be sure to visit www.homebaking.org and www.clabbergirl.com for more on baking at home.

On Being a Farm Wife

Joyce Bupp

Mother knows best.

How many times, as kids, was that life-law laid on us? It may have come in different wordings, but it was a repetitive theme most of us heard through our childhoods.

"No snacks before dinner." "Put on your coat (hat, sweater, etc.)." "Just because everyone else is doing it, doesn't mean you have to." "If your friends jumped off a cliff, would you have to, too?"

And that great, undebatable finale to child-parent arguments: "Because I said so!"

We have a couple of mothers hanging around the farm whose behavior leads us to question if feathered and furred mothers always know best.

If all the Canada goose nesting sites underway in the meadow yield up goslings, even two or three each, we are looking at a bumper-crop expansion of the meadow flock. At least three different nests are scattered around the ponds, each presided over by a stalwart gray hen sitting like glue on shallow depressions on the grassy banks. Keeping watch nearby over each of the separate nests is a large, territorial-minded gander.

Get too close to the nests, especially with a dog bopping along by your side, and the warning honking goes into high gear. Sounds normal, you say?

Well, there's a fourth nest, see, nowhere near a pond. In fact, the closest water is a large cattle watering trough behind the dairy barn. The hen presiding over this nest has parked herself atop an upended large, round, hay bale out in one of the cattle lots. The hay in this big bale was made from drought-stressed, less-than-ideal grass, resulting in mediocre feed that the cows just are not interested in eating, having more tasty rations available. So the goose nest remains high and dry on its well-insulated foundation.

How this mother goose intends to get her newly-hatched goslings down from that high-rise hay nest is a subject of increasing curiosity around here.

Meanwhile, another mother tends to her new family, also tucked in a nest of hay. This tame, gray-tiger barn cat mother delivered her kittens at one end of the feed trough in a pen of weaned calves. She simply curled up in a large, soft pile of loose hay, which, of course, we would not dare now move.

None of the four calves in that pen seems to pay a bit of attention to the tiny trough-dwelling kittens. No other small animals are likely to bother the little family in their raised concrete bunker, with sixteen sharp-hoofed calf feet stomping around the pen.

Once the kittens begin crawling around, though, we may have to intervene. The trough edges are not that high and the little guys could tumble over the edge and get trampled. If this mother really knows best, she will figure that out. But, just in case, I have a spacious cardboard box on hold.

The two hen turkeys, which have enjoyed free run of the place all winter, never persuaded the newcomer gobbler to make their traveling pair a trio. He preferred to hang around with the bantams, which we finally concluded was due to his lack of ever having learned to fly up high to roost.

Last week, the old hen actually put herself back into the wire-enclosed pen where she hatched last year. She simply strolled in through the open door and began building a nest on the ground. So, The Farmer penned up the pair of hens, added a nesting enclosure with some grassy hay. Then, after dark, he snagged the gobbler and added him to the mix.

After being stuck up in a tree for a day and a half, having no clue how to get down without help, the gobbler finally figured out how to fly up — and down — to roost.

Even animal mothers might know best. But we're not too sure about this potential father.

He's turning out to be a real turkey.

Beekeeping Course Offered

From Farmfront To Warfront, Former Susquehanna County 4-H'er Serves In Operation Iraqi Freedom

CHARLENE M. SHUPP
Special Correspondent

TUNKHANNOCK (Wyoming Co.) — When Bill Hardic joined the Navy in 2000, this former Susquehanna County 4-H member from East Rush never dreamed that he would be serving his country during wartime. As he continues to fulfill his duties during Operation Iraqi Freedom, Hardic, 25, draws from his 4-H and farm experiences as a strong foundation to fulfill his duties on the aircraft carrier, USS Theodore Roosevelt.

"The 4-H's, Head, Heart, Hands, and Health," said Hardic, "4-H encourages you to live by these four things. The Navy has three things that they start drilling into you right from the first night of boot camp. Honor, Courage, and Commitment. These three things and the four H's are very similar. Honor. To keep your word and do the right thing always. Courage. Always take credit for your actions, no matter the consequences. Commitment. To the country you serve and those who serve with you. 4-H instilled these things in me, but the Navy perfected them."

Hardic, a 2nd Class Petty Officer, was a member of the Susquehanna County 4-H Community Club and the Delmonico Beef Club. This is where he had his first leadership opportunity as a 4-H club president. As he has risen in rank in the Lighting Shop on the Roosevelt, those early leadership opportunities have remained helpful as he continues to develop his leadership skills and gain more responsibility.

Growing up on his family's small beef farm and raising 4-H beef steers have proven instrumental in his drive to get the job done "right the first time."

"I am not afraid to do good honest hard work, because I am used to it," Hardic noted. "On a farm you learn to do the job right the first time. Re-work costs a lot to anyone, but even more to a farmer who can't afford much to begin with. Re-work in the Navy could mean someone might die if you do not do it right the first time."

Through his hard work and leadership, Hardic has received two Letters of Commendation from the Commander of the USS Enterprise battle group for his service on the aircraft carrier, USS Enterprise, during Operation Enduring Freedom after the September 11 attacks. According to Hardic, the greatest reward he has received is "serving his country."

However, with rewards come challenges. Hardic's greatest challenge is to keep his mind on his mission and why he is there, while wife Shelly remains at their home in Norfolk, Va., awaiting their first child. He wishes he could be with her, but knows that he has a job to do.

When thinking of home, the list of things he misses is quite long: missing his wife, his parents Donald and Marie Hardic of East Rush, family, fresh country air, and clear night sky — the list is endless.

As Operation Iraqi Freedom forges ahead, Hardic and the other sailors on the Roosevelt realize they have a job to do. Hardic might not be flying missions from the flight deck, but the jobs he is assigned are important to help keep the Roosevelt operational. As his mission continued Hardic's nerves settled, and it's business as usual aboard ship. In his spare time, Hardic takes advantage of e-mail to stay in touch with his friends and family, song writing, and he jokingly remarks that he has cultivated a new hobby while at sea of "standing in line," waiting for meals or to use a facility on the ship.

Although it has been several years since Bill Hardic has been a 4-H member, he values his 4-H experience as something priceless, providing him with a strong foundation that has seen him through many challenges and successes and will guide him as he decides what to do after his release from the Navy.

"4-H ... To Make the Best Better, and for me it has," Hardic said in summing up his entire 4-H experience. "My time in the Navy is built on this foundation, and no matter where life may take me, to a farm or to work for an electrical contractor, both will always have a large impact on my life."

Farm, 4-H, and Navy background provided a firm foundation for Bill Hardic's role in Iraqi Freedom.

Cedar Crest FFA Conducts 38th Annual Awards Banquet

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — The Cedar Crest FFA recently conducted its 38th Annual Parent Member Banquet at Cedar Crest High School, with more than 260 people in attendance.

Amber Frank, chapter president, was MC and opened the banquet at 7 p.m. The welcome was presented by Kevin Kreider, chapter sentinel. Gretchen Artz, chapter chaplain, gave the invocation. After the buffet style meal, Kyle Seyfert, chapter vice-president, introduced the many guests that attended.

The Keynote speaker was the State FFA Eastern Region Vice President, Courtney Miller, who spoke on taking advantage of the opportunities that the FFA has to offer. The freshmen class presented Honorary Chapter Degree plaques to Mr. and Mrs. Scott Artz and Mrs. Betty Knapp. Gretchen Artz and Amber Frank both received their Keystone Degree Award presented by Harvey Smith, former area Ag. Consultant.

Tamara Gettle, Emily Doll, Brad Bucher, and Heather Hawkins made a video that reviewed the years' FFA activities. Awards were presented by Mr. Harold Berkheiser, chapter advisor.

Bill Hardic's assigned job on the USS Theodore Roosevelt adds to the success of Opertional Iraqi Freedom.

Tough Row To Hoe For Iraqi Farmers

COLUMBUS, Ohio — What do Iraqi farmers grow, and how is the war affecting them?

If two armies were fighting each other, and you were stuck in the middle, would you want to be out in the open — say, plowing a field or driving a tractor?

Probably not. You might get hurt.

Which is exactly the situation many Iraqi farmers are in. With a war going on around them, they're afraid or unable to work in their fields. That makes it hard to grow anything.

So one of the war's effects on Iraqi farmers, as well as on the people they feed, may be fewer crops and less food. At least until help — donated food — arrives.

Normally, Iraqi farmers produce about 30 percent of the food their country needs. The rest is bought from other countries.

Key crops include winter wheat (normally harvested now), spring vegetables (normally planted now), rice, dates, barley and cotton.

Sheep and cattle are the primary livestock. But more than half of them died in 1999 from foot-and-mouth disease, which is highly contagious.

Also before the war, drought hit, screwworms (a pest of people and livestock) spread and half the country's date palms — 15 million trees — died.

It's a tough row to hoe to be a farmer in Iraq.

Consuming Thoughts

Penn State Extension Home Economist for Berks Co.

According to the calendar, spring arrived several weeks ago. Let's just hope Mother Nature has looked at the calendar, too, and isn't going to keep switching the seasons back and forth.

Even if the weather doesn't always cooperative, we can add a cheery note to our meals and snacks with fresh spring fruits and vegetables that are available now. One of the most flavorful spring fruits is the pineapple.

Although pineapples are available year round, fully half the crop moves to market from March through June. You've probably noticed pineapples have been in the marketplace for several weeks because Hawaii ships more pineapples in March and April than any other month. Puerto Rico ships more in May. These areas are the main source of pineapples and Mexico is a secondary source.

Pineapples can be used first as a decoration in the home. Set it out for a day or two to give your home a warm Polynesian touch. Be sure to keep the fruit away from heat and sunlight.

A pineapple cannot sweeten or ripen after harvest because it has no starch reserve. It is the starch reserve that improves the texture and taste of bananas and pears after harvest. A pineapple will never be any sweeter than when it was picked but it may be less acid, since some acid can be lost through respiration. Eventually, the shell color will change and the fruit will soften, but these are characteristics of deterioration, not ripening.

Like peaches and tomatoes, pineapples must be harvested before they are fully ripe. This harvesting stage is sometimes called mature-green. The closer a pineapple come to ripeness, the less market life it has when picked. On the other hand, the greener it is when picked, the less palatable it will be when the consumer buys it. A lot of compromising must be made.

So how do you choose a pineapple? The best advice is to let your eyes be your guide. Select one that is plump and fresh looking. Fresh, deep-green crown leaves are a good sign. A fruit that is old looking, dry and brown leaves should be avoided. Fragrance is a good sign, too, but usually the fruit is kept too cold to be fragrant. The eyes should be flat to almost hollow. Ease with which leaves can be pulled out is not a sign of good quality. The thump test is of no value and the shell color is not an indication of maturity. The grower can rely on a test of the sugar content using a special instrument.

Many supermarkets have cutters available which remove the skin and the core, while other produce departments have the fruit cleaned and cut in cubes and ready for immediate consumption.

Preparing a fresh pineapple at home takes only minutes. An easy way is to place it on a cutting board and slice it crosswise into about one-inch slices. Then peel the slices; thick enough to remove the eyes, or thinner and remove the eyes with the tip of a vegetable peeler. Then cut into desired shapes.

For serving in the shell, wash the pineapple. With a large knife, start at the center of the crown and saw gently down through the spikes, cutting the fruit in half lengthwise. Cut each half into two pieces. With a paring knife, cut about one-quarter inch from the skin, loosening the wedge completely. Cut the fruit into chunks and remove. Leave the shell. The shell may then be used as an attractive container in which to serve the pineapple or as one of the many salads containing pineapple.

Schuylkill Master Gardener Program Accepts Applicants

SCHUYLKILL (Schuylkill Co.) — Schuylkill County Cooperative Extension is accepting applications from men and women interested in the Penn State Master Gardener Program, a volunteer training course designed to provide experienced home gardeners with the information and skills necessary to share that experience and knowledge with others.

In exchange for instruction in a variety of gardening topics, Master Gardeners must give 50 hours of volunteer service to Cooperative Extensions's consumer horticulture programs in the county. Weekly classes for the Schuylkill Master Gardener program will be conducted Wednesday mornings from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. beginning August 27, and to the end of January 2004.

Individuals interested in applying for the program should attend an information session on Monday, June 2, from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. in the lower level conference room of the Schuylkill County Ag Center, 1202 Ag Center Dr., Pottsville. The Ag Center is located about one mile south of Pottsville on Route 901/Gordon Nagle Train.

Reservation to attend the information session will be taken on a first-come basis, as seating is limited. Contact Schuylkill County Extension at (570) 622-4225.

Kids In The Kitchen

Baking together can be a wonderful family activity. It's important that kids of all ages know the basic kitchen rules. Ages three to eight will need constant supervision, eight and up may be able to work somewhat independently — within the rules that you all agree on. Make sure the work area is clean, safe, and at a reachable height. Use a solid stool or chair for little ones to stand on to reach the counter, or bring a low table into the kitchen for them to work at. Do a quick briefing on the recipe, the equipment and who'll do what and with what equipment.

When You Cook

Here is a quick checklist to review with kids before they begin:

- Be sure that an adult knows that you are baking and is nearby to help.
- Wash hands and put on an apron.
- Read the recipe, assemble all the ingredients and measure carefully (see Baking Basics).
- Work with an adult to cut or chop ingredients, using the knife they select and working on a clean cutting board.
- Let an adult help you set the oven, put foods in and take them out. Always use dry hot pads or mitts.
- Clean up. This includes washing the dishes, cleaning countertops, sweeping up any spills, and washing your hands (again).

The "Stream Map of Pennsylvania" was completed in 1965 after a 30 year effort by Howard Higbee, a former Penn State Professor.

Professor Higbee succeeded in creating a map of the highest detail possible a map that shows every stream and lake He painstakingly plotted by hand, the location of 45,000 miles of streams onto a 3 by 5 foot map

The map sold extremely well - until it was lost several years later Incredibly, the printer entrusted with the original drawing and printing plates declared bankruptcy, then carelessly hauled Higbee's 30 years of work to the landfill

The few remaining dog-eared copies became a prized fisherman's possession. Professor Higbee was offered $400 for one of his last maps And state agencies were forced to keep their copies under lock and key

The experts had always told Professor Higbee that reprints were impossible, because the maps were printed in non-photographic blue

Then, in 1991, at the age of 91, Howard Higbee's dream came true Computers made it possible to reprint the map Holding an updated map, Howard said, "I never thought I'd live to see this day "

Then, by combining Professor Higbee's knowledge with computer technology -- the STREAM MAP OF OHIO was created

APRICOT STREUSEL SWIRL COFFEE CAKE

2 cups all-purpose flour
⅓ cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
¼ cup milk
2 eggs
¼ cup oil
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
3 tablespoons lemon juice
⅓ cup apricot preserves (peach or cherry may be substituted)

Streusel Topping:
⅓ cup all-purpose flour
⅓ cup packed brown sugar
¼ cup butter
½ cup chopped pecans, walnuts, or sliced almonds

Preheat oven to 375°F. Prepare Streusel Topping (see below). In medium mixing bowl, stir together flour, sugar, baking powder, salt, and soda. In small mixing bowl, beat together milk, eggs, oil, lemon peel, and juice. Pour liquid mixture into dry ingredients and stir just until moistened — batter will be lumpy. Turn into sprayed or oiled 8x8x2-inch pan. Drop preserves by teaspoons in a checkerboard pattern over top of batter. Sprinkle with Streusel topping. Swirl preserves and Streusel topping into batter with spoon or spatula. Bake until center top springs back when lightly touched and wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean, about 25 to 30 minutes. Let cool on rack for at least 10 minutes before serving (preserves will be hot!).

Streusel Topping:

In small bowl, stir together flour and brown sugar. Cut in butter with pastry blender or two knives until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in nuts.

Very easy and very impressive. Use apricot preserves and choose the nut that pleases your family. For an extra-special finish, stir together 1 cup confectioners' sugar and 2 to 3 tablespoons lemon juice or milk to make an icing to drizzle over the baked coffee cake.

MARMALADE MUFFINS

2 cups all-purpose flour
3 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup milk
2 eggs
¼ cup oil
⅔ cup sweet orange marmalade

Icing:
¼ cup sweet orange marmalade
1½ ounces cream cheese, softened or 2 tablespoons butter, softened
1 cup confectioners' sugar
2 teaspoons milk or water

Preheat oven to 350°F. In medium bowl, combine flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt. In small mixing bowl or in blender, combine milk, eggs, oil, and the ⅔ cup marmalade. Pour milk mixture into flour mixture and stir just until moistened — batter will be slightly lumpy. Portion about ¼ cup batter into each cup of sprayed or oiled 12-muffin pan. Bake until browned and tops spring back when lightly touched, about 25 to 30 minutes. Turn out onto wire rack and cool while preparing icing. When cool, frost with icing.

Icing:

Stir together marmalade and cream cheese or butter and milk until blended. Beat in confectioners' sugar.

JELLY ROLL PANCAKES

1 cup all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
2 eggs
3 tablespoons oil
⅓ cup your favorite flavor jam, jelly, or preserves
Confectioners' sugar

In medium bowl, stir together flour, baking powder, and salt. In small bowl or in blender, beat milk, eggs, and oil. Stir egg mixture into flour mixture just until blended — a few lumps may remain. Heat greased or nonstick griddle or skillet over medium-high heat until a drop of water "dances" on the pan surface. Pour about ¼ cup batter for each pancake. Cook until bubbles on top burst. Turn and cook on second side. Lift out with spatula and let cool slightly. Spread each pancake with about 2 teaspoons jam. Roll up and place on serving plate, seam-side down. Keep warm in 250°F oven. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar, if desired.

DOUBLE DROP BISCUITS

2 cups all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
5 tablespoons shortening
¾ cup milk
½ cup red raspberry, blackberry, or strawberry jam.

Preheat oven to 450°F. In medium bowl, combine flour, baking powder, and salt. With pastry blender or two knives, cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Gradually add milk, stirring with a fork until dry ingredients are moistened. Mixture will be a little sticky. Drop by rounded teaspoons several inches apart on a greased baking sheet. Pick up about ½ teaspoon of jam on tip of a teaspoon and press gently into center of each biscuit. Bake until biscuits are golden brown, about 12 to 15 minutes.

Representatives of the Pennsylvania Beef Council serve up Veal Cutlets with Basil and Pine Nuts to The Book and The Cook Show visitors.

Philadelphia Consumers Sample Veal, Beef At Culinary Market

MIDDLETOWN (Dauphin Co.) — Visitors to The Book and The Cook Culinary Market and Showcase at the Fort Washington Expo Center, Philadelphia, March 21-23, sampled three different veal dishes and a fully cooked beef roast during a recent weekend culinary extravaganza.

The event featured celebrity chefs from across the country, cooking demonstrations, and an opportunity for organizations to sample product to those in attendance.

At the Pennsylvania Beef Council exhibit, veal received rave reviews. Charlie Gipe, Executive Chef at the Giant Center, delighted visitors' senses with three different dishes veal ragout, veal with basil and pine nuts and veal meatballs in Strawberry Patch marinade.

Chef Charlie's recipes are posted on the Beef Council website, www.pabeef.org.

In addition to veal, Beef Council staff sampled a Hormel Fully Cooked Entree. Event participants tasted the Beef Roast in Au Jus, with many people commenting they couldn't believe a heat-and-serve beef product was so tender and juicy. Fully cooked meay products are available in the fresh meat case at local retailers.

More than 9,000 veal and beef samples were served during the three-day event.

For more information on checkoff-funded programs, please call the PA Beef Council at (717) 939-7000 or visit the web site at www.pabeef.org.

Veal and Peppers Ragout

2 pounds boneless veal stew meat cut into 1½-inch cubes
3 tablespoons shortening
½teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup chopped onion
2 cups sliced red and bell peppers
¾ cup beef bouillon
2 cups of canned, diced tomatoes
2 cloves of garlic, crushed
½ cup fresh chopped parsley

Melt shortening in large skillet. Add veal and brown both sides. Season with salt and pepper. Remove veal.

Add more shortening and melt. Add celery, onion, green peppers and cool until tender. Return veal, add bouillon and tomatoes.

Bring to a boil, add garlic and reduce to a simmer until veal is fork tender.

Mix flour with enough water to a make a thin paste. Add to veal mixtures and cook until thickened.

Keep warm and finish with fresh parsley for service. Serves 4-6.

Sauteed Veal With Basil And Pine Nuts

8 veal cutlets, pounded
¼ cup flour
4 slices of bacon, diced
4 tablespoons of butter
¼ cup pine nuts
6 nice basil leaves, rolled and cut
2 tablespoons capers
Salt and pepper to taste

Mix flour and salt-pepper together. Dredge veal in flour and remove the extra flour.

In a sautee pan, brown bacon over medium high heat. Remove bacon and add butter.

Heat bacon fat and butter and brown pine nuts. Remove pine nuts after turning a light brown.

Put veal in the pan, saut until light brown on both sides. Remove and keep warm.

Deglaze pan with white wine. Add basil, capers and salt and pepper to taste.

Painting Benefits York Farmland

Painting of York Expo Center Animal Barns Benefits Farm and Natural Lands Trust. William Falkler has donated an original painting of the animal barns at the York Expo Center that will be raffled to benefit the Farm and Natural Lands Trust of York County. The painting will bring back memories for many York Countains who showed their cow, sheep, or pigs during the York Fair. Walking through the animal barns was also an annual ritual for many non-farm families during the fair. The animal barns were recently torn down to make room for the Expo Center's new Exhibition Hall. Raffle tickets will be available at the Trust's annual dinner to be conducted on May 1 at the Valencia Ballroom or by calling the Trust office. Raffle tickets are $5 each or 5 for $20. Prints of the painting will also be sold with a portion of the proceeds benefiting the Trust.

The Farm and Natural Lands Trust of York County has preserved almost 5,000 acres of farm and natural lands in York County. Funds raised from the raffle will be used to preserve more lands in York County. For more information regarding the painting, contact the Trust office at (717) 843-4411.

National Chicken Council Launches Website With Industry Information

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The National Chicken Council launched a website devoted to information about the broiler chicken production and processing industry as a service to members of the industry, analysts, journalists, students, and members of the public. The Web address is www.nationalchickencouncil.com

"The new site will offer a broad range of industry information and will serve as a complement to our consumer-oriented site, www.eatchicken.com," said Richard L. Lobb, NCC's director of communications.

Spring Cleaning For Safe Food

It's that time of year again—the robins are back, the weather is warming, and many of you are getting the urge to do spring-cleaning.

As an extension agent covering food and nutrition topics, I often get questions about how long to keep food in the pantry, refrigerator, and freezer. This is a major food safety issue, since many of us are at high-risk for food-borne illness: seniors, infants and young children, pregnant women, and many with chronic diseases, such as cancer, diabetes, and lung disease.

You must label and date your food to really know how long it has been around. For safe storage, refrigerator temperatures need to read below 40 degrees F; ideally 34-38 degrees F. Freezer temperatures ideally should read below 0 degrees F. Place thermometers away from freezers if you have a combination refrigerator/freezer and near the door.

The temperature range bacteria grow and multiply the best is 41-140 degrees F, also known as the "Temperature Danger Zone." They will still grow under refrigeration temperatures, although slower.

One tricky bacteria, Listeria monocytogenes, grows well under refrigeration. Some soft cheeses and deli meats have been identified as foods that may contain Listeria. USDA cautions pregnant women and others at high risk for food-borne illness to heat these foods to 165 degrees F or avoid. Their long expiration dates give Listeria, if present, time to grow and multiply.

Also, if you see mold on a food, throw the whole product out. The FDA makes an exception for hard cheeses—you can cut one inch around the visible mold and use the rest. However, the mold you see is the "tip of the iceberg", with more mold running throughout the product, often difficult to see. Molds can cause illness from toxins that some produce, or in some people, allergic reactions.

If you feel nausea, have vomiting, or diarrhea, more often than not it is from food-borne illness, and not the flu. They have the same symptoms, but there is a definite flu season. Food-borne illness can happen at any time, and often the symptoms don't show up until days or weeks after you have eaten the contaminated food (this makes it very hard to pin down).

The Centers for Disease Control estimates every year 5,000 Americans die from food-borne illness (food poisoning), 325,000 are hospitalized, and 76 million are made sick. Don't you be one of them.

Food doesn't have to smell bad, taste bad, or look bad to be contaminated with bacteria or viruses that make us sick.

The following are good guidelines to follow to help keep your food safe at home (Source: Cooking For Groups- A Volunteer's Guide to Food Safety, USDA, March 2001).

Refrigerator and Freezer Safe Storage Guides For Safe Food

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a self-addressed stamped envelope. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Check your recipe to make sure you copy the right amounts and complete instructions for making the recipe. Sometimes we receive numerous answers to the same request, but cannot print each one.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address. You may also e-mail questions and answers to LGOOD.EPH@LNPNEWS.COM

QUESTION — Honor your mother, wife, grandmother and mother-in-law in recognization of Mother's Day, May 11. Send in a favorite recipe that one of them makes or has made that you enjoy. Make sure to include their name and a few sentences about them, and your name. These recipes will be printed in the May 10th edition. We will even print a photo if you send in a good clear shot. Must be received at the office by May 5. Send to Mother's Day Recipes, P.O, Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522 or e-mail to LGOOD.EPH@LNPNEWS.COM.

QUESTION — Make sure you send in your recipe to be eligible for prizes in the June Dairy Month Drawing. Check for details on page B2.

QUESTION — Mary Bowles, Red Lion, requests a recipe for crockpot tapioca.

QUESTION — Mary of Smithsburg, Md., requests recipes to make a good ganola cereal.

QUESTION — Leda Stevens requests a recipe for a delicious peach pie. She writes that one had been published last year in this paper during the peach season. The pie was made with a pre-baked pie crust and fresh peaches, Karo syrup, cornstarch, and peach-flavored Jell-O, but she lost the recipe and doesn't know the measurements or how the filling was thickened. "It was to die for!" she writes. Did anyone else clip the recipe? If so, please send it in to be reprinted.

QUESTION — Robert Loss, Middleburg, wants a recipe for soupies. He wants the exact ingredients, press time, and cure time. He requests an actual recipe and not advice to contact a sausage association.

QUESTION — Brenda Weidenhammer, Schuylkill Haven, is looking for a recipe to make fig bars that taste similar to Fig Newtons.

QUESTION — A Mifflinburg reader would like a recipe for a yellow cake mix. The reader has seen one in a cookbook but does not recall where, and would like to use it like any other cake mix and wouldn't mind if it is a recipe in bulk amounts.

QUESTION — An Ephrata reader would like granola bar recipes that taste like Sunbelt chewy honey and oats granola bars.

QUESTION — Gloria Craley, Narvon, is looking for a recipe for "bag pudding," where dough and fruit are kneaded in a muslin bag, then the mixture is cooked in the bag in boiling water.

QUESTION — Alice Rohland, Lititz, recently purchased a home grain mill and now grinds her own whole wheat flour. She wonders if anyone had any pointers for using freshly ground whole wheat. She has read varying suggestions, such as adding wheat gluten or Vitamin C powder, dough enhancers, etc. Also, she would like to know where other Lancaster County breadbakers purchase their whet, rye, and oats to grind into flour. She wants to make rye and pumpernickel bread, but has not found rye.

QUESTION — A Fleetwood reader would like a recipe for Amish Friendship Bread using fruit juice. She has heard that it is delicious, but cannot find a recipe.

QUESTION — Pam Bange, Hanover, wants a recipe for cherry vanilla pie (like those sold at Neil's Surefine Market in Hanover and East Berlin. The cherry pie has almond slivers on top and vanilla flavoring.

QUESTION — Jean Mitchell, Lewisburg, is looking for a recipe to make blueberry whoopie pies.

QUESTION — Nancy Wallace, New Holland, is looking for a place in Lancaster County where she can purchase fresh coconut that is already grated. She needs it to make Easter eggs and fresh coconut cake for Easter. Years ago, she writes, it could be purchased at farmers markets.

QUESTION — R. Diehl, Bloomsburg, wants a recipe for hamburg pin wheel with gravy.

QUESTION — Shirley Schwoerer, Wysox, wants to know if sesame seeds can be sprouted. She is familiar with alfalfa seed sprouting.

QUESTION — Ralph Kieffer, Halifax, wants a recipe for Aunt Flossie's tomato soup, which he heard is printed in a Lancaster County cookbook.

ANSWER — Julie Hoover, Douglassville, misplaced the recipe for Amish friendship bread starter and wanted it reprinted. Here is a recipe from Shirley Murray, Elkton, Md.

Amish Friendship Bread Starter

½ teaspoon active dry yeast
1 ounce warm water
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup flour
1 cup milk, room temperature

Dissolve yeast in water. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Cover bowl with plastic wrap and set in a warm place for two days to ferment. It will become bubbly and have a sour smell. After two days proceed with recipe (which Julie already has).

ANSWER — Melissa Wolfe, SUN Area Dairy Princess, sent in the following recipes in response to a past request for potato recipes. She also added a recipe for fried cabbage.

Baked Potatoes With Cheesy Veggies

2 cups chopped broccoli
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup finely-chopped carrots
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1½ cups milk
1 cup shredded cheese
8 baked potatoes

Cook broccoli, onions, and carrots in a small amount of water until tender.

In a saucepan, melt butter and stir in flour. Add milk slowly while stirring. Continue stirring and cook until sauce thickens. Add cheese and stir until melted.

Add drained veggies. Serve over hot baked potatoes.

Fried Cabbage

½ head of cabbage
1 cup butter
3 cold diced baked potatoes
16 ounces of cooked egg noodles
salt and pepper

In a large frying pan melt butter and add cabbage and baked potatoes. Fry until the cabbage begins to become tender and brown. Add cooked noodles.

Season with salt and pepper to taste. Cook on low for about 15 minutes. This will allow for all the flavor to blend.

Keep pan covered and flip ingredients often to keep them from burning. Add additional butter if needed.

Some individuals chose to include sausage in this recipe.

ANSWER — Here are some more potato recipes sent in by Lee Laverty, Mount Joy:

Sweet Potato Slaw

⅓ cup mayonnaise
½ cup sour cream
2 tablespoons honey
1 teaspoon grated lemon zest
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 cups shredded, peeled, uncooked sweet potatoes
1 medium apple, peeled and chopped
8-ounce can pineapple tidbits, well drained
½ cup chopped pecans

In a bowl, combine the first seven ingredients. Blend until smooth. In a large bowl, combine sweet potatoes, apple, pineapple, and pecans. Add dressing and toss to coat. Cover and refrigerate for one hour. Makes 6-8 servings. Note: fat free mayonnaise and sour cream can be substituted.

Savory Sweet Potato Salad

3 pounds sweet potatoes, cooked, peeled, and cubed
1 cup chopped sweet red pepper
½ cup chopped onion
1¼ cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
⅛ to ¼ teaspoon hot pepper sauce

In a large bowl, combine potatoes, red pepper, and onion. In a small bowl, blend mayonnaise, salt, pepper, and hot sauce. pour over potato mixture and toss to coat. Cover and refrigerate for at least one hour. Makes 6-8 servings.

Chewy Oatmeal Raisin Cookies

3 eggs, beaten
1 cup raisins
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup butter
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 teaspoon baking soda
2½ cups flour
2 cups oatmeal

In a small bowl, combine eggs, raisins, and vanilla. Soak one hour in the refrigerator.

In a large bowl combine butter and sugars. Add salt, cinnamon, soda, and flour. Mix well. Add raisin mixture and oatmeal. Drop on cookie sheets and bake at 350 degrees for 12 minutes.

ANSWER — Li'l Dairy Miss Lindsay Fessler of Berks County sent in two recipes for Easter dinner. Sorry we received them too late to print with the Easter dinner edition, but these sound so yummy, you will certainly want to use them year-round.

White Chocolate Mousse

1 cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons sugar
3-ounces cream cheese, softened
3 1-ounce squares white baking chocolate, melted
2 cups blueberries, raspberries, or strawberries
Additional berries, optional

In a mixing bowl, beat cream until soft peaks form. Gradually add sugar, beating until stiff peaks form; set aside. In another mixing bowl, beat cream cheese until fluffy. Add chocolate and beat until smooth. Fold in whipped cream. Alternate layers of mousse and berries in parfait glasses, ending with mousse. Garnish with additional berries if desired. Serve immediately or refrigerate for up to three hours. Yield: 4-6.

Peanutty Ice Cream Pie

3 tablespoons butter, melted
2 tablespoons sugar

Filling:

¼ cup peanutbutter
¼ cup light corn syrup
¼ cup flaked coconut
3 tablespoons chopped peanuts
1 quart vanilla ice cream, softened
Miniature M&M's or semi-sweet chocolate chips

Combine the peanuts, butter, and sugar; press onto the bottom and up the sides of a 9-inch pie plate. Cover and refrigerate for 15 minutes. In a large bowl, combine peanutbutter and corn syrup. Add coconut and peanuts. Stir in ice cream just until combined. Spoon into crust. Cover and freeze overnight or until firm. Just before serving, sprinkle with M&Ms. Yield: 6-8.

ANSWER — Thanks to Paula Korda, Jackson Township, for sending in the recipe for meatballs. Paula writes, "I have been making these for years. The secret to the moistness is the water sprinkled on the bread."

Mouthwatering Meatballs

1 egg
2 cloves minced garlic
¼ cup grated romano cheese
¼ cup parsley
3 slices white bread (pulled apart or cut into really small cubes and toss with 2 tablespoons water)
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Mix together ingredients and add ¼ cup dry bread crumbs and blend well.

Form into balls and either fry them in shortening or bake in oven to reduce fat content. Add to your favorite spaghetti sauce.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

We appreciate all the letters of encouragement that we have received from Lancaster Farming readers. Many folks write of similar situations in their families and so they can sympathize with us. It is nice to know that people appreciate reading my article.

We've had a busy weekend as our youngest daughter drove herself and two of her three boys to our home from Maine. It only took her eight and one-half hours. We thought it was a 10 hour trip but I guess she found some good roads. We got together with her brother and his family for two meals while she was here.

My garden is in a low, wet spot and so it has not been rototilled. I've spread some fertilizer on it and on my flower beds too. Although, it is rather discouraging to think of a garden as we can see three deer almost daily on the other side of the rail fence. Last year they ate two long rows of sugar peas down to the ground.

This morning I watched bluebirds building a nest in one of the bird houses that my husband built a few years ago. A pair of sparrows had considered using it as their home. The little birds are very beautiful when they spread their wings and fly.

Our apricot trees bloomed two weeks ago and we are hoping that there will not be cold weather to freeze them. That is what happened last year and so I had none to can.

When the children visit, I usually send frozen or canned goods with them as their children like my peaches, applesauce, and black raspberries. Only time will tell if we have more to harvest this year. Last year was a very good one for sour cherries and so we have lots of them to share.

Editor's note: Several readers have expressed interest in sending get-well cards to Ida's husband, Allen. Lancaster Farming would be glad to forward your cards and letters to Ida's attention. Send them to Lou Ann Good, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522 and we will be glad to forward them. Thank you.

Driving Milk Sales Like Never Before

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Dairy farmers, Kellogg's® and NASCAR® make a winning team this spring in a unique, high-impact fluid milk promotion partnership. The American Dairy Association & Dairy Council Mid-East and the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program are implementing the local components of the promotion.

Throughout the 2003 racing season, NASCAR's #5 Terry LaBonte's car will carry the "got milk?®" logo and promote milk at every race. During February and March, when consumers buy two gallons of milk, any type, any flavor, and two participating Kellogg's cereals they can receive a collectible NASCAR "got milk?" race car and hauler sent by mail for $9.99. More than 55 million packages of Kellogg's cereals are featuring the "got milk?" offer.

It is also reaching 40,000 households through a Sunday newspaper coupon insert. Retailers are highlighting the promotion in both the milk and cereal sections of stores with attention-getting point-of-sale materials. Retailers are also encouraged to feature milk in weekly ads, in-store circulars and other electronic and print advertising.

The milk/NASCAR/Kellogg's partnership is a perfect fit for the entire family. Just like milk, NASCAR appeals to both men and women. NASCAR is the most popular spectator sport in the U.S. and an ideal channel to drive consumption of Kellogg's products and milk. Researchers estimate that 15 to 18 percent of fluid milk consumption is used on breakfast cereal, making cereal's contribution to milk consumption very significant. Kellogg's is the largest ready-to-eat cereal producer in the world with five of the top 10 cereal brands, which makes it a perfect match-up for the dairy industry to help increase overall demand for dairy products.

Farm Safety Is No Accident

Register Now To Attend Family Farm Safety Day

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

PARADISE (Lancaster Co.) — Five children died from farm accidents last year in Lancaster County.

"Even if only one had died, it's sad," said Don Ranck, who farms in Paradise.

Sometimes children are run over by machinery and equipment. Sometimes they get in animal pens, or play in barns and fall through hayloft openings. Sometimes smaller children wander away and fall into ponds or manure pits.

Ranck believes that most farm accidents are preventable. He works with Dr. Albert Price, pediatrician, on planning Lancaster County's annual Family Farm Safety Day. Workshops geared to children between the ages of 8-13 years point out potential dangers and demonstrate safe ways to perform necessary tasks on the farm. Actually there are activities for the whole family.

This year the event is scheduled for June 21, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., at the Bart Fire Company, Bart.

"I grew up on a farm, where safety was always number one (priority)," Ranck said. Since then he and his wife Ginny have taught their four children (now adults) the importance of always being careful. The Rancks operate a bed and breakfast on their farm, which is visited by hundreds of children. Ranck's children grew up teaching farm safety to tourists of all ages.

"No one was ever hurt, but I don't say that arrogantly," Ranck said. "Accidents can happen anywhere."

Family Farm Safety Day is scheduled at the Bart Fire Company June 21. Families are encouraged to attend. Free snacks, lunch, surprises, fun — and prizes!

Despite their best efforts, his own family had several "close calls."

It's difficult to enforce safety rules at all times on a farm where parents are often busy with so many chores. One of the most difficult rules to enforce is to teach children never to run toward tractors. It's difficult for children to realize that a tractor operator cannot hear them or see them.

"Children must be closely supervised at all times," Ranck said.

Rotary mowers and all-terrain vehicles also pose many dangers.

Even if all the rules are followed, accidents can happen. Ranck said that when he was 12 years old, he was hauling manure. The universal joint pin on the steering column fell out. The steering column came loose, causing the tractor to upset on an embankment and pinning Ranck beneath it. He was rescued just in time.

Last year, the annual Family Farm Safety Day attracted 150 children between the ages of 6-18. But the event isn't only for children. Families are encouraged to attend.

The event offers opportunities for adults to see some of the safety features other farmers developed to make farming safer.

Some Amish farmers have designed equipment with safety features that many other farmers aren't aware of, according to Ranck.

Ranck and other farmers teach safety workshops during the day pertaining to power take-off motors, mowers, chemicals, fire, gases, water, buggy rides, and hidden hazards.

Because the classes are taught by farmers, they are more aware of the dangers, the practicality of safety features, and the need to train children how to help on the farm.

"Matching chores to children's development is important," said Dennis Murphy, Penn State professor of agricultural engineering. "Injuries may occur because parents overestimate their child's physical size and age without taking into account the ability to perform the job. You have to consider balance, strength, reaction time, coordination, attention span, and memory."

As children grow older, they need to learn how to drive tractors and operate other equipment. They must learn to drive tractors by watching. But there are right and wrong ways to ride along on the tractor. These concepts are taught at the workshops.

"Parents can tell their children (about safety rules) but the safety demonstrations really make an impression on children," Ranck said of the educational event.

As a pediatrician, Dr. Price saw some devastating cases of children hurt on the farm. He started the free Family Farm Safety Day to teach the importance of making the farm a safer place.

Family Farm Safety Day is free for the family, but you must register early. Deadline for registration is June 9. To register, call (717) 290-5945.

"Don't climb on anything unless an adult is present and gives permission," Ranck tells visitors on his farm.

Don Ranck, Paradise farmer, explains the danger of a hayloft opening and the need to keep openings closed to Dylan Coleman, 5.

Prepare Children For Financial Responsibility

HONESDALE (Wayne Co.) — Would you like for your children to be money smart? Do you hope they won't make some of the same mistakes you've made with money? Money is a complicated subject with lots of emotional ties. It is easy to pick up bad money habits like spending more money than you have and not saving any money.

Children learn money responsibility day-by-day. Their money education requires parental time, energy, supervision, some money, and the ability to let the child experience the consequence of a poor decision. Children who are taught early about money learn independence; they also acquire the money skills needed for developing self-discipline and confidence. Teaching about money can be tricky, however, because you do not want to overemphasize money and materialism.

According to Kay Zimka, Colorado State Cooperative Extension even young children may learn about consumerism by watching their parents.

She offers these steps to help you teach your child about money:

1. Analyze your own attitudes about money.

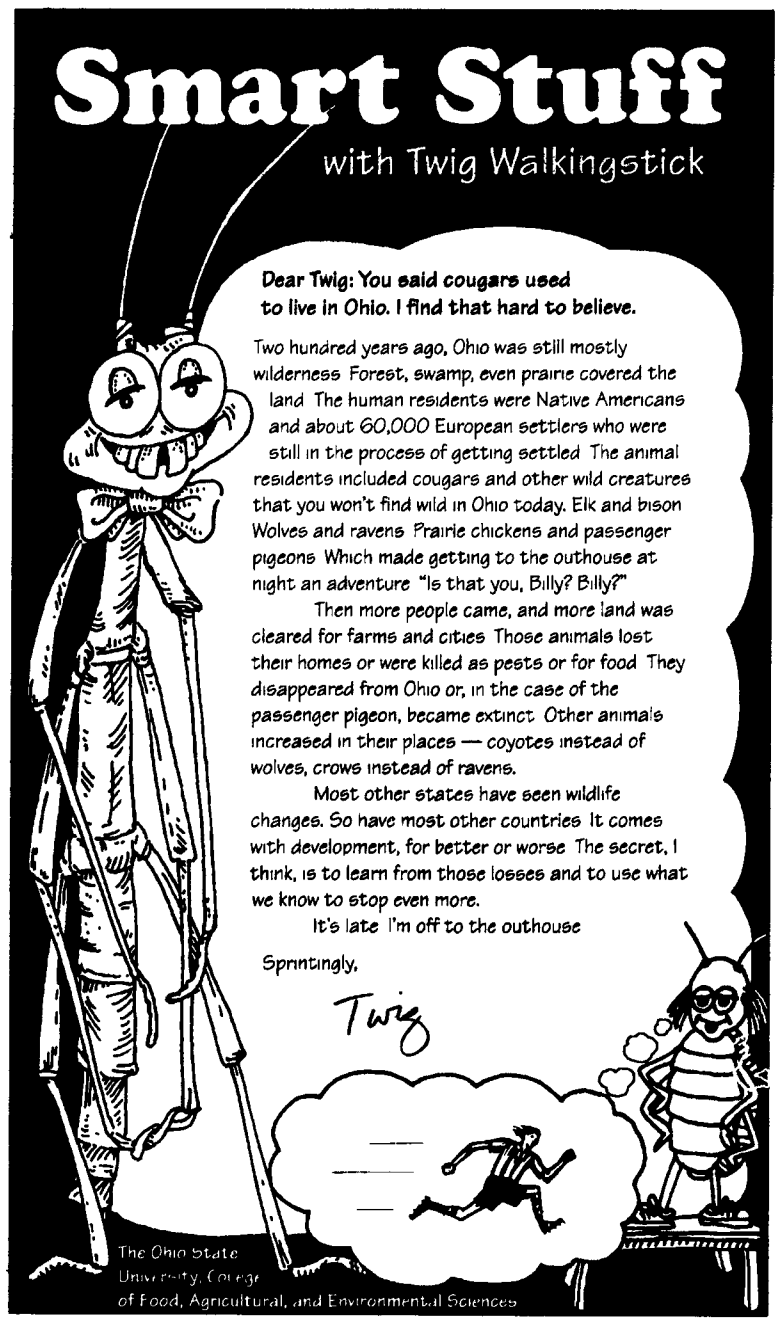
2. Involve the child in the family's financial planning. A short and not-too-boring family meeting might include a talk about what good things happened during the week, what is happening regarding the plans for a family vacation or what decisions need to be made about money. You may even let the kids be in charge of the meeting. The idea is not to make the children worry about family finances, but to educate them about how the household runs or the limits of the family budget.

3. Communicate an attitude that budgeting is serious, but not frightening. Children can learn that savings, rent, house payments, and utilities are paid first, that allowances fit within the family budget and that when one expense increases, another must decrease. The importance of having a financial plan becomes more vivid.

4. Give each child over five years of age an allowance — enough to teach how to make decisions, but not so much that it's wasteful. An allowance is given because the child is a member of the family and is not dependent upon doing chores or getting good grades. Doing chores is the child's contribution to the family. You can provide opportunities to earn extra income when the child needs money for a special occasion or wants to save for a special purchase.

5. Encourage long-term saving. Open a savings account and help your children chart their savings. This is a positive way to develop financial responsibility.

6. If your child wants to borrow money from you, use this loan as an opportunity to teach about using credit wisely. You can have a written contract stating interest charges, a repayment schedule and what happens when payments are not made. Explain that late fees can be charged if payments are not made on time.



Smart Stuff
with Twig Walkingstick
Dear Twig: You said cougars used to live in Ohio. I find that hard to believe.
Two hundred years ago, Ohio was still mostly wilderness. Forest, swamp, even prairie covered the land. The human residents were Native Americans and about 60,000 European settlers who were still in the process of getting settled. The animal residents included cougars and other wild creatures that you won't find wild in Ohio today. Elk and bison. Wolves and ravens. Prairie chickens and passenger pigeons. Which made getting to the outhouse at night an adventure. "Is that you, Billy? Billy?"
Then more people came, and more land was cleared for farms and cities. Those animals lost their homes or were killed as pests or for food. They disappeared from Ohio or, in the case of the passenger pigeon, became extinct. Other animals increased in their places — coyotes instead of wolves, crows instead of ravens.
Most other states have seen wildlife changes. So have most other countries. It comes with development, for better or worse. The secret, I think, is to learn from those losses and to use what we know to stop even more.
It's late. I'm off to the outhouse.
Sprintingly,
Twig

You ask You answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know who to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

Or, you may e-mail questions and answers to LGOOD.EPH@LNPNEWS.COM

Please clarify what question you are answering when responding.

Do not send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a reply. If we receive the answer, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it. However, if your question requires someone to mail items to you, you must include your address or phone number for publishing.

QUESTION — A reader wants to know what to use on kitchen formica countertops to preserve or seal the formica to keep it from wearing down, keeping stains out and adding shine?

QUESTION — A reader wants to know where the strong rubber elastic (like rubber bands) can be purchased to make fitted bed sheets.

QUESTION — Nina Purvin wants information about a Purvin Dairy Company, which operated in Lancaster during the 1940s-1950s. She has found some interesting bottles, a calendar, and a poster from the company. The latest item is from 1952. She'd like any information someone might have about the farm and dairy.

QUESTION — Marnita Stoltzfus, Parkesburg, wants to buy an old Scrabble game. It does not need a board. Call her at (610) 857-1303.

QUESTION — Cathy Heagy, Narvon, is looking for a children's book, "The Little Boy From Shickshinny," which is about a boy who got mad at a cow lying down in the dark and kicked it only to find out it was really a bear. Her grandmother had a copy when Cathy was a child.

QUESTION — Gerry Noecker, 2830 Irish Creek Rd., Bernville, PA 19506 requests the books, "The Lion Hound," and "The Desert Dog," by Jim Kjelgaard.

QUESTION — D. B., Wapwallopen, wants to know how to clean cast-iron frypans and griddles with accumulated baked film on them. He also wants to know how to restore a cast-iron Dutch oven pot that cooked dry and scorched.

QUESTION — Erica Bowers writes that Recycling Services Inc., 365 Elm St., Pottstown, is a multipurpose recycling collection center, which takes almost any item including plastics, metal, and clothing. Recently the center lost its market for used clothing and fabric they collected. The center wants to know if anyone is interested in starting their own used clothing or consignment business? The person must be willing to take and use everything. No throwaways. Contact Jim Crater (610) 323-8545 or at the Website www:recyclingservices.org.

QUESTION — The Kemerer family, Latrobe, want to know the price of used barn siding measuring 10-12-foot lengths and 8-10 inches in width. The wood is about 150 years old.

QUESTION — Kay Cree, 75 Pine Hill Rd., Marysville, PA 17053, needs an owner's or repair manual for a Necchi Supernova Ultra Mark 2 sewing machine. She is willing to pay a reasonable price.

QUESTION — Wilmer and Luella Reiff, 200 Sheaffer's School Rd., Ephrata, PA 17522, would like worthwhile reading literature for school children to enjoy. They would like it to be donated to their parochial school's library, but are willing to pay shipping. Call (717) 656-2431.

QUESTION — Joanna Martin, Abbottstown, is interested in purchasing books about "A First Look" at birds, fish, etc. written by Millicent E. Selsam and Joyce Hunt. Also wants Ranger Rick magazines written between 1981-1991, large National Geographic children's books. Call her evenings at (717) 632-8718.

QUESTION — Janet Spangler wants to know if anyone knows how to make angels using beads and safety pins. She'd like the instructions.

QUESTION — Lyndon Martin, Elizabethtown, wants to know how much money he could make, and where to buy and sell guinea pigs. Call him at (717) 361-8351.

QUESTION — Paul has 122 special light bulbs that are 5-inch clear glass globes: 100 are 60W, and the remainder are 25W. The bulbs are new and in their original cartons. The bulbs are used for unique interior decorating and make-up mirror lights. Paul believes they would make brilliant lights for a barn. The bulbs sell for $4 a piece at Home Depot. Call Paul to reach an agreement on price. Depending on distance, delivery could be arranged. Call (610) 827-7561.

QUESTION — Anita Moyer, Bernville, would like to borrow the book, "The Way She Chose," published briefly by Rod and Staff. Call Anita at (610) 488-7971.

QUESTION — Susan Evans, Lewisburg, would like to find a wooden Chinese checker board. Call (570) 523-7751.

QUESTION — Julia Delp, 962 Martin Road, Needmore PA 17238, is looking for information on diatomaceous earth (DE). Does DE work well enough to be used as the sole wormer in sheep, beef, cattle and dogs? How often should it be used? Does DE irritate animals' digestive tracts? Is any age to young to treat with DE? Can DE be fed free-choice or mixed with loose minerals? If so, at what rate? How can one ensure that all the animals are eating it? If DE kills worms and eggs, will pastures eventually become worm-free?

QUESTION — R.W. Hain is searching for a book title "Slim" by William Haines. The book is about the electrification of the Pennsy Railroad in the early 1930s. You can call Hain at (717) 776-7929.

QUESTION — Bill Rapp, 6 Rosedale Terrace, Holmdel, NJ, is looking for a place to buy a strong, wooden replacement handle for an old coal shovel. The handle is about 43 inches long and 1½ inches in diameter.

QUESTION — Mrs. Henry King is looking for an old book titled "Ishmael" about a young boy who grew up in poverty and was raised by an aunt. You may contact Mrs. King at 1061 Osceola Rd., Drumore PA 17518.

QUESTION — Rachel Fisher, 44 Furnace Rd., Quarryville PA 17566, asks where she can find plates for her Keen Kutter hand grinder, number 22.

QUESTION — Henry King wonders if anyone knows the rest of the words to the song that goes: "If I could see the world through the eyes of a child, what a wonderful world it would be." Contact him at 1061 Osceola Rd., Drumore PA 17518.

QUESTION D. Peters, Bethlehem, asks where he can find curly maple veneer. He needs two 3x10-inch pieces. Call (610) 866-3399.

QUESTION — Richard Laughman, Chambersburg, wants to know where a Sony Superscope reel to reel tape player can be fixed.

QUESTION — Bill Dennies, Hamburg, N.Y., wants the address of Karin Bucan who does heirloom gardening. He and his wife are newcomers to heirloom gardening and would like to talk with Karin.

QUESTION — Pat Hartman, Ligonier, wants to know where to find balsam. She remembers seeing the answer in this paper but lost the address. She wants the answer repeated for what balsam is and where to get it.

QUESTION — A. Mary Nolt, New Holland, wants to know the value of a Zenith egg grader scale and what antique dealers are interested in items such as these.

ANSWER — John Shank, Smithsburg, Md., needed a pair of handles for his horse drawn cultivators. Thanks for Christian Weaver Jr. for answering that the handles are made by John's Wood Bending, 4000 E. Newport Rd., Gordonville. Phone (717) 768-8183.

ANSWER — A reader wants to know how to get a skunk out from under an enclosed porch. Also interested in learning how to be rid of skunks in general. Thanks to Joyce Grim, Bucks County, and Shirley Orfanella, Quarryville, who write you need to beat skunks at their own game — smell. Put mothballs under the porch or spray insect repellent into their openings. They'll soon leave. Joyce said this method also works to get rid of ground hogs.

ANSWER — Nancy Stoltzfus, Lewisburg, wanted to know where to find knobs for Vita-Craft stainless steel kettles. Thanks to Joanne Gehman, Newburg, for answering. Write to "Der Kessel Mann," Box 5181, Lancaster, PA 17606. Phone (717) 392-4356 or (717) 569-9388, and leave a message for Ken Buch.

ANSWER— D.B. of Wapwallopen wanted to know how to clean cast-iron frypans and griddles. Thanks to Joyce Stuff, Mercersburg, who writes: Put them in the oven when self-cleaning the oven. They will come out looking like new, but will need to be seasoned again. The same cleaning method would work for the cast-iron Dutch oven pot if it is without hardware; otherwise the handles would melt.

ANSWER — Lena Oberholtzer, 202 E. Eby Rd., Leola, PA 17540, requested an instruction and recipe book available for a 6-quart Mirromatic pressure cooker. Thanks to Joyce Stuff, Mercersburg, who promises she will answer this request.

ANSWER — A reader requested the words to two songs. Thanks to a reader who sent in the words. She writes both songs were on an old record album by the Debusk/Weaver family.

Cyclone Of Rycove

O listen today to the story I tell of a saddened and tear-dimmed eye;
Of a dreadful cyclone that came this way
and blew our schoolhouse away.
Chorus:
Rycove, Rycover, Rycover, Rycove,
A place of my childhood and home.
Where in life's early morn I once loved to roam but now it's so silent and lone.
When the cyclone appeared it darkened the air,
there was lightening flashed over the sky.
The children all cried, "Don't take us away but spare us to go back home.
There were mother's so dear and father's the same that came to this horrible scene;
Searching and crying each found their own child dying on a pillow of stone.
Oh give us a home far beyond the blue sky
where storms and cyclones are unknown,
And there will I stand and clasp the glad hand with children in a heavenly home.

No Telephone In Heaven

"Now I can't wait on babies," the smiling merchant said,
As he stooped and softly played with his golden, curly head.
"I want to call up Momma," Kenny answered full and free,
"Won't you telephone and ask her when she's coming back to me?"
"My child," the merchant murmured as he stroked the anxious brow,
"No telephone connection where your mother lives at now."
No telephone in heaven as the tear sprang in his eye,
"I thought God had everything with Him up in the sky!"
"And then I get so lonesome that I don't know what to do
And Poppa cries so much, I guess, he must be lonesome too.
Tell her to come to baby 'cause at night I get so afraid.
With no one there to kiss me when the lights begin to fade."

Cattle Producers Carry Beef's Message To Washington

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Americans are undernourished, representatives of the National Cattlemen's Beef Association (NCBA) told USDA Food, Nutrition and Consumer Services Under Secretary Eric Bost in an April 11 meeting in Washington, D.C.

"We'd like to see more emphasis placed on the role of beef's nutrients in healthful diets as the 2005 Dietary Guidelines for Americans are drafted," said Wade Zimmerman, a cattleman from Sugar City, Colo., and chairman of the Joint Industry Nutrition and Health Committee.

More than 250 cattlemen convened in Washington as part of the NCBA Spring Legislative Conference April 9-11.

Too many school-aged children are missing out on key nutrients, like the zinc and iron readily found in beef, Zimmerman said, telling USDA officials that these nutrients affect their ability to learn.

Potassium-Rich Foods Deter Muscle Cramps

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Spring is in full swing and park paths are full of joggers and walkers shedding that winter weight. While the workout can be refreshing, cramping muscles late in the night aren't nearly as appreciated.

As some might have been told by their old track coaches, a banana a day keeps the cramping away — or something like that. Bananas are a good source of potassium, and too low a level of this mineral may be one cause of muscle cramping.

Potassium, an essential nutrient in the diet, is an electrolyte — an ionized salt in the body that can become electrically charged.

Potassium and sodium work together across cell membranes to regulate muscle contractions, among other critical body functions. If there's too little potassium, a condition called hypokalemia can result.

Symptoms include fatigue, muscle weakness and cramping, intestinal complications, and in a worst-case scenario, muscular paralysis.

The recommended daily amount of potassium is 2,000 milligrams for anyone 10 years or older, but some health authorities recommend up to 3,500 milligrams a day to help reduce high blood pressure.

Foods higher in potassium include a medium baked potato with skin (721 mg), one-half cup dried prunes (633 mg), one-half cup raisins (598 mg) and six fluid ounces of prune juice (530 mg).

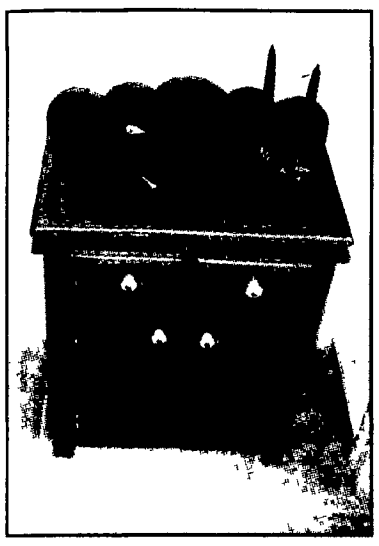
Accent Home Decor With Childhood Treasures



This jelly cupboard is a copy of the original on display at the Landis Brothers House at Landis Valley Museum. Notice the utensil holder filled with tin knives, forks, and spoons. Even the gold candlesticks were made for the children's market.

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family
Features Editor

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — Robert Leayman remembers the pleasure his daughter had cooking with tiny pots and pans, setting her table with doll-sized dishes and playing store with miniature grocery items.

Now that his daughter is grown, he helps her compile collections reminiscent of her childhood. They canvass antique shows in search of a doll-size canister set, the missing piece to a set of tinware and the tiny utensils to complete the set.

But tucking those items away deprived his daughter of the everyday pleasure of enjoying them. Leayman found a solution to that also.

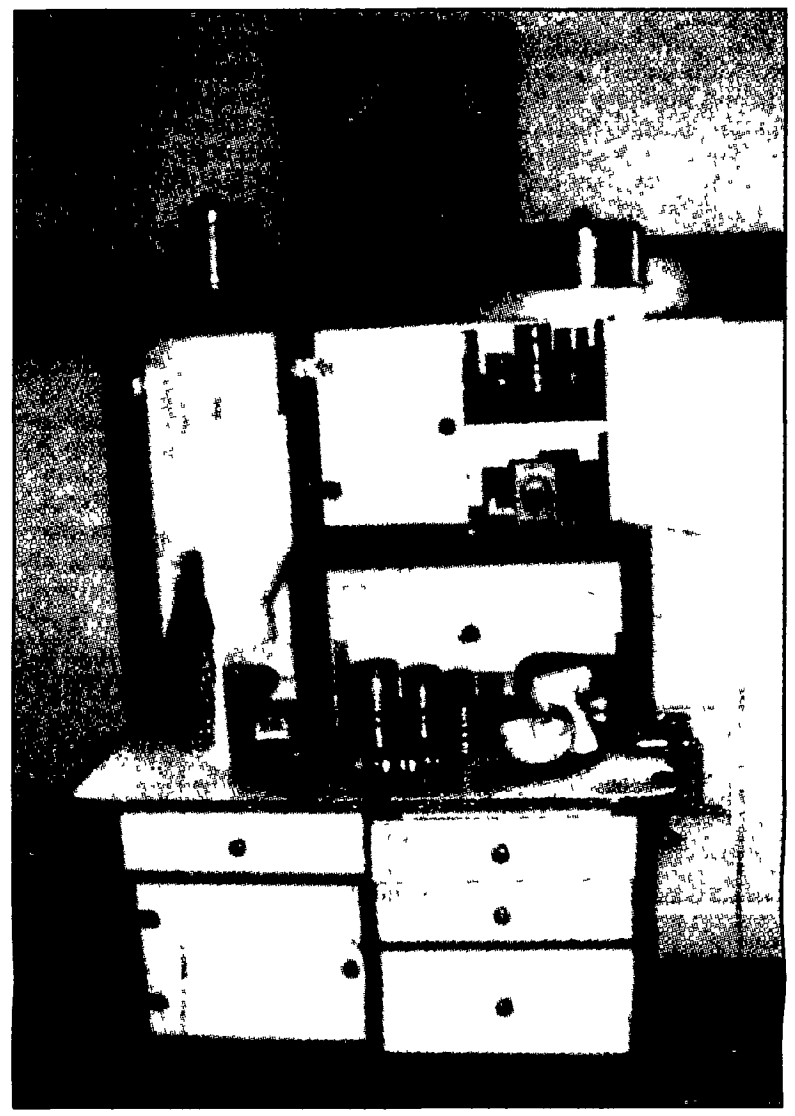
He built a child size replica of a cupboard. Since then, he's built a child-size Hoosier cabinet, tin pie safe, and more, patterned after the adult-sized versions of the late 1800s and early 1900s. Almost every room of his daughter's home has at least one of the cupboards that complements her home's colonial decor.

She has filled each of the cabinets with sets of antique dishes, utensils, and grocery items. Although these items were greatly cherished by generations of girls, many of the table settings on the market today are incomplete. Complete sets are expensive and seldom available. If patient, dedicated shoppers can find individual pieces and compile their own sets.

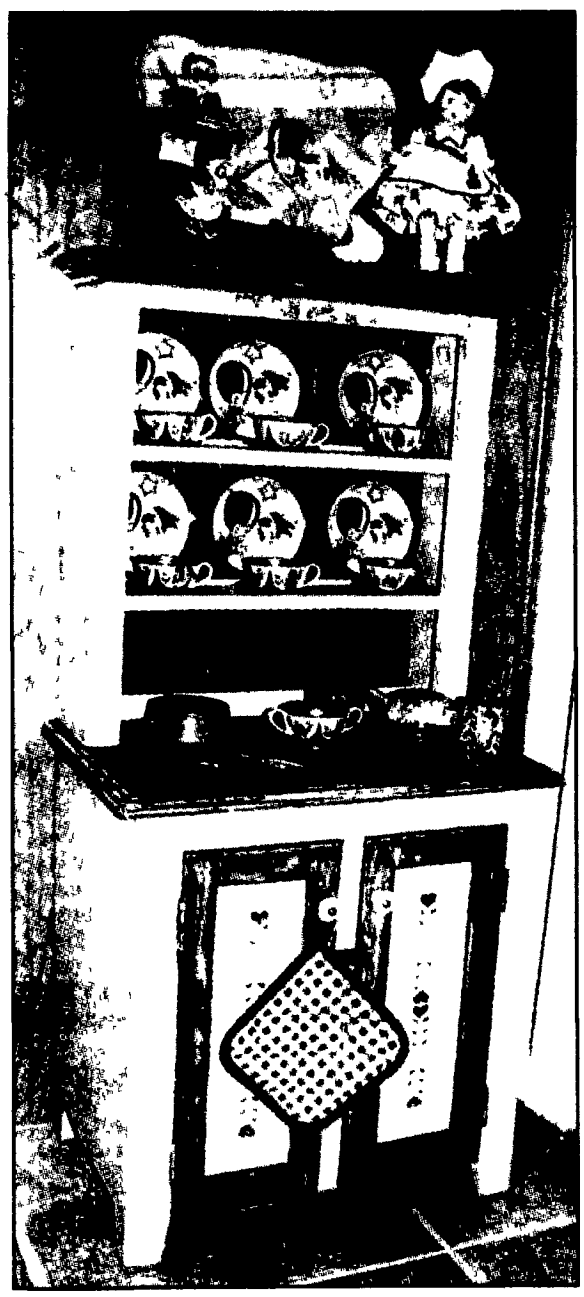
For collectors who want to know how to display their collections, his daughter's home is filled with ideas.

In addition to the little cupboards filled with kitchen-related items, she displays other childhood treasures. In the corner of the dining room, a small ironing board is set up with a little iron ready for plug in. A wooden barrel filled with wooden child-size clothespins, and even a clothespin bag is on display.

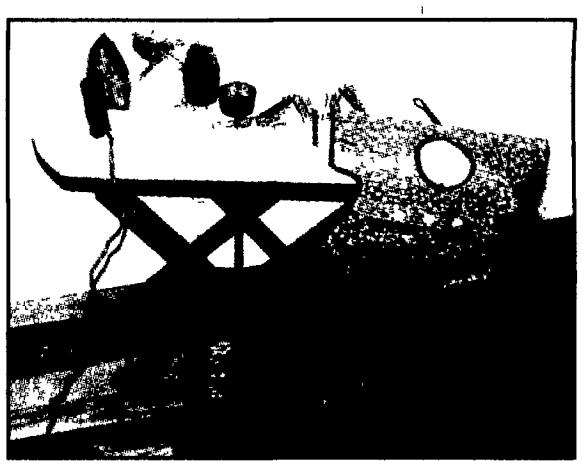
Leayman delights in making the doll-sized furniture as a hobby. But he doesn't paint them for his daughter. Her husband does. To order an unfinished cupboard, call Leayman at (717) 560-0477.



This Hoosier cupboard is filled with doll-sized cans of dill pickles, salmon, beans, sauerkraut, Vienna sausage, and evaporated milk. Prices are $25 and up for one can with intact label. Notice the Ivory Snow, baking powder, and Nescafe, staples for homes during the 1950s. The four-piece canister set with breadbox (cake tin missing) sells between $150-$300. Egg beater, cookie sheets, and food mixer were made for children, but the food grinder was a salesman's sample.

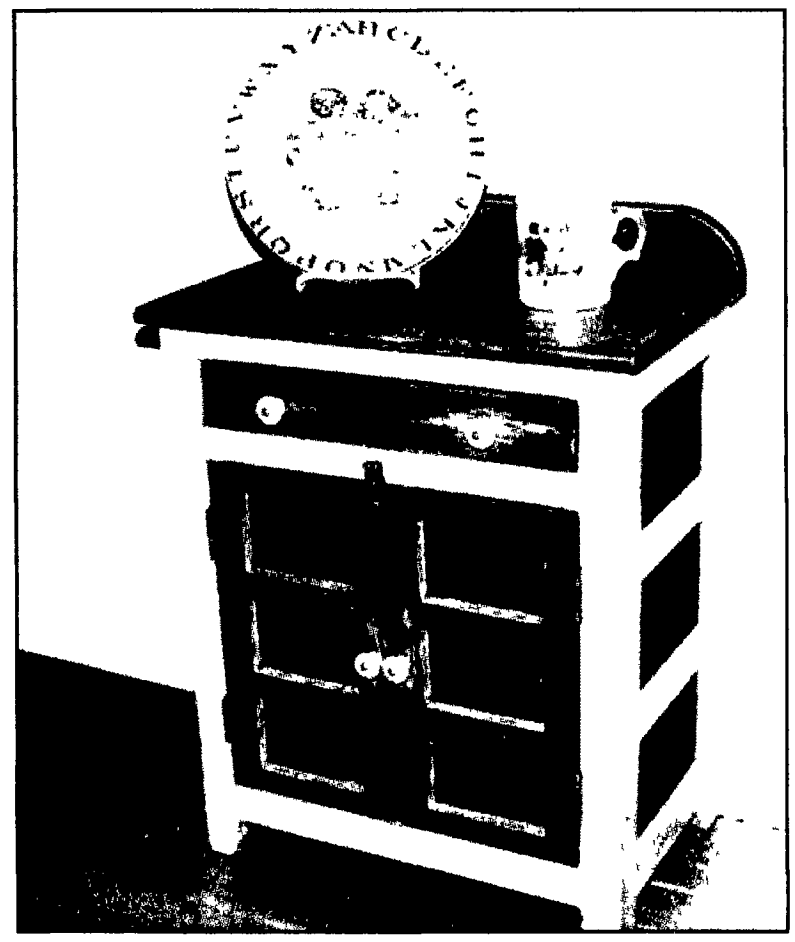


This Wedding pattern tinware set by Ohio Art from the 1950s is one of the numerous collectible sets. The sets came in four- and six-place settings. Also included is a cake plate, tray, and bread plates. Value is $200-$300, depending on condition and completeness. Robert Leayman handcrafted all the child-size cupboards on this page.



Intersperse childhood treasures throughout your home or confine to one room.

These day-of-the-week towels were often painstakenly embroidered by young girls filling their hope chests. If you have a collection, drape them over a wooden clothes rack.



This pie safe with punched tin sides and front also offers a spot to display a child's cup. The plate features the Campbell kids and the alphabet.

Preserve Original Decorative Painting On Antiques

You might want to think twice before stripping that old chair or chest either because the condition of the painted surface is poor or you don't like the painted subject.

These days painted and stenciled work on old household objects and furniture adds to their value. So much so that when 18th and 19th century examples come to auction they may compete in price with fancier, carved pieces.

That was the idea in the 19th century, when both the upper and middle classes began either hiring professional, ornamental painters or the many itinerant artists who traveled the countryside.

The concept was that if an object couldn't be afforded or imported, it could still be imitated. As a result everything from furniture to expensive wallpaper, floor coverings, and mirror frames was reproduced or reinterpreted in paint.

These painted items became important influences in 19th century decorative art. Even when wallpaper and carpeting became affordable in the early 19th century, painted surfaces continued to be popular in small towns and in the country.

While the most common form was "graining" imitating wood with paint, the results were very different, depending on the materials used. Putty and carbon from candlesmoke as well as feathers, sponges and leather combs were among the objects used. Most familiar these days is the freehand painting on furniture and decorative objects that was a form of the Pennsylvania German techniques. Much is considered folk art.

In the Northeast and mid-Atlantic states, tinware was painted by the women. Tea canisters, tea pots and trays were among the simple, utilitarian housewares that were done both freehand and with stencils.

Among the rarer paint-decorated items are textiles. While this type of work used stenciling, done by women, it was the men who did designs using heavy paper, stiffed in oil or shellac.

Prices rise when a painted piece can be attributed to a factory or an artist. Examples would be the handpainted chairs made at the Lambert Hitchcock factory or a box painted by known folk artist Rufus Porter.

CLUES: Ever since the 1920s, when interest in early Americana was revived, collectors, dealers and amateur painters have been adding painted decorations to originally plain pieces. It has been common for fakers to work in the Rufus Porter or Pennsylvania German style. This is expecially true of stencilled Hitchcock-type side chairs.

What should you do if you come across an authentic painted piece and the design is worn away? You have two choices. Either live with it as is or contact your local museum restorer. Start saving your money now. Good, professional restoration work is costly.

There was a time when collectors expected pieces to be in almost perfect condition even if they were more than a hundred years old. Not these days. With all the reproductions flooding the market a piece that "shows its' age" is very desirable.

Some valuable pieces have been destroyed by stripping. I well remember a dealer who took a valuable painted desk to the strippers. Her excuse was that it would cost more to be restored than if she sold it stripped and refinished.

There are still bargains to be found at garage and estate sales because pieces with missing and worn painted designs aren't appreciated by everybody.

Antique Detective Questions And Answers

This bronze vase with raised, color enamel Chinese motifs has been in our family for some years. It has no markings. Does it have other than sentimental value?

D.E. - Bonita Springs, FL

You appear to have a 19th century Chinese bronze vase probably made for export. It could sell in a shop for around $1,200.

I purchased this desk for $25 a few years ago. It is mahogany and has a paper sticker that says "Hepplewhite" and a brass plate with the number 134. I would like to know what it is worth for selling purposes.

P.F. - Staten Island, N.Y.

Your Hepplewhite (Federal style) tambour writing desk is a revival style made from 1876 to the 1920s. Similar examples sell in shops for around $500/600.

I have four color prints published by Currier and Ives. They represent American Homestead, winter, spring, autumn and summer. The way, Published by Currier and Ives entered according to Act of Congress in the year 1868 by Currier and Ives in the District Court of the U.S. for the Southern District of New York, 152 Nassau St., NY. are they worth anything?

H.P.F - Middlesex, N.J.

If they are indeed the original prints and not restrikes, they could sell at auction for $700 and up.

Can you tell me what this tall (46") metal stand was used for and when, as well as value? At the top is what appears to be a drop box, like a mail box, that says "Offerings For The Poor" At the bottom is a key lock for removal.

C.C. - Garden City, Mo.

In the late 19th century some cities and churches placed these charity boxes in various places to collect money for the poor. It could sell at a specialty auction house, such as Red Baron, 6450 Roswell Road, Atlanta, GA 30328. It could sell for several thousand dollars.

After my grandmother's death we found around 100 pieces of pottery called Roseville. How would I go about selling them? Enclosed is a photo of a vase that you could give me an idea of the value.

A.L.F. - Homosassa, FL

Since a wide variety of types of Roseville American art pottery were made from 1892 to 1954 you should take good photos of each piece with description. Send to Treadway Auction Gallery, 2029 Madison Road,, Cincinnati, OH 45208. Since they were mass produced there are still many of the more common examples around selling from $150 to $300.

Can you tell me anything about my 70 pieces of Carnival Glass in Marigold color? It includes sherbets, pitchers, cake plates.

A.L.-Taneytown, Md.

Carnival glass was mass produced first in America beginning in 1905 to the 1920s. Most common colors are Marigold, blue, purple and green. It was made by many companies and is a pressed glass coated with a sodium solution, then fired for a lustre look. Over the last 26 years it has been reproduced. To get an idea of the values invest in a Schroeders Antiques Price Guide or some of the books on the subject.

We recently inherited a large collection of glass clowns. A sticker on the bottom reads Murano, Italy. How can I sell them and what are they worth?

D.S. - Glenview, Ill.

The Venini Glassworks in Murano, Italy began making a series known as the commedia del l'arte figures, that included clowns. They had paper labels and a variety of signatures and were made in the 1940s, 50s and 60s. Prices vary from the low hundreds to several thousand dollars. For the past decade Venini has been reproducing many of them. Best place to sell them would be the John Toomey Gallery in Oak Park, Ill. 818 N. Boulevard, 60301. Send good photos and descriptions.

I have twelve pieces of an aluminum coffee pot, sugar, creamer set with plates. All are marked "Continental hand wrought" with a picture of a soldier. Can you tell me anything about them and how to sell them?

S.K. - Springdale, Pa.

By the 1930s, 40s many companies were desiging a variety of aluminum objects. Quality, maker name and design influence prices. Many were made and still show up at flea markets. Your coffee urn could sell in a shop for $60 or more.

The other pieces could fetch $25 and up.

This reclining figure of a male Indian is made out of a chalk substance and was given to my grandparents as a wedding gift in 1900. On the banner below his left hande is the word Ohio. Any information appreciated.

E.V.S. - Waverly, Neb.

Chalkware pieces made as carnival give-aways are most familiar. However many were made as decorative ornaments and sold door to door by Italian immigrants. The best examples are considered as folk art and fetch fancy prices. Yours appears to be a fine example and could sell in a shop for $2,000 or more.

Photos have been sent in by readers requesting information from the Antique Detective.

Lawrence Martin Heifer Sale
Friday, May 2, 2003 - 11:00 AM

Located in Cumberland Co., off Rt. 11 - 3 miles North of Shippensburg, turn left on Koser Rd., across from Cumberland Valley Produce

BRED & OPEN HEIFERS
(129) BLACK & WHITE HOLSTEIN HEIFERS
(4) RED & WHITES - (1) BROWN SWISS
(1) LINEBACK
(100) HEAD BRED 5 to 8 MONTHS
(35) HEAD OPEN, BREEDING AGE
The bred heifers are bred to calving ease Holstein bulls
All heifers will be vet checked, vaccinated with 9-way, and Ivomec is used regularly.

Auctioneer Note: This is a top set of heifers. They are tall and dairy, show good udder promise, plenty of flesh, but not overfed. They will work in any program. Lawrence plans to have a yearly sale and these heifers are a good group to start with.

CLUTCHES/GEAR REDUCTION ASSEMBLIES

Our Specialty
We stock them, stock the parts, pinions, gears, bearings, seals & gaskets, splined out puts, shafts, housing adaptors/reducers, and pilot bearing holders. With little or no changes, these new clutch/gear reduction assemblies could fit your gas or diesel engine - 50-100hp. Five different gear ratios. A valuable link between your engine and power take-off shaft equipment.

CLUTCH / 5.8:1 Planetary Gear Reduction Assemblies

For 8-30 HP Engines
Fits most — Honda, Robin, Kohler, Kawasaki, others (1–2 cyl.)
- Fits most standard crankshafts – 1", 1⅛", 1⅜"
- Aluminum Castings/Housings
- Ball & roller bearings, hardened gears

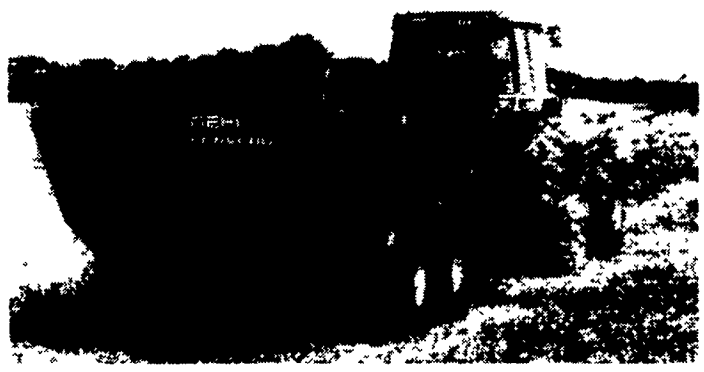
PROVEN PERFORMER



Gehl's Scavenger® Spreader delivers the performance you need year after year, with increased durability and outstanding application control. All thanks to the following features.

- Heavy-duty round core auger with segmented paddles to blend manure. Powered both up and down to ram through heavy loads and break up bridging.
- Special "V" tank design to handle solid, heavy bedded, semi-solid, self-leveling and liquid manure.
- Adjustable auger and expeller speeds spread more types of manure.
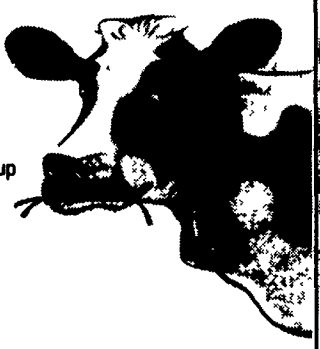
- Variflow™ discharge featuring square-tooth expeller paddles for smooth, even spreading at the rate you choose.

Cash Rebates up to $2,000

Gehl Round Balers

More Bales in Less Time. Any Questions?

- Equipped with Variable Open Throat Power In-Feed system to help you save time and money
- Total Density Control (TDC®) system packs more material into every bale
- Three control systems to choose from
- Optional Quickwrap™ net wrap attachment
- Power In-Feed system opens to nearly 7" for large crop volume
- Optional crowder wheels provide increased pick-up width for feeding the sides of the baler



"Does Your Round Baler Do That?"

Nothing compares to a Super Boom.

Why choose a New Holland skid-steer?

- Superior visibility
- Unbeatable stability
- Faster speeds
- Greater bucket & lift capacity
- The most attachments
- Unmatched dependability

Stop by today and see the LS170 for yourself and why no other skid steer can compare.

NEW HOLLAND

Move mountains or forage

Keeping pace with your harvester and forage wagon can be a challenge... unless you have a New Holland forage blower. Choose from two models that move mountains of forage - fast!

Model F62B

- High-capacity blower center-fills silos over 100 feet tall.
- 37-inch large-capacity hopper; 12-inch feed auger; 60-in diameter blower fan
- Blows 180 tons per hour of corn silage; 110 tons per hour of haylage

Model 40 Whirl-a-Feed®

- Center fills silo 80 feet and higher
- Efficient Whirl-A-Feed® high-speed rotary table spins crop into the blower
- Blows 150 tons of corn silage per hour; 80 tons of haylage per hour

INTRODUCING NEW GLEANER R SERIES COMBINES WITH THE NEW COMFORTECH II CAB

AN ENDURING TRADITION JUST GOT BETTER.

Introducing the 2003 R65 and R75 GLEANER models—continuing the tradition of GLEANER innovation with many new features including an all new cab.

For decades, farmers have counted on GLEANER for clean harvesting, innovative designs and efficient operation. The 2003 GLEANERs continue the tradition with the state-of-the-art COMFORTECH® II cab designed for comfort, efficiency and productivity:

- A larger, curved windshield made from a single section of glass, provides great visibility
- An enlarged frame opens up the cab for more comfort and easier access to controls
- New electronic displays and controls provide unprecedented access to important data

Efficiency. Quality. Reliability. Performance. To find out why thousands of farmers remain loyal—generation after generation—stop in today to see the new generation of GLEANER.

Enjoy year-round profitability with the "Power of One"

With one Grasshopper, you'll enjoy the highest quality cut possible and replace a truck-load of single-purpose equipment. A single FrontMount™ power unit can offer multiple opportunities for income, with a complete range of aeration, spraying, landscaping, leaf and debris cleanup and snow removal implements. Switching decks and attachments is easy, thanks to our patented QuikConverter™ Implement System, so you can handle multiple tasks with little downtime or effort. Putting a Grasshopper to work for year-round profits has been key to the success of many businesses for nearly 35 years.

CNH Announces Plans To Reduce Debt

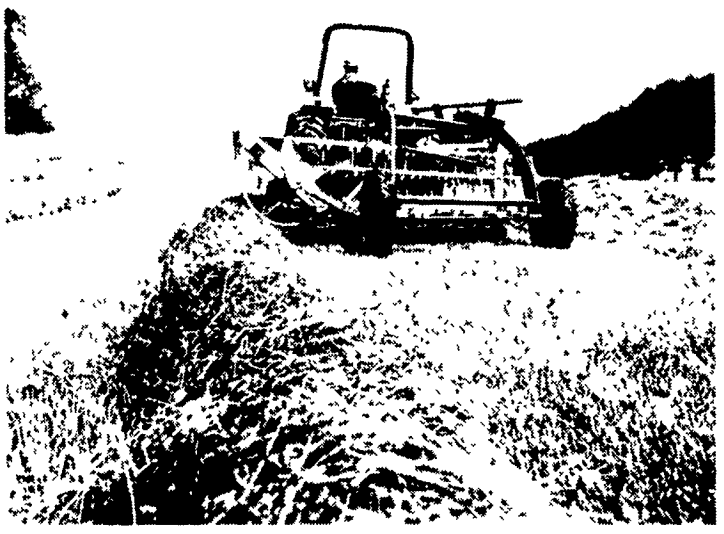
LAKE FOREST, Ill. — CNH Global N.V. (NYSE:CNH) announced March 5 that its board of directors has approved plans to reduce the company's net debt by $2 billion through the issuance of convertible perpetual preferred securities to a financial affiliate of CNH's majority shareholder, Fiat S.P.A. the company expects to use the proceeds of the transaction to repay Equipment Operations indebtedness owed to Fiat Group companies.

The immediate benefits to CNH are expected to be substantial. The securities will carry an annual dividend rate of 0.0% until January 1, 2005. From that date, the annual dividend will be fixed at the dividend yield on the company's common shares, plus an additional 150 basis points should the company achieve certain financial performance targets. Dividends will be payable annually in arrears, and deferrable for up to five years.

By retiring $2 billion of Equipment Operations debt coming due through 2005, CNH gains ample financial liquidity. Of the total debt being repaid, $1.3 billion matures in 2003. On a Dec. 31, 2002 pro forma basis, Equipment Operations net debt will drop to a level of about $1.5 billion, and the company's net debt-to-capitalization ratio will drop from 56% to 24%. Interest expense should be reduced by nearly $100 million on an annual pre-tax basis.

"Our recapitalization plan will substantially improve the capital structure of CNH," Michel Lecomte, CNH chief financial officer said. "This action provides the clearest possible evidence of majority shareholder Fiat's commitment to CNH."

Merrill Lynch & Co. served as financial advisor to CNH on this transaction.



Fluffed up... never roughed up

If a storm hits while you're making hay, you'll need the New Holland Model 166 windrow inverter. It helps to dry hay fast, so you can bale or chop sooner. The 166 gently lifts, fluffs and turns windrows without roughing up the hay. So, you move your windrows onto dry ground for faster drying and retain valuable leaves.

For hay that's fluffed up not roughed up, check out the 166 today.

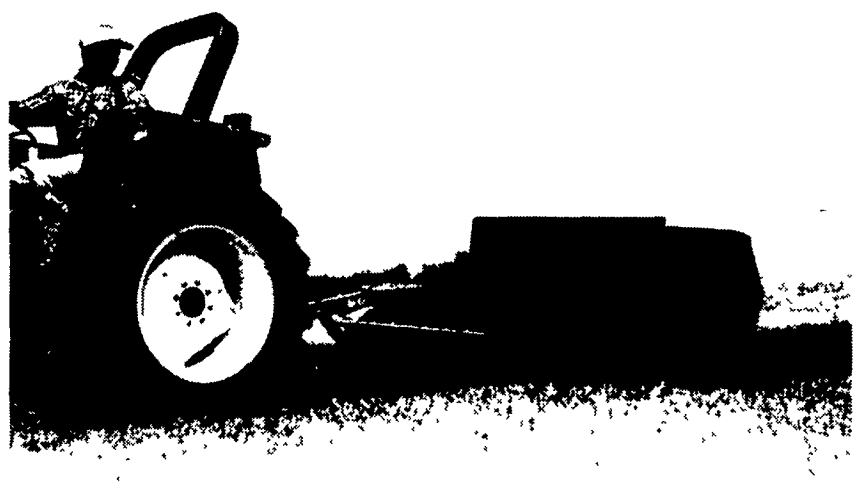
NEW HOLLAND

Rolabar® rakes better by far –

Don't settle for second best when it comes to rakes. Choose the original – a dependable New Holland Rolabar® rake. The rake more farmers buy over all other brands combined. Why? Because its rugged construction makes it one hard-working, hay-grabbing machine.

See the original Rolabar rake today.

NEW HOLLAND



Why wait for the sun

Speed up drying time with a New Holland tedder. It lifts downed crop up so air flows through it. Choose from three tedders – 8'6" Model 157, 16'5" Model 163, or 22'8" Model 169.

Stop in. We'd like to show you how our tedders can help you put up quality hay.

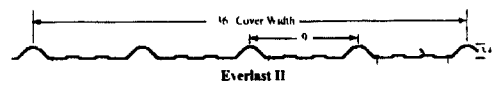
Metal Roofing & Siding

The Ultimate G-100 Process

"The Best"

1 Valspar 10S Finish Coat
2 Epoxy Primer
3 Zinc Phosphate Pretreatment
4 G-100 Zinc Coating
5 Full Hard Steel (80,000 min yield)
6. Heat formed, less paint cracks



NOTE! It is more important what is under the paint than what you see on top!

1 One of the best paints, superior acid rain, cracking resistance and color retention
2. Primer coat, promotes outstanding top coat adhesion
3 Zinc phosphate pretreatment This is a very important process - if your current supplier cannot supply you with this or does not know, you should reconsider
4. G-100 Galvanized: Most metal roofing has approx 40% less galvanized under the paint G-100 is more galvanized than most unpainted panels
5 Full Hard Anything less than full hard will bend easier, lower snow loads, etc
6 Heat formed Metal is painted before ribs are formed Most paint cracks at bends, heat forming greatly reduces cracks (check metal siding that is installed for 5-10 years)
7 Stronger design superior strength, more metal per L F
8 Add Everything Together And Price Should Be $53 37 Per Square $1 69 Per L F

OUR SPECIAL PRICE ONLY
$48.32 PER SQUARE

Galvanized or Galvalume?

For metal roofing and siding, which is better, painted Galvanized or painted Galvalume?. Galvanizing is many times better if it's mill certified G100. Why is it better? Galvanizing tends to "heal" when scratched. The more galvanizing, the better. Everlast is ten times better at "healing" than galvalume because galvalume hardly "heals" at all when scratched. Also cut edges rust quickly on galvalume.

BEEF TIPS

A bull's contribution to the calf crop is 30 times greater than each cow within the breeding herd, assuming 30 cows per bull with a 100% calf crop. Add to that his daughters' production in the herd. The advantage of a young bull is the control of venereal diseases. Proper nutrition is essential to maintain fertility in older bulls.

Imported from Holland, ORLANDO is a black 17.1 Hand Dutch Harness Horse Stallion.

The Dutch Harness Horse is a wonderful horse to cross with existing breeds of horses used for driving and work. Dutch Harness Horses have been bred in Holland for over 80 years. The sole purpose is to increase trot and stride, thus producing driving horses that move more efficiently and cover more ground with less effort.

Exciting opportunities exist for the serious breeder looking to be involved with the induction and infusion of these great horses into today's breeding programs.

ORLANDO is standing at Mogadore, Ohio for the 2003 breeding season, shipped semen is available. The 2003 introductory stud fee is $1000.00 and includes a live foal guarantee.

Attention: Swine and Poultry Producers

Announcing:

Crude Soy Oil Now Available

With the addition of our new soybean processing facility, we now offer soybean oil as an animal nutrition product Processing the soybeans ourselves allows us to utilize locally grown soybeans and support our local agricultural community!

Crude Soybean Oil

A product of Keystone's expelling process, this oil can be used in a wide variety of on farm applications. Crude soy oil is a natural alternative to animal fats and provides needed energy in various rations

Uses of Crude Soy Oil Include:

- Use as a high energy feed ingredient in swine and poultry diets.
- Especially useful in sow lactation diets, pig starter and grow/finish diets.
- Used as an added energy source in broiler, turkey and layer feeds
- Can be used for dust control purposes.
- Can be used as a lubricant for feeding systems.

Advantages of Crude Soy Oil:

- Use as a direct replacement for animal fat.
- Vegetable based product.
- Holding tank does not need to be heated if temperature is above 30 degrees, which reduces storage and handling costs compared to animal fat.
- Bulk delivery, partial loads available direct to farm by Keystone Mills
- Customer may pick up to save delivery costs.

Other Soy Products Available:

- Keystone offers Golden Pro 46 XP which is 46% protein - 6-7% oil, Golden Meal 40 which is 40% crude protein with 18% oil

Keystone Mills Soybean Exchange Program

- We will take your soybeans in trade for Golden ProXP 46, Golden Meal 40
- Contact Keystone Mills for details on our soybean exchange program featuring these quality nutritional products
